APPLICATION.

Application is the word in all walks of life. It is the word that wins success.

Energy and ability count for nothing when application is missing.

How often do we see the dull student work overtime and yet at the end of the cycle outstrip his classmate. He leaves him far in the rear, and people hold their breath in after years and recount the change. Application has counted.

The business circles have many examples of application. A man with a few hundred dollars starts into business, and in a short time has a store carrying a large stock, and perhaps the leader in his line. People again wonder, and say the man is lucky. Application has won another point. While the man with the large stock has been whiling away his time on amusements and social attraction, the other fellow has applied himself to business, and the result is apparent.

Out in the country the same rule applies. Your neighbor gets out of bed at dawn, looks over his stock, and then works all day in the field. In the fall he has a large harvest. The money comes in and it goes into the bank. In other words he is prosperous. Some people say that he is lucky. Call it what you may, application has won.

The steady, plodding fellow generally gets there in the long run. He may be like a turtle at the commencement of the race, but you had better watch him at the finish.

Brass bands and a flourish of trumpets may count for a time, but in the long run the easy going chap carves his way to success. True he has a harder life, suffers for years in obscurity, or at least what he calls obscurity, but he manages to round out the period at the top of the ladder.

He has an object in view, and his very act leads to that pinnacle. He may be throwing away years of his time apparently to other people, but he plods on in his own peculiar way and at last success shines on him.

Many lives have been wrecked in chasing the ideal, but not half so many as have been wasted and frittered away waiting for something to turn up. The fellow who plods and works may have a vice along with his virtues, and yet surmount the topmost step.

The millionaires of today are men who started at mere clerkships. Almost every one bought his experience, and bought it dearly. Hard knocks and not a silver spoon raised them to their present standard.

The greatest financiers, the leading politician, the brainiest writers, the most learned scientists, the soundest and most logical ministers owe their success to application. Favoritism and pampering counted for little with them.

Young men and women would do well to bear this in mind. An object in life is very important, but application is of greater value. Get into your work heart and soul, even if it is only shoveling gravel. Any place that is worth filling is worth filling right. The boy or man who falls down in the small position is sure to be a failure when he reaches the higher one.

Application counts at all times, in spite of obstacles and adversity.

HERE AND THERE

Of the 201,768,096 pounds of cheese imported into the United Kingdom in 1903, 68.6 per cent. came from Canada, 12.4 per cent. from the United States, 11.2 per cent. from all other sources combined.

Japanese postage stamps are rated as the most artistic in the world. There is a great demand in London for them at present. The first stamps were issued in 1871. There are few rare ones, the highest price ever known to have been paid for one being $50.

A European inventor has converted the spokes on an automobile into whistles, which are operated by the air action. The whistles are controlled by a series of small rubber balls in connection with the spokes and producing a peculiar whistling noise easily heard above the sound of traffic.

It is proposed to adapt the old St. John's Episcopal church at Richmond, Va., to modern uses, and there is an outcry against it, very naturally, since it is more than 200 years since the church was built, being one of 10 or 12 Episcopal edifices of colonial date which still defy the ravages of time.

Few explorers have gained great wealth; some of them have either forfeited life in pursuit of their ambitious projects or been satisfied with small pensions. Sir Henry Stanley was an exception. He left an estate of more than $750,000, amassed largely from the sale of his books. Livingston's fortune did not amount to a tenth of this. Du Chaillu passed away almost penniless.

On entering his stable the other day Nathan Strauss, the New York philanthropist, saw a new groom rubbing a horse with a spike, which he was continually dipping in liniment. The groom explained: "It's what was on the directions on the bottle, but it's slow work." And sure enough the bottle bore the following legend: "Apply with a nail or toothbrush," and the groom explained that, as he had no toothbrush, he was using the spike instead.

The world's visible supply of cotton on August 5th, as reported by the New York Commercial and Financial Chronicle, was 1,500,458 bales, as compared with 1,601,425 bales at a corresponding date last year. Of this the total amount of American cotton was 664,458 bales, against 775,425 bales at the corresponding date in 1903; and of all other kinds, including East Indian, Egyptian, Brazilian, etc., 836,000, against 826,000 bales at the same time last year.

"I have for several years suffered at times with heart trouble. I got so bad I could not sleep half the night, and had to sit up on the side of the bed lots of times to get breath. Three of my brothers have died of heart trouble, and I thought I was going the same way, but about two and a half years ago I got a pamphlet about Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and thought I would try a few bottles. After using them I recovered, and have had better health since then than before for several years. I can heartily recommend them for heart trouble."—REV. JERRY HURT, Pastor Baptist Church, Hurt, Kans.

CROWD GATHERED AT DOCK

To Watch Mrs. Maybrick Land Again on American Soil

New York, Aug. 23.—The steamer Vaderland with Mrs. Maybrick aboard was docked soon after 8 o'clock this morning. A crowd of curious people swarmed at the dock and witnessed, without demonstration, the woman walk down the gangplank on the arm of her lawyer, S. V. Hayden. She was bustled into a cab and hastily driven up town. It is learned that the party will stop over the day at the Fifth Avenue hotel, and possibly tomorrow will leave for Hayden's home, at Ellenville, Near Kingston, N. Y.

During the voyage she wrote a statement which was given to the press on her arrival. She expressed a desire not to be interviewed. The statement expressed her joy that she is back a free woman in her native land, and frequent and vivid expressions of gratitude to her American friends who for years fought for her liberty. She said it was her intention to remain at the home of Attorney Hayden until her health, which is shattered, is recovered.

"God in his own time will wright the wrong which has been done me," she said. She was dressed in black and white, with a heavy veil. She appeared on deck this morning, and stood, apparently in a reverie, watching the statute of the Goddess of Liberty and the tall buildings of the city. The newspaper men watched her from behind a ventilator, but none spoke to her. As the passengers began to appear the woman returned to her state room. Lawyer Hayden, after she returned to her state room, said: "This is the happiest hour of my life." Not detain the woman an instant, and she clutched tightly the arm of her escort.

HORSES TOOK FRIGHT

A team belonging to the Voget Lumber and Fuel Company took fright at a Southern Pacific freight engine last night about 7 o'clock and started to run. They dashed up Mill street to 14th street, but at the bridge could not make the turn. Both went down into the creek, one breaking a leg, and it was found necessary to kill the animal. O. Voget was driving the team at the time of the accident and was pitched out of the wagon and the vehicle passed over him. He received a number of bruises, but is able to be around town today.

SUES SOUTHERN PACIFIC

Portland, Aug. 23.—Elizabeth Fuchs, who says she was submerged and her clothing saturated by a large stream from a water tank while she was a passenger on a train from Portland to Woodburn on July 26 last, has sued the Southern Pacific Company in the state circuit court for $2000 damages.

She alleges that she was seated by an open window in the car and in passing the tank, which had been carelessly left open, the water came pouring through the window upon her. She was greatly annoyed and humiliated, she avers, because of her condition and appearance before the passengers, and asserts that the conductor commented upon her appearance in a rude manner before passengers, causing her to be the object of his and their amusement and laughter, thus unnecessarily wounding her pride and womanly feelings. She was damaged in a large sum, which she prays the court to ascertain and assess against the defendant.

Mrs. Fuchs further alleges that her clothing was damaged to the extent of $82, and she was compelled to remain in wet garments to the end of her journey and contracted a severe cold and was incapacitated from performing her household duties for two weeks. She says she will still continue to suffer much bodily pain and to be in ill-health for an indefinite period of time. William Foley and Dell Stuart are her attorneys.

Dynamiters at Work.

St. Marys, Ohio, Aug. 23.—Unknown persons attempted, at an early hour this morning to blow up the state boat lying near the bulkhead at St. Marys reservoir. The boat is badly damaged and a house nearly destroyed. The locks are badly damaged and the escape of an immense boy of water, which would have destroyed many lives and much property, was narrowly averted. It is believed the dynamiting was done by parties wishing to empty the lake, to prevent the overflow in the spring, which caused a damage of crops.

Too Much Friction.

New York, Aug. 23.—Edward Whitman, a powder mixer, was killed, Robert Armstrong badly burned and several others injured as the result of an explosion at one of the powder houses of Paines' Fireworks exhibition Company, at Manhattan Beach this morning. They were mixing powder which ignited from friction.

Gray Fox Killed.

Oregon City, Or., Aug. 23.—Frank Guenther, of Shubel, killed a full-grown gray fox near Shubel yesterday and exhibited the animal's hide in this city today. Representatives of the fox family have for some time been molesting farmers' fowls in the vicinity of Shubel, and one of the leaders in the invasion is believed to have been slaughtered by Mr. Guenther.

Kansas City, Aug. 23.—A protest was filed today on behalf of the striking unions with the license inspector against the city granting the packers a license to run hotels and boarding houses.

All Labor Shut Out.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—A committee of union printers and janitors complained to the strike leaders today that they were not permitted to enter the yards to go to work. The only answer they received to the protest was "You can't work." The strikers have drawn a dead line about the yard, and propose to shut out both union and non-union labor.

Teamsters May Go Out.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—At a meeting tonight the teamsters' officials, at which President Shea of the International union will be present, the the question of calling a general strike of the teamsters handling packing house products will be decided. One Woman Among the Thousands.

We received a letter from Waycross, Ga., from a woman who had been troubled with female complaint for a long time, until she was reduced to almost a shadow. It effected her mind she could not remember anything, would get confused and so nervous and irritable she could hardly sleep. She described her case as one similar to thousands of other women, and then ends the letter by saying she had gained 18 pounds last month and never felt better in her life, having no trace of her former troubles, slept well, ate her meals with a relish. She commenced the use of Dr. Gunn's Blood and Nerve Tonic just six weeks before she wrote the letter from which we copy the above. This tonic is in tablet form, and should be taken right after meals. It turns the food you eat into strong, rich blood, feeding the nerves and curing disease by making healthy flesh. Sold by all druggists for 75c per box, or 3 boxes for $2. Pale, thin people should use this Tonic. For sale by Dr. C. S. Stone, druggist.
