THE FOOTBALL SPIRIT.

First down and three yards to gain.
Rah! Rah! Rah!

The shout of the strenuous life. Football days are here again. The rallying cry of the gridiron fills the air. It is the same old shout that has characterized the Anglo-Saxon for six centuries.

The spirit of the race is forward. In peace and war, in sports and business it is the pass word. He loves the dangerous. The tame and harmless games have no attractions for him. The rough and daring appeal to his strenuousness, and he succeeds.

Football, as played by Americans, is a rough game, almost to the extreme of brutality, but even the very youngest of the present generation have an innate fondness for it.

It is a sharp challenge to the future, this spirit of aggressiveness, a warning to the slower and more conservative nationalities that the American will retain his love of the daring, the dash and hardness that he has been proud of since '76.

The athletic nation is always the victor. None can dispute that football is athletics. Then with the prevailing enthusiasm for that game and its increasing popularity, our future is surely bright. You may disprove of the game, but there are qualities brought out in the wild rushes, vicious plunges that appeal to the most timid. You may deprecate the game—but you can't stop it.

IGNORANCE.

People don't know about the Pacific Coast—its resources, its possibilities, its incomparable advantages. If they did, there would be such an influx of homeseekers that the railroad facilities would be taxed to the utmost to handle them. But they don't know.

To the average inhabitant of the East or of the Middle West, the Pacific Coast—that wonderful section between the Rocky mountains and the Pacific ocean—is an unknown land, mythical, distant, unreal.

Many there are, of course, who have read of the beneficent conditions which have combined to create this wonderland, and have marveled thereat, but have not been convinced. A few have passed through on a touring trip, and have been moved to wonder and delight.

But they don't know.

The fact is, the majority of people who live on the Pacific Coast are themselves unaware of the future in store for this region. Only a few of wide-compassing vision have fully measured the resources of this country. Still fewer—those of prophetic souls—have read the signs of future greatness.

As surely as the sun rises and sets, so surely does the course of empire move westward; so surely is the star of progress moving toward the Pacific Coast, as the scene of the next great act in the advance of human development.

"The man on the Pacific Coast to day is facing the front of the world,"—October Pacific Monthly.

WHY KNOCK THE SALEM ENTERPRISE?

The persons who are trying to make it appear that there is no available power in North Mill creek should desist, if for no other reason than that water power is one of Salem's important institutions.

Why knock any Salem property or enterprise? Why run down and belittle the number of horsepower there summer or winter? such policies persisted in help kill any city, and have been too much in use here.

What are the facts about that property? It is stated that it cost $258,000. It long advertised this city as having the largest flouring mill on the Pacific coast.

For many years it was operated on a large scale, and was full of machinery, and was never without plenty of power. It was rated at 1000 to 2000 horsepower in those days.

Then wheat raising was the great farming industry. There was wheat enough grown in the Willamette valley to keep that mill busy day and night. There was no shortage of power.

But farming has changed. Diversified agriculture has made that mill unnecessary. The milling business is carried on at larger centers, and for many years it has stood idle.

Neither the protective tariff nor the gold standard have been able so far to make that property and water power useful, although prosperity may establish a linen mill there in the future.

It is a pity, it is a shame, that so valuable a property, and so fine a water power, have been idle for these fifteen years. It is a greater shame that anyone should knock the property when any honest effort is made to render it useful.

It is the spirit of refusing to help new enterprises that seek to get a foothold in our community, and knocking efforts to revive those that are dead that makes Salem such a slow town.

A MARION COUNTY EXHIBIT.

The Journal believes that a moderate appropriation should be made for a creditable exhibit at the Lewis and Clark fair next year, and that the county court is pursuing a proper course in calling a public meeting of the taxpayers to discuss this question.

The Lewis and Clark fair will draw a large concourse of people from every portion of the globe who will be sightseers. They will come out to the great Pacific slope for the purpose of seeing just what kind of a country we have. The impression left on their minds will be for good or evil.

Just what that impression is rests altogether with the people of the slope. If they hide their light under a half bushel, then they cannot blame the visitors if they return to their homes, and say disparaging things of the country.

We do not believe that the people of Oregon will do this. The hospitality of the Pacific West is well known. No better entertainers nor more congenial people can be found any where than claim Oregon for their home.

The spirit that lead the pathfinder to brave the hardships of the plains and isthmus will go a long way toward devising ways and means for the entertainment of the visitors.

Oregonians are proud of their home land, and they are not afraid to show the many products of the fields, mountains and workshops.

Marion county has a wealth of resources, and should maintain an exhibit throughout the fair. Let every taxpayer and citizen take an interest in this matter, and show it by attending the mass meeting.

TWO FINE ENTERTAINMENTS.

Manager Meredith has secured two fine entertainments for this city in the San Toy opera and Romeo and Juliet.

The Chinese musical comedy will be at the Grand October 13th, and the Shakespearean play on October 23d.

These two amusements will constitute the principal events of the month, and will be enjoyed by large houses.

In fact, the opera house will be too small to hold the crowds that will want to see either of these plays.

Both will be presented by the full cast that appears at Portland and all the larger cities, and the prices will be the same.

Owing to the small size of our opera house, these expensive plays will not do nearly the business here that they do elsewhere in larger towns.

But every seat in the Grand Opera house affords perfect facility for hearing and seeing a play. So the enjoyment at Salem will be greater for the same money.

LIGHT THE BIG BRIDGE.

Mayor Waters deserves credit for undertaking to light the big steel bridge at Salem.

Marion and Polk county and the city of Salem are each to pay one-third of the expense.

That long, dark bridge has always been an unpleasant place to walk or drive over at night.

It has been the scene of more than one assault and even of suicides, to say nothing of surreptitious moonlight and starlight courtships.

This arrangement, if carried out, will be one more creditable act scored for the present city administration.

Well Patronized.

On account of the very good patronage last year, I have this year bought a lot larger stock of goods in all my lines. I have been extra careful in selecting the very best that are in the market; goods that when you buy them, you will surely be pleased.

I bought many of them at greatly reduced rates, and as the business goes along you will find that I give you the benefit of these reduced rates. Some special fine lines are the Behr Bros. upright pianos, of New York, one of the best pianos in the market. Violins I received more than double the number, better in quality, and price only one half as high. There is not a nicer lot in the West to select from. In music rolls a few got some of the nice ones last year. This year they are nicer and the company's traveling man said I gave him the largest and nicest order any house ever gave him. Then also in the talking machine line, which is getting to be a large business, I have the Edison cylinder machines and Victor and Columbia Disc machines. If you need anything in these lines, and want real nice goods, call on Geo. C. Will, opposite Bush's bank.

HALF OUR ILLS
ARE CATARRHAL
IN NATURE.

Catarrhal Diseases are Most Prevalent in Winter.

IS THERE NO WAY OF ESCAPE FROM THEM?

Pe-ru-na Never Fails to Cure Catarrh Wherever Located.

There are some things which are as sure as fate, and can be relied on to occur to at least one-half of the human family unless means are taken to prevent.

First, the climate of winter is sure to bring colds.

Second, colds not promptly cured are sure to cause catarrh.

Third, catarrh improperly treated is sure to make life short and miserable.

Catarrh spares no organ or function of the body. It is capable of destroying sight, taste, smell, hearing, digestion, secretion, assimilation and excretion.

It pervades every part of the human body, head, throat, stomach, bowels, bronchial tubes, lungs, liver, kidneys, bladder and other pelvic organs.

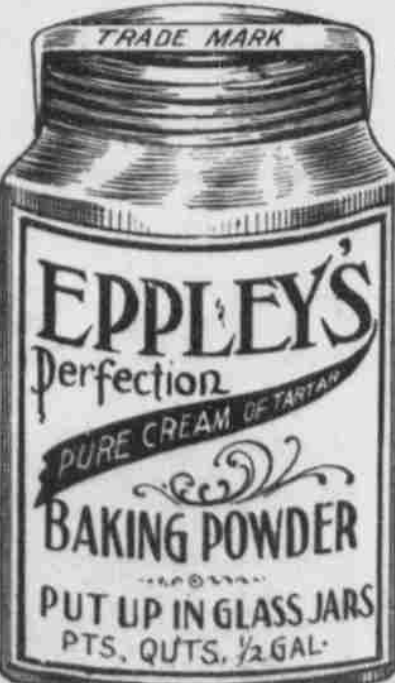

That Peruna cures catarrh wherever located is attested by the following testimonials sent entirely unsolicited to Dr. Hartman by grateful men and women who have been cured by Peruna:

Systemic Catarrh.
Mrs. M. K. Bousch, Richmond, Va., writes: "I had catarrh all through my system for two years and could get no relief. I was advised to try Peruna and I have taken five bottles of it and am well and better now than I have been for years. I can advise any one who has catarrh of any part of the body to take Peruna. My little girl who is eleven years old had catarrh, but was cured by Peruna. Before I began to take Peruna I was sick all the time, but now I am entirely cured, and all praise is due Peruna."—Mrs. M. K. Bousch.

Catarrh of the Nose.
Mr. Herman Ehlike, 952 Orchard street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "I am entirely cured of my catarrh of the nose by your Peruna. My case was a severe one."—Herman Ehlike.

Catarrh of the Throat.
B. H. Runyan, Salesville, O., writes: "I suffered with catarrh of the throat for five years. I was induced to try Peruna. I have used five bottles and am perfectly well."—B. H. Runyan.

Catarrh of the Ear.
Mr. Archie Godin, 188 Beech street, Fitchburg, Mass., writes: "Peruna has cured me of catarrh of the middle ear. I feel better than I have for several years."—Archie Godin.

Gives fine pictures of

California Life

General MacArthur and other army officers describe the recent military maneuvers in California, each article being profusely illustrated with half-tones and colored drawings by Edward Cuenel. Interesting articles on California and Oregon. "How Olive Oil is Made," "How Almonds are Grown" and fine descriptions of Plumas and Sutter, two great California counties. 224 pages of articles, Western stories, sketches and verses. 10 cents a copy.

You can buy Sunset Magazine at all news stands

Catarrh of the Kidneys.
Peter J. Unger, Hawley, Pa., writes: "I think that I am perfectly cured of catarrh of the kidneys by Peruna. I have no trouble of any kind."—P. J. Unger.

Catarrh of the Stomach.
A. W. Graves, of Hammond, Ind., writes to Dr. Hartman, says: "I am well of catarrh of the stomach after suffering two years. I have had five bottles of Peruna and one of Lin and I feel like a new man now."—A. W. Graves.

Pelvic Catarrh.
Miss Katie Lochman, Lathrop, Ind., writes: "I had pelvic catarrh, pain in the abdomen, back, had stomach troubles, headache caused by catarrh. I followed your directions: took Peruna and Lin according to directions, and I am happy I feel that I am cured, such a distressing ailment."—Miss K. Lochman.

Catarrh of the Bowels.
Mr. Henry Entzion, South Bend, Ind., writes: "The doctor said I had catarrh of bowels and I took his medicine, with no relief. I was getting worse the time. Before I had taken a half bottle of Peruna I felt like a new man."—H. Entzion.

If you do not receive prompt satisfactory results from the use of Peruna at once to Dr. Hartman, give full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
