Republican National Ticket

For President. THEODORE ROOSEVELT, of New York. For Vice-President, CHAS. W. FAIRBANKS, of Indiana. For Presidential Electors: G. B. Dimick, of Clackamas. A. C. Hough, of Josephine. J. N. Hart, of Polk. Jas. A. Fee, of Malheur.

HELP THE REPUBLICAN RALLY.

One week from tonight, Tuesday, November 1st, the Republicans of Marion county will rally to the standard of Theodore Roosevelt and Chas. W. Fairbanks. It will be a meeting filled with fine Republicanism, and will virtually close the campaign for the party in this county.

Senator John H. Mitchell and other well-known Oregon speakers will deliver addresses. The local Republican clubs will march, red fire will burn and torches will glare. It will be a grand reminder of the prosperity that our nation is enjoying under the policies of the Republican party.

It will be an outburst of a united Republican party, not fostered by the narrow, private interests of any individual. The four Republican clubs are working in harmony for a glorious meeting.

It means an overwhelming majority for Roosevelt and Fairbanks in this county, perhaps upward of 1500, providing the Republicans go to the polls. From present indications it is safe to say that the stay-at-home vote will be very small, as the Republicans will take a pride in sending the majority skyward.

The rally will tend to enthuse the voters, and bring them to a full realization of the duty confronting them on November 8th.

THE WASHINGTON CAMPAIGN.

The campaign in Washington has been very close and exciting.

Turner, of Spokane, is the Democratic nominee, and has a strong following. Meade is the Republican candidate, and was a comparatively unknown lawyer until nominated.

He has made a good impression on the campaign.

The odds are in favor of the Republicans. The state has quite a strong Republican majority.

This is a presidential election, and that will help elect Meade. Turner, although a man of great resources, will not have the vote he would otherwise receive.

General distrust of the ability of the Democracy to conduct national affairs as successfully as the Republicans, will help elect an otherwise weak ticket in Washington.

THE GLORIOUS WEATHER.

The most glorious weather in the world is being enjoyed in Western Oregon.

Clear, mellow, warm, odorous, Indian summer days, with perfect moonlight nights.

The evenings are warm and the nights mild, but the mornings are bracing without frost.

Was there ever such glorious moonlight? It warms the blood of old and young, and makes sentimental people bubble over with rapture.

The hills are still green, except here and there the maples and elms are yellow and the osage shrubs and trees scarlet.

Young ladies tell us they experienced just such an autumn in 1872, and there have been several like unto it since.

The question for each individual is, am I enjoying these wonderful beauties of nature, or have I lost the capacity for enjoyment?

THE SAVINGS BANK TEST.

In 1894, when McKinley was first elected, there were 858 savings banks; now there are 1078, an increase of 10 per cent. In 1896 the number of depositors in savings banks was 5,065,494, and the total deposits $1,907,000,000; in 1903 the number of depositors had increased to 7,305,288, and the deposits to $2,935,000,000, an increase in round numbers of $1,028,000,000. As deposits in savings bank are mainly by wage-earners and persons of moderate means, the great increase in the number of depositors and the aggregate deposits indicates general prosperity—the result of Republican policies and administration.

X-RAYS

Write and fare. The Yukon river is closed for the season. Salem is to have the Century Club dancing party. Slot machines are again paying $5 a quarter in Portland. The Russian navy has at last found something of its size. Roosevelt seems to be elected. Better have it done two weeks hence. Hearst refuses to decline the Populist nomination for congress. The Standard dictionary was awarded first prize at the St. Louis world's fair. Tom Richardson captured the presidency of the Trans-Mississippi convention. Lovers sauntering in the parks in the latter part of October. Let them saunter. The Russians have made one blunder too many, in firing on a fishing fleet in British waters. Portable sawmills are being set up in the Nehalem country to saw lumber for road building. Baker City has organized a State Development Work League, on the Tom Richardson plan. About 100 Japs working on the O. R. & N., in Eastern Oregon, have been ordered home to enlist. Carnegie is sure that Roosevelt will win, and Uncle John Lewis, of Salem, is just as sure the other way. The Russians would rather be whipped by the combined nations of Europe than by a small country like Japan. Say, is Oregon really going to be so inconsistent as to make millions raising hops, and then vote prohibition right where the hops are grown? Strawberries, raspberries, mushrooms and sunshine. What's the matter with Oregon? Yet there are people who want to knock out the Salem city charter, and go back to the rail-fence, cow-pasture stage of civic progress. Why has Oregon been singled out for prohibition victories? Because we have five millions annually to lose in the hop business? If every hop yard in Oregon were wiped out, and the most stringent kind of a prohibition law enacted, Oregon would import more than five million dollars worth of liquors the first year. Variety is said to be the spice of life. The Journal has the variety in its everyday surroundings. On one side is the W. C. T. U. hall, on the other "our step-mother's" renovating parlors, where everything comes forth new and clean. Just a few steps down the street the Hillier club holds forth, the street cars all meet at our office door, and the car barn is within a stone's throw. The office force, from the editor down to the "angels," can hear the hum and buzz of the big sawmill, and smell the fragrant malt wafted from Deckebach's brew. The big Willamette hotel, where men have been made and unmade in politics in less time than it takes to tell. The large Salem flour mills grind out flour for the heathen Chinese right under our very eyes, and hundreds of pretty girls and women promenade the South Commercial street walks during these balmy afternoons. No wonder The Journal is a good paper and the people want to read it. South Salem has a brave woman. It is Mrs. Holcomb, on the east side of Commercial street. She has actually, in defiance of the custom for 40 years, put down a very nice plank sidewalk. That mania may now spread, and the people on the east side of that street may actually be able to walk to town on something besides their native heath. There is not a street in the city that would feel the benefit of improvement so much as that street would. A good walk on the east side of that street would make all property rent better, and if the street were paved even as good as the country road to Liberty all property would advance 100 per cent, and a better class of improvements would go up. Of course, no such radical progressiveness will be countenanced by the conservative element, and if it were done some of them would leave this world, or at least climb the nearest-by tree. Mrs. Holcomb has set the pace, and no telling what will follow.
