

OPPOSE ANOTHER SALOON

Some Commercial Street Business Men Do Not Favor New Move

There is some talk rife among the business people and others on Commercial street, near where the new saloon is proposed to be established by Messrs Merrifield & Heater. It seems they have leased the building now occupied by the Goode millinery store for a term of three years, and propose to open a saloon in it. Some of the Y. M. C. A. officials and others protest against this innovation, as there has not been a saloon in that block for many years, and they contend that no license should be granted for these reasons. It is also stated that an agreement was made between the property owners who put the buildings on that side of the block, that no saloon should ever be conducted there. It is also contended that the city council has refused to license saloons anywhere in the city, excepting in the third ward. Upon investigating the matter, it is found that the city officers probably have no recourse in the matter, and will be forced to issue a license upon application when the necessary fees and bond is produced in good faith.

City Recorder Judah says that there has never been a resolution passed to his knowledge limiting saloons to any one of the four old wards. He points out the fact, however, that the new charter excludes saloons from the three new wards established by it, but does not believe that there is any vestige of record further than that. Even if some former council had passed a resolution to that effect, it would not be binding upon this council.

In regard to the matter of the property owners having a contract to exclude saloons from the block, it seems to be somewhat uncertain. Several of the owners and tenants claim there is such an agreement, while others say there is not.

Mr. Lampert exhibited his deed to the writer, and it has no such provisions. Councilman J. Frank Hughes was seen, and he frankly states that he is opposed to having a saloon in that row, and believes there is somewhere extant a contract between the property owners which will prevent such an enterprise. Thus far he has been unable to locate the contract, and says the deeds to the property which they hold in that row make no provisions of this kind.

It would no doubt be a good thing for the property owners and business people in that row to have no saloons established there, but since the lease has been closed, and the city council has no precedent against it, it is very doubtful whether they can consistently refuse to issue the license, and the saloon will probably be established, unless a compact between the owners of the property can be found which will exclude the same.

Remonstrances have been filed on the two latter petitions.

Hoo-Hoo at Fair.
St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 9.—The Order of Hoo-Hoo, the well known social and fraternal organization of lumbermen and their friends, began its annual convention in St. Louis today. The order delights in odd numbers and unlucky signs and has the black cat as its official insignia. Following out its usual custom the convention was opened promptly at nine minutes past nine today, this being the ninth day of the ninth month. The members were in a particularly jovial mood when the discovery was made that this was a Friday and that the convention was the thirteenth held by the order. In calling the gathering to order the Grand Snark of the Universe reminded the members of these auspicious circumstances and predicted one of the most successful gatherings in the history of the organization.

STATE FAIR NOTES

Fine Stock and Side Shows Arrive—Program Is Arranged

Another large shipment of cattle arrived at the fair grounds yesterday. L. F. Mars, who lives on the Garden Road, has a fine Jersey bull on exhibition, which is said to be the finest of its breed ever shown here. W. H. Peala of Spokane, has five head of fine Short-horns in the care of his manager, W. M. Caruthers. Eleven head of Red Polled belonging to R. O. Dunbar & Son were brought down from Chehalis by Fred Dunbar. E. H. Looney, of Jefferson, is also here with his 24 head of Jerseys and L. V. McWhorter & Sons, of North Yakima, have a young but fine herd of 18 Devons. These cattle have just been shown at Everett, where, while only one of them is matured, and the rest run from 2-year-olds to calves, carried away first and second prizes clear through their class. They have been secured from seven different herds in Indiana and Ohio, and some of them last fall were first prize winners at the Ohio and West Virginia fairs.

The poultry exhibit has not yet arrived, but the quarters are ready, and about 1500 birds are expected tomorrow and Sunday.

The main pavilion is a scene of action, Captain Murphy, who is in charge, seems to be everywhere at once, and under his admirable management preparations for the county exhibits, which arrived at noon, are going up as though by magic. Mrs. Murphy has charge of the exhibits of fancy work, fruit, cakes, bread, etc., well in hand, and bids fair to exceed all previous displays in those lines. She also has charge of the decorations, and her taste and skill are to be seen on every side.

The usual number of side shows has been increased this year, and nearly a whole carnival company will be on the grounds, among them is the "Golden City," which is comprised of mechanical figures at work and at play, "Samson," the boa constrictor; the glass palace; "No Name;" the "Laughing Palace," and the Ferris wheel.

The program as arranged by the board includes music by the Salem Military Band, singing by Mrs. Hallie Parrish-Hinges and Mrs. Etta Squier Seley, readings and impersonations by little Miss Emily Squier and other attractions. The band will consist of 20 skilled musicians under Prof. Willis E. McElroy, who has secured the services of a number of fine soloists to assist him during the fair. The men secured are Cochran, Miller, Stoudeymer, Winstrom, Gettings and Livingston. The band will give a concert on the street Monday morning at 11 o'clock, and every afternoon and evening at the fair grounds. Prof. McElroy has prepared special programs, and during the week will give one of the best entertainments ever provided the fair.
