

INDIAN SUMMER AT THE ST. LOUIS FAIR

St. Louis, Oct. 26.—It's wonderful what a lot of walking one can do here at this fair without getting fatigued. If I had a pedometer fastened to me I think it would register 25 miles a day. If I walked this much at home I would be laid up for repairs. October in St. Louis is certainly ideal weather, warm in the daytime, with clear blue skies, and cool in the evening, but not too cool to eat out of doors or to enjoy the night spectacle. It is "Indian summer" here, and I am told that November is generally as delightful a month as October. If it is the fair should have six more successful weeks. We came here with the intention of staying two weeks, and John declared that he could "do" the fair in a week. But John is now talking of spending Thanksgiving here. I wouldn't be surprised if he were the last one to leave.

The rooms in the old English country house are all wonderfully beautiful and artistic, with their satinwood fittings, delicate inlays of rare woods, silk hangings, paneled walls, four-post mahogany bedsteads, and tiled chimney-pieces, but the room that interested me most was the bathroom. Here's a bathroom to delight the eye of the unwashed. You don't have to climb into a tub and climb out again, running the risk of barking your shins or dislocating your knee-cap. The man who invented this contrivance should have been parboiled in one of his own tubs.

This bathroom in the English country house is a modernized Roman plunge bath. The bath, which is oval in shape, is sunk into the floor and entered by means of marble steps. A novel effect is produced by hidden electric lights below the surface of the water. The walls are covered with marble in alternate stripes of statuary, white and pale green, and above with plaster of fine finish. In the orna-

TWO KINDS OF CHILDREN

Children that grow too fast and those that seem hardly to grow at all, both need Scott's Emulsion.

It gives that rich vital nourishment which is the secret of all healthy growth. It rounds out the long limbs, and helps children to grow without using up all their strength in growing.

Mothers ought to know more about the wonderful help which Scott's Emulsion would give their children.

mented ceiling are sunk electric lights. Just why Americans should persist in bathing in tubs that are set on the floor, when we had the luxurious and sensible Roman bath to pattern after, is a mystery. Instead of climbing up into a tub that don't fit, why not walk naturally and gracefully down into a large and luxurious pool, as the Romans did?

Speaking of baths, if the future generations of the human race are not clean it will be the fault of the makers of bathtubs and bathroom accessories. If the unwashed ones do not bump themselves the bathtub makers of this century will surely catch them. In the Palace of Manufactures there is the greatest display of bathtubs and bathroom appliances ever brought together. There are a number of bathtubs provided with every equipment that modern ingenuity and sanitary science can provide, ranging from porcelain sitz-bath and lavatory, combination shower and needle-spray to a porcelain-enamelled pool both sunk in the tiled floor.

In Germany, it seems, the public schools provide baths and every dirty youngster has to be scrubbed whether he likes it or not. I have no doubt the teachers often wish the same practice prevailed in America. In Paris, I am told, the "bath-cart man," peddling baths from house to house, can still be seen. This evolution of the bath is one of the many interesting illustrations of our progress in civilization which are presented for the instruction of the student in these world's fair exhibit places. T. #### Iowa Equal Suffragists.

Sheldon, Iowa, Oct. 26.—The thirty third annual convention of the Iowa Equal Suffrage association began here this morning, and will continue in session through Thursday and Friday. Delegates from associations and clubs in nearly every county of Iowa, besides visitors from several other states, are in the city. Indications point to a successful meeting, even though no notable speakers are expected. The opening session was devoted to reports of officers and committees and other routine business. Mrs. Mary J. Coggeshall, of Des Moines, the state president, delivered her annual address this afternoon.

New Head of Trinity.

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 26.—The inauguration of the Rev. Flavell S. Luther as president of Trinity college was a great day for the institution. Many alumni and friends were present from all parts of the country. The services took place in Parsons' theater, beginning at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Judge William Hamersley presided and President Hadley, of Yale, responded to the address of welcome in behalf of other colleges. The theater was elaborately decorated with the colors of the college, and a lavish use of potted plants and cut flowers. Among the institutions represented by their presidents or other members of their faculties were the University of Rochester, University of Pennsylvania, Miami University, Vassar College, Hobart College, Clark University, and Smith College.

President Luther was born in Connecticut in 1859. He was graduated from Trinity in 1879, and taught in the Racine high school until 1881, when he was made a professor in Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio. In 1883 Dr. Luther was made Seabury professor of mathematics in Trinity, which office he held until elected to the presidency of the college.

To Add Another Year.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Though the President's birthday does not fall until tomorrow, a shower of congratulatory messages were prematurely received at the White House today from individual friends and admirers and political organizations in all parts of the country. Mr. Roosevelt was born in New York City, October 27, 1858, and tomorrow will be his forty-sixth birthday. He will observe the day in an entirely informal manner, luncheon and dining with such members of his family as are in the city, and with a few intimate friends.

Do You Believe in Signs?

A mark, note, token or symptom, indicates that by which anything may be known, that is, we are forewarned if evil is to befall us, or we have the pleasure of anticipation if the signs betoken a fortunate occurrence. Accidental occurrences all have their signs every disease has its symptoms. The point is to heed the former, and counteract the effect of the latter. Spells of sick headache follow indigestion and stomach disorders, belching, biliousness and dyspepsia are signs of sickness. People that believe in these signs and know that they are true from experience, can get immediate relief and a speedy cure by the use of Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills. Sold by druggists for 25c per box. Only one for a dose.

Fore sale by Dr. S. C. Stone, druggist.

Bicycle Ghost.

Fort Dodge, Iowa, Oct. 26.—The bicycle ghost, which frightened the residents of Fort Dodge for the last month, has been discovered in the person of a young society girl, who is a somnambulist. Instead of walking in her sleep the young girl simply rides a block or so on a bicycle, the rider being attired in a nightdress.

The apparition was seen many times each night. Finally, two young men, mounted on wheels, waited for the ghost. When the figure appeared speeding down the avenue, they pursued and caught up with it. Just as the pursuers caught up with the speeding girl, the wheel struck a rock and, with a scream, she fell. This awakened her and she immediately fainted away. She was taken home by the young men, who knew her and the mystery was explained.

Secretary Hay to Speak.

New York, Oct. 26.—Republicans of Greater New York are greatly interested in the massmeeting to be held under their auspices in Carnegie hall tonight, for the reason that Secretary of State John Hay will be the principal speaker. It will be the first speech Secretary Hay has made during the present campaign, and probably the only one he will make. The meeting will be addressed by Senator Depew and Frank W. Higgins, candidate for Governor.

Harriman After Atchison.

Topeka, Kas., Oct. 26.—More than usual interest attaches to the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad in session here today. The interest is due largely to the report that the Harriman interests will endeavor to secure a place on the board of directors with a view to bringing about a close alliance between the Atchison, the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific.
