TO THE NIGHT.

The perfect summer day at last is drawing to its close. The sun has kissed the hills good-night and sunk to his repose.

At ye mysterious shades of night! Ye endless depths of blue! What spirits wander all unseen.

MAKE THE COLLEGE USEFUL.

The bulletin of the state grange published at Forest Grove shows that the officers of the state grange are keeping up their work and seem determined to make the state agricultural college more useful.

NEITHER POLITICAL NOR PERSONAL.

John Moir, city treasurer of the city of Salem, can see nothing but personal and politics in what The Journal has been saying about his failure to meet the demands of the city government for an accounting.

lished there has no bearing on this matter.

He thinks we should not "find fault with the bank as custodian of the city funds," nor for the work "it has done gratuitously."

The insinuation that that The Journal wants hush money is unbecoming to that gentleman. He cannot say that he has ever paid The Journal a penny for any improper purpose, or has ever been asked to do so.

X-RADIUMS

Look out for electrical storms in the East today. The International Electrical congress is in session at St. Louis.

If Maine goes as Oregon and Vermont did, there won't be much room left for doubt as to who will be the next President.

Salem is a city of fully twenty thousand population this week.

Prepares to observe Salem day at the state fair. Let us not be outdone in numbers and enthusiasm by the Portland crowd on Portland day.

From their experience in the past, the people will be willing to have that portage railroad built almost any way they can get it, so they get it built.

After 20 years of effort, appropriations, and statesmanship, a fish ladder has finally been constructed at Oregon City to let salmon come up into the tributaries of the upper Willamette.

A red shepherd dog, with a lame foot, has been making The Journal office his headquarters for several days. He has evidently lost his master.

The Holiday Magazine for Children, published at 27 East 22d street, New York, begins volume three with a most interesting program for little folks.

It is a noteworthy fact that the state agricultural college does not exhibit anything but its agricultural department at the state fair where it appeals to the people, and yet that is only one part and much the smaller part of its work.

There are other second cities in the state, but none of them can boast of 15 miles of metropolitan electric railway.

If your food hasn't set well or you have had bad dreams, don't make matters worse by telling others about it.

Baltimore Welcomes Eagles.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 12.—While officially Eagle week does not begin until tomorrow, 25,000 members of the order are already here, and there was a round of entertainment today in their honor.

The program for the week embraces the four days' session of the grand lodge, which opens tomorrow morning in the Maryland theater, and unlimited entertainment for the members of the order, who will have an immense variety to select from.

French Steamer Wrecked.

London, Sept. 12.—The French steamer Yamise, for Haiphong from Tonquin, was wrecked on the coast of Annam, and is a total loss. The crew was saved.

OREGON'S GREATEST EXHIBIT

Forty Fourth Annual Fair Open With Record Breaking Number of Exhibits

The 44th annual exhibition of the Oregon State Fair is in full blast and the usual quiet grounds are a scene of animation and activity.

The pavillion is crowded with every imaginable thing, from sweetmeats to fancy work, including several fine county exhibits.

The race course is in fine condition and some smashed records can be looked for during the week.

The string of running horses arrived from the Irvington track yesterday and will take part in the various events.

The race program will be one of the best ever witnessed in Salem. A very large number of horses are at the grounds. The program for the week is as follows:

Fair Ground Notes. A giant 3-year-old horse belonging to Sol King, of Corvallis, is one of the sights of the horse exhibit this year.

The smiling countenance of Ed School, of Albany, is as usual to be seen at the grounds this year. Mr. School has 26 of his fine O. I. C. hogs entered, also chickens, ducks, geese and Turkeys numbering 56 in all.

Quite an improvement has been made in the lighting this year and a string of lights has been run from the main pavillion to the grand stand.

The Ingleside quartet, of Portland, who are at the fair grounds advertising a temperance beverage, gave a short concert Sunday afternoon, which was quite a treat. The following selections were rendered in an admirable manner: "Hiawatha," "Navajo," "Way Down in My Heart," and "Way Down Yonder in the Cornfield."

The company is as follows: Jack Maher, manager; J. A. Miller, first tenor; J. K. Thompson, second tenor; C. D. Gillispie, first bass, and E. F. Thomas, second bass.

The agricultural exhibits, which are now completed, are under the management of the following capable men: Marion county, C. T. Bonney; Polk county, F. A. Wolf; Linn county, W. A. Eastburn; Washington county, W. W. Wall; Lane county, E. M. Warren; Benton county, H. French; Oregon Agricultural College, Prof. Coot; Canada, T. Greeve.

One exhibit worthy of special mention is that of Mrs. S. R. Foster, who has over 1000 jars of fine fruit and jelly on exhibition, which she has "put up" herself.

THE POWER OF STEAM. Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight."

There was. Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.

Recent scientific research has put its finger on the "cause" of Dandruff, Falling Hair, and consequent Baldness, and has unearthed a tiny germ which eats the life from the roots of human hair.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys this germ and consequently restores the hair to its natural state.

Sold by leading druggists. Send the stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
