JOAQUIN MILLER AT HOME

Joaquin Miller, the eccentric poet and writer, well-known to all Oregonians, and formerly a resident of this state, has many peculiarities, and people are fond of relating stories of him.

Dr. James Pruett, of Oakland, Cal., in talking to a reporter of the Pendleton East Oregonian, says:
 "Owing to the world-wide fame of the poet strangers from all parts of the United States call upon him every day. People of the highest literary tastes and standing, refined, deicated and erudite, all expecting to find the poet in a sumptuous study, surrounded by the wealth of art and refinement."
 "Imagine their surprise to find Miller curled up in bed in the front room of his cabin, with his boots and clothes on, at all times of the day."
 "'I am not sick, ladies,' the poet will say in excuse for being in bed; 'but I am tired, and can't afford to pull off my boots between visits, so I just keep them on. Come in and sit down, and excuse me while I put on a coat,' he will smilingly say, as he pushes a rough stool toward his visitors and vanishes into the only other room in the cabin to complete his toilet."
 "Miller's home is on Oakland Heights, where, from his rough cabin porch, he can look over the bay and out through the Golden Gate. He spends most of his time in wandering around his premises, lounging in bed to rest, after being bored by visitors, and in talking with a few intimates who live near him."
 "Close beside the cabin, which is made to appear as near like a pioneer cabin in construction and furnishings as possible, stands his funeral pyre, on which he has ordered that his body be burned after death, and from which his ashes are to be thrown to the winds."
 "He has piled up a huge stone monument, with a furnace inside, in which is placed 18 cords of dry fir wood, and which is to be used in his cremation. He has prepared the pyre with sedulous care, and often makes changes and additions to the details, to insure its perfection."

MISS KATHARINE HOLLAND BROWN.
 The author of "Diane."
 Miss Katharine Holland Brown, the author of "Diane," was a widely known writer of clever short stories before she wrote this successful novel. Her home is at Quincy, Ill., where her father is a successful bridge engineer. Her attention was not long ago attracted to Icaria, the French communistic settlement which forms the background for "Diane," during a visit to the old Mormon town, Nauvoo, Ill., on the Mississippi river, where Cabet's dream of an ideal government was shattered. Miss Brown made an intimate investigation, and traveled far to visit the few surviving Icarians. Miss Brown has not only written a charming story, but preserved a picturesque incident in American history hitherto overlooked by novelists.

WORSE EVERY YEAR

Plenty of Salem Readers Have the Same Experience.

Don't neglect an aching back. It will get worse every year. Backache is really kidney ache. To cure the back you must cure the kidneys.

If you don't, other kidney ills follow—

Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease.

A Salem citizen tells you how—the cure is easy.

William M. Spayd, living at the corner of North Winter and D streets, says: "Words cannot express my opinion half strong enough of Doan's Kidney Pills. I have known their remarkable merits for the last eight years, having used them in Clinton county, Mich., where I was living. My kidneys were a source of annoyance for quite a number of years. I had much pain across my loins, and the secretions from the kidneys were irregular in action, causing me to rise often during the night, and at times there was a scalding. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Dr. Stone's drug store and gave some to a person visiting us, and they gave her wonderful relief, and in my case I was benefited in every way. My backache was relieved and the trouble with the kidney secretions was corrected. You are at liberty to refer to me as one who can endorse the claims made for Doan's Kidney Pills. I also know of a great many others who have used them with the best of results."

When Your Cold Catches You Just There

There is No Time to Wait.

It is not a "little thing." It's a deadly thing. It will not "get well by itself" if you let it alone. Whiskey and quinine and such things brace you up for the time, but they don't cure you. Ask any intelligent doctor why you catch cold so easily. He will say, "Because you are a bit run down." He means that the force which nature placed in your body to keep out disease germs—the resistive force—is weakened. The door is open a little way toward disease. There is not a gravestone in any cemetery in the world caused by consumption or pneumonia or any lung trouble whatever, which did not start with what you call "Nothing but a cold." A cold should not be beaten back or drugged over—it should be cured, and the general health should be built up.

Was examined by local doctors, prominent physicians in New York and at a Medical College. They all pronounced my case hopeless. I began using ACKER'S ENGLISH REMEDY and a few bottles cured me. I am today a perfectly well man." (Signed) A. H. SIMPSON, Walden, N. Y. Acker's English Remedy is sold on a positive guarantee that the purchase money will be refunded in case of failure. 25c., 50c., and $1.00 per bottle.
