MISSOURI PACIFIC TRAIN WRECKED

Freight and Passenger Trains Collide With Heavy Loss of Life--Orders Misunderstood

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 10.—In a collision between a Missouri freight train and a world's fair passenger train early this morning, 30 and 30 passengers were killed and many injured. The collision occurred 1 1/4 miles east of St. Louis. The trains met at full speed. Medical aid was dispatched at once from this city, Sedalia and other places. The injured are being treated at this place, and the bodies of those who were killed are being brought here as rapidly as possible. It is feared that several bodies will be destroyed in the wreck, and will be destroyed which started from the engine, and which are totally destroyed. Many bodies are badly damaged and identification is difficult. The loss of life was greatest in the day coaches. It is supposed the cause was a misunderstanding of orders. The freight was under orders to await the passenger train at Mont Serat, and section No. 1 went through displaying signals that the other section was following. The freight did not heed the signals, but pulled out and ran head-on into the other passenger train. The freight engine was demolished, and the passenger engine plowed three-fourths of the way through the first coach. The news of the wreck spread rapidly, and several thousand people gathered at the scene, and assisted in removing the dead and injured. Twenty-seven are now dead. In the second and third coaches every bit of glass was broken, and many seats wrenched loose.

RYAN BROUGHT BACK UNDER LARCENY CHARGE

Man Said to Have Flimflamed Portlander in Foot Race in the Toils

J. C. Ryan, the man who is charged by J. F. Roth with stealing $2000 of the $4000 stake money on the foot race that took place on Lone Oak track some time ago, and at which event Ryan was stake holder, as related first by The Journal last week, was brought back to Salem from Roseburg, where he was spending a few days with friends, Sunday morning. In an interview with a Journal reporter Ryan said that, although he was under arrest when brought back, he was preparing to come anyway, and that he was unaware that he was wanted until he saw the account in the paper. He says that Raymond and Roth came to him and wanted him to hold stakes and act as judge at a foot race, and that he consented, and Roth went to the bank and drew $2000, and Raymond put up a like sum which he, Ryan, put in the safe at Talkington's saloon. The race was run, and Roth's man would have won very probably if he had not had the mishap to fall down, but, as it was, he lost, and Ryan turned the money over to the winner, Raymond. Ryan appeared this morning before Judge Turner and was admitted to bail in the amount of $500, and bond was furnished by F. P. Talkington and Geo. Patterson. Ryan is an ex-foot racer himself, and should be a competent judge of such an event. He at one time defeated Billy Martin, of McMinnville, on Lone Oak track, and at that time Martin was the champion of Oregon.

A number of guests in both hotels were invalids, and so rapid was the spread of the flames that the guests were forced to flee in their night clothes and many suffered from exposure. It is feared that some may die. The loss is $50,000.
