MANAGER FRENCH IN CITY

Engineer Corps Will Commence Work on Line This Week

Portland Southern Will Touch Every Town on S. P. Between Oregon City and Salem

L. B. French, manager of the Portland Southern Railway Company is at the Willamette, making temporary arrangements to establish headquarters in this city and attending to many minor details for his company.

Mr. French is not a "brass band" railway man, and does not rush into print, consequently is rather adverse to discussing future plans. Nevertheless he is courteous and civil and easy to approach.

In talking to a Journal reporter, Mr. French said: "We expect to commence work on the permanent survey at once, probably tomorrow. I am going out this afternoon to meet the engineers, and the grade stakes will be set as soon as we determine one or two right of way agreements."

"The engineer corps will be composed of eight or 10 men, and it will take about a month for them to complete their work. The route will follow the Southern Pacific railroad, and will touch all the valley towns between Oregon City and Salem, with the exception of New Era.

"Before the survey is finished we expect to commence active construction, and, with good fall weather, will have a large part of the work completed this year.

"We are working a good-sized crew of men at Sandy river, where we will obtain the power. The ditch and flume will be seven miles in length, and will furnish ample power for the road."

Mr. French will be in the city and vicinity for several days on his present trip, and expects to meet with the citizens and become better acquainted.

DIED.

CADWELL.—At the family home on North Cottage street, Mrs. Bertha Cadwell, wife of Mr. H. Cadwell, of stomach trouble and heart failure.

Deceased has been sick for over a year, and through all her suffering has borne it uncomplainingly. She was well known in this city, where she has many friends who will greatly miss her. Her husband, who is left to mourn her loss, has the sympathy of all.

The funeral will be held tomorrow from the home, at 2 o'clock p. m., and the burial will be had in City View cemetery.

STATE BARBER LAW

Held to Be Constitutional by the Oregon Supreme Court

A Klamath County Man Gets a Dose of Cold Handed Justice by State's High Tribunal

The supreme court today handed down the following decisions:

Blackburn vs. Lewis; appeal from Multnomah county; affirmed. Wolverton, justice.

State vs. Eggleston; Multnomah county; affirmed. Moore, chief justice.

Muckle vs. oode; Columbia county; affirmed. Bean, justice.

United Brethren Church vs. Benton County; affirmed. Bean, justice.

Petitions for rehearing were denied in Wood vs. Flsk and Livesley vs. Helsey. The latter is a local suit Barber Bill Upheld.

The case of the state against H. L. Briggs, better known as the "barbers' board" case, was today decided by the supreme court in favor of the board of barbers' examiners. The opinion was written by Judge Bean, and the decision of Judge M. C. George is reversed. The law declares that a barber must be registered to practice his trade, but the contention is that the board of examiners has no power to prescribe (legislate) what qualifications are requisite to become a registered barber. The supreme court holds, however, that the legislature can give a board power to make rules, etc., and that thus this act is not at variance with the constitution. "The constitutionality of a law is to be determined by its provisions and by the manner in which it is administered, and, unless it conflicts with the constitution, it is valid," says Judge Bean's opinion.

School Land Case.

John P. Robertson today handed out a little cold justice by the supreme court, in the case in which he sued S. B. Low, of Klamath county for title to a quarter section of land in Klamath county. It seems he found such a piece of land in alfalfa meadow, upon which the purchaser was delinquent in payment of interest, and when he made application to purchase the same the board reserved the right to allow the original holder to pay up within 30 days, notwithstanding the law gives them no such right. Thereupon Mr. Robertson sued Low to compel him to convey the land, but the

The Panama Canal

At a liberal expense of money and two years' time, all the surveys and elevations of the route of the Panama canal have been secured.

Yesterday we received from New York a perfect model of the Panama Canal, and its surroundings from shore to shore. The model is 10 feet long and four and one-half feet wide showing each mountain, canyon, river town and feature of the entire route, all drawn to a scale, and handsomely finished in hand painting. We are going to give this beautiful model to the school or college, public or private, securing the greatest number of votes; a vote for every 25c purchase, beginning, Monday, August 8th, date of award to be announced later. Come to the store and see this handsome model.

court turns him down upon the ground that the board had a right to make a rule whereby delinquent purchasers are given 30 days' notice before their certificates of sale will be cancelled. The supreme court says such a rule is "manifestly reasonable and just, and well calculated to promote a systematic repetition of the business intrusted to the land board."
