Republican National Ticket

For President, THEODORE ROOSEVELT, of New York. For Vice-President, CHAS. W. FAIRBANKS, of Indiana. For Presidential Electors: G. B. Dimick, of Clackamas. A. C. Hough, of Josephine. J. E. Hart, of Polk. E. A. Fee, of Malheur.

ANOTHER REPUBLICAN WAVE.

Nobody will accuse Chairman Cortelyou of the Republican national committee with being too optimistic in his forecast of 267 electoral votes being certain for Roosevelt. As 239 will elect this means that the Republicans will have a long lead in any case. Mr. Cortelyou gives President Roosevelt all the states won by President McKinley in 1900, and the four little western states which went Bryan that year, except that he places New York, New Jersey and West Virginia in the doubtful column for this year. These three states were carried by McKinley. In the Parker column he places the states commonly classed as the solid south, in which Missouri is noticed. These states have a total electoral vote of 151. There are a good many Missouri Democrats who dislike this grouping of their state with the south, but until the Republicans carry it the state will have to submit to this humiliation. There is a chance, however, that Roosevelt and Wallbridge will take Missouri out of this incredible affliction this year, and place it with the west, where it belongs geographically and industrially.

It will strike most persons that Chairman Cortelyou is rather generous to the Democrats in placing New York and West Virginia in the uncertain column. Parker is not likely to prove strong in any of these states. New York will be against him. The inquiries of one of the Parker papers among the business men of New York city shows that a large majority of them are for Roosevelt. The old talk about Wall street rising in rebellion against the Republicans on account of the President's enforcement of the trust laws can safely be discounted. Wall street dislikes these attacks by Roosevelt, but Wall street knows that the defeat of Roosevelt would put the Democracy in power, and the panic that that calamity would bring would hit Wall street just as quickly and just as heavily as it would the rest of the country. It is a condition and a theory that confronts that big money center. A Democratic victory, with the consequent financial smash-up which it would bring, would entail a bigger loss on Wall street than Roosevelt's crushing of the trusts can inflict. The Northern Securities company, the beef trust, the coal trust and the rest of the combines which the President has unseated or which he will assail can adjust themselves to the laws a good deal more easily than they can arm away from the monetary crash that Parker's victory would start.

One state is in the Republican column, however, in the Cortelyou division which does not belong there. This is Maryland. Gorman and his election law will put Maryland in the Democratic list this year. This will cut down Roosevelt's certain electoral vote to 259, or 20 more than a majority of the electoral college. This alone would make a good sized margin, but it will be broader than this. The 58 electoral votes of New York, New Jersey and West Virginia will be cast for the Republican ticket. Parker never was strong in New York. There is not the faintest reason for anybody to suppose that New Jersey will go Democratic this year. In West Virginia vice Presidential Candidate Davis' aspirations are not taken seriously by anybody. West Virginia gave a plurality of 21,000 to McKinley in 1900. If the Democrats reduce this to 15,000 in 1904 they will be surprised. The tariff issue will be sure to keep West Virginia in the Republican list while the fear of financial tinkering in case the Democrats should carry the country will hold New York and New Jersey on the Republican side. That 151 marked out for Parker by the head of the Republican national committee is likely to be increased to 159, through the accession of Maryland to the Parker list, but the rest of the 476 will be gained for Roosevelt. Roosevelt's majority in the electoral college of 1904 stands an excellent chance to be 158, as compared with 137 gained by McKinley in 1900.

POINTED REMARKS BY CANNON.

Correct revenue laws, protection of free trade, the gold standard and our currency system, all depend upon the sentiment of the majority of our people as voiced at the ballot box. A majority may change our revenue laws; a majority may change our currency laws; a majority may destroy the gold standard and establish the silver standard, or, in lieu of either or both, make the treasury note, non-interest bearing and irredeemable, the sole standard of value.

The Republican party stands for protection. It stands for the gold standard and our currency system. All these dwell in legislation enacted under the lead of the Republican party and against the most determined opposition of the Democratic party, including its leader and candidate. These being our policies, and having been most useful to the country, we have confidence in and love them. If it be necessary from time to time that they should be strengthened here and controlled there, the Republican party stands ready, with loving, competent hands, to apply the proper remedy. I say "remedy." Being our policies, we will not willingly subject them to their enemies for slow starvation on the one hand or sudden destruction on the other.

The Republican party, under your leadership, keeps its record from the beginning under Lincoln of doing things, the right thing at the right time and in the right way, notwithstanding the opposition of those who oppose the right policies from the selfish or partisan standpoint. They dare not tell the truth about your official action or the record of the party and then condemn it.

The Republican party for you and under your leadership appeals to the great body of the people who live in the sweat of their faces, make the civilization, control the republic, fight its battles and determine its policies, for approval and continuance in power.

THE FRENCH WAIF.

In France each school has a certain sum of money set aside for the benefit of the poor children. During the summer every child who is entitled to the privileges of the outing is granted a three-week vacation in the country or at the seaside. The French republic pays for this outing.

While in the country the boys are taught to work. They learn to dig, to hoe, to pull weeds and chop wood. The little girls are not neglected, but are taught the simpler duties of the household. They wash the dishes, dust the furniture and perform other homely tasks.

This custom has existed since Napoleon's time. It was he who instituted the annual outing for poor children. Three weeks in the country for children who have never seen grass growing; children who know not a tree in the open. There are little ones who have never seen a cow, a pig, a live chicken.

Aside from the actual physical benefit to the little people there is an educational side to the custom which can but appeal to those who find it hard to find good in what Napoleon has done.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

The suggestion of Superintendent Leoney, of the Oregon reform school, to change the name of that institution to the Oregon industrial school, is good. The first and highest object of that institution is educational and training and not punishment. The horror which the name "reform school" inspires in the minds of both parents and children always lingers as a stigma and a disgrace. The idea generally prevails that it is a bleak prison for youth and the bad boy often goes there with the determination to crowd just as much meanness into his term as possible and come out already fitted for the penitentiary. The legislature should cheerfully change the name of the institution in hopes that attendance there may be relieved of some of its keen sting, for the really good young people who may come away from it better and nobler for the uplifting influences enjoyed while there.—East Oregonian.

National Roque Tournament.

WORLD'S FAMOUS ACROBATS.

Aerialists and Equestrians to be Seen in Ringling Brothers' Wonderful Circus.

Ringling Brothers have gathered together the flower of the acrobatic, aerial and equestrian world—375 men of brawn and muscle and agility, who are seen in wonderful physical culture conceptions, and women of beauty grace and skill in acts of daring that seem beyond the possible. Their exhibitions of strength and dexterity on the numerous stages, in the rings, upon the backs of mettlesome horses, and far up in the aerial enclaves amidst a network of trapeze and horizontal bars, justly brings them the title of "the physical marvels of two hemispheres." Always alert to secure the newest and greatest, the Ringling Brothers, whose immense circus will exhibit in Salem, Wednesday, August 21, present this year a thrilling European acrobatic novelty in the famous six Glisnerettes now appearing for the first time in America. Their marvelous exploits were the sensation of European capitals and are thrilling Ringling Brothers' patrons daily. Their acts are distinctly unique and original and make them pre-eminent even in the greatest collection of acrobatic celebrities ever appearing together in a circus performance. The Dollard troupe, from Germany; the Tasmanias, from Australia; the six Colind-Clairons, from France, make their first appearance in this country with Ringling Brothers, and are incomparable gymnasts with new specialties. The Dacoma family, the Rio Brothers, the Fortuna Brothers, Gero and Theol, the DeVenets, the Flying Fishers, the Jackson family and the Kaufman family are in this unexcelled classification of the world's greatest performers. The artistic and the beautiful are predominant in the many new equestrian acts presented this season. While bareback riding has been so important a part in the past that it at once suggests a glowing picture of the ever nerve-quickening sawdust arena and its enchantment, so many innovations have been introduced—so much that is unusual has been provided—that equestrianism comes before us in a different form. Never before have Ringling Brothers presented so many famous male and female riders, and they have always been above comparison in this stirring feature. The four Eldreds and the four Bedinis, the greatest masters of the equestrian art in the world, and the highest salaried artists in the circus profession, make their first American appearance with the Ringling Brothers. The riding feats of these European idols baffle description in their hazardous daring and graceful accomplishment, and every feature is original with them. Among the other great riders are Orrin Davenport, the Hobsons, Rhoda Royal, Lulu Davenport, Reno McCree, May Davenport, Madame Royal, Frank Shadle, John Agee and John Slater. In this remarkable company of finished artists are 60 acrobats, 60 aerialists, 40 riders, equestrian and menage, 25 vaulters and leapers, 40 clowns, 50 equilibrists and 30 ground tumblers. These famous men and women will positively be seen in this city on the day of the exhibition, together with the glittering street parade, three miles in length; the sublime spectacle of Jerusalem and the Crusades, and the wonderful menagerie, with its host of new and novel features, including the only baby elephant successfully born and reared in America a pair of full grown giraffes, the last of their race, and the only rhinoceros in captivity.

Weds Daughter of Count. Clayton, N. Y., Aug. 17.—One of the most notable weddings ever solemnized here took place today in the Roman Catholic church. The bride was Emerance de Sallier du Piu, daughter of Count Hermel de Sallier du Piu, of Watertown, and the bridegroom, Thos. Hughes Kelly, a New York millionaire. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Phileas Garnard. The bridal couple will spend their honeymoon on the St. Lawrence aboard the bridegroom's yacht, and will then follow the coast down to New York. Later they will go to Italy, where they will take up their residence, and where Mr. Kelly will be made by the Pope a prince of the Holy Roman Empire and his wife a princess.

Wisconsin Postmasters. Madison, Wis., Aug. 17.—Members of the Wisconsin State Postmasters' association assembled here in second annual convention today and were called to order by Postmaster Stillman of Milwaukee. Between 250 and 300 postmasters of the state were in attendance. E. W. Keys, postmaster of Madison, welcomed the visitors and response was made by Thomas Kirby, postmaster of Superior. The betterment of country roads for rural free delivery routes, the needs of fourth class offices, and postmasters and employes' bonds were among the subjects discussed during the day. Congressman H. C. Adams is slated to address the postmasters this evening. The convention will continue through tomorrow and close in the evening with the election of officers for the ensuing year.

Virginia Firemen in Session.

Alexandria, Va., Aug. 17.—Alexandria is entertaining one of the largest crowds in its history, the occasion being the annual convention and tournament of the Virginia State Firemen's association. The convention was called to order in the opera house this afternoon by the president, J. H. Trimyer of this city. After an address of welcome by Mayor George L. Simpson the routine business of the convention was taken up. The big parade takes place tomorrow and will be followed by the hose races and other contests for prizes.

Guardsmen Play at War.

Athens, O., Aug. 17.—Nearly 6,000 members of the Ohio National Guard are taking part in the maneuvers begun near here today in conjunction with the state encampment. In addition to the various infantry regiments taking part in the mimic warfare there are a battalion of engineers, four light batteries, two troops of cavalry and the signal corps. The sham battles and other features will occupy five days, during which time more than 300,000 rounds of ammunition will be fired.

Do it today.

The time-worn injunction, "Never put off 'till tomorrow what you can do today," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it today!" That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it TODAY—and let that remedy be Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which has been in use for over thirty-five years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists. At Dr. Stone's drug stores.
