AMUSEMENTS.

TONIGHT.

Grand—Belshazzar.
Coming Attractions.
Grand—"Who's Brown?"
Belshazzar.

The large chorus, which has been in training for the past two weeks, gave their first presentation of the sacred opera "Belshazzar" at the Grand last night, under the direction of Prof. Martin E. Robinson, of Chicago. While the size of the audience was not what could be desired, their enthusiastic reception of the performance was encouraging. The soloists were especially well received. The part of King Belshazzar was rendered by Geo. C. L. Snyder, Salem's own basso, in his best voice, and his acting was well suited to the part. Miss Ethel Lytle, of Portland, sustained the part of Queen Nitocris in a pleasing manner, and sang her solo parts in a remarkably sweet, clear voice. Mrs. Etta Squier Seley, whose rich contralto voice Salem people delight to hear, was not disappointing in her renditions, as queen of the court. Chas. Glos, of Portland, as Daniel, deserves special mention. His singing was superb, and his acting real.

One of the prettiest scenes was the sleeping soldiers, to whom Mrs. W. Carlton Smith, as the "angel," sang in her always pleasing way.

The chorus work was very good. Two specialties were introduced, the Egyptian Ballet by 12 young men, under the direction of S. J. Young, was well given, as was also the drill by 16 young ladies. The performance will be repeated to-night.

The New Edison.

The five Renesses' family, European character entertainers, "The Rusties," fresh from the farm, the Great Divine Dodson, Keith the piano wizard are a few of the novelties which will open the new Edison Saturday evening next. Admission 10 cents to all parts of the house.

"Who's Brown?"

Mr. William Morris, who is announced to appear here in Frank Wynnt's great comedy, "Who's Brown?" at the Grand Opera House on Thursday night, December 1st, is without doubt one of the most brilliant and promising young actors appearing before the footlights at the present time. During the engagement in this Mr. Morris will portray his favorite role of Frank Fuller, and as this is the first chance the theatre-goers of Salem have to see this young star in this popular play, all should take advantage of the opportunity.

About Theatre Cars.

There is not a very profitable business for street cars or for theatres in Salem in stormy weather. But if the managers of both could get together a little closer the public would appreciate it. As a general thing there is prompt car service for theatres, but last night it is claimed there was only one car on State street when the theatre was out. The people who go south complain that when there are cars for the other lines after the play, they have to walk down to the Willamette Hotel to get a car south. It would add to the car business and the theatre business if patrons could be sure of a car after the play on any of the four car lines, and have the cars at a certain place. This is a small matter, but the margin for success in theatres and car lines is very small in stormy weather, and people are easily diverted from becoming regular patrons of the theatre, when they live some distance, and have to go on foot a few times in the rain and wind.

IN A BAD WAY.

Many a Salem Reader Will Feel Grateful for This Information.

When your back gives out; Becomes lame, weak or aching; When urinary troubles set in; Your kidneys are "in a bad way." Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you. Here is local evidence to prove it: Jacob E. McCoy, bridge builder and contractor, residing on Capital street, second house beyond Mill creek, says: "I have always enjoyed good health up to five or six years ago. Along about that time my kidneys commenced to bother me. There was not so much backache, but the principal symptoms were in connection with the kidney secretions. A strain or over-exertion very often caused hemorrhages of the kidneys. I cannot say that it was so painful, but it was very annoying. I used various remedies, and while some gave relief others were worthless. In some way Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice, and when up town I dropped into Dr. Stone's drug store and procured a box, taking them as directed. A few doses gave me very convincing proof that they were going to the right spot. I can state that they gave me wonderful relief. I have a high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, and cheerfully recommend them.

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's— and take no other.

OREGON NOTES

Job Hatfield, a pioneer of the Umpqua valley, died at his home on Long Prairie last week. He told of the first time that he passed through Salem there was nothing of the town but a log hut. He was identified with the early history of Western Oregon and Northern California.

Mrs. Watson W. Wilson has commenced a suit against her husband in the circuit court of Douglas county. The charges are cruel and inhuman treatment.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian church will hold their national gathering at Albany next year. The convention will meet in May and the citizens of that town are already preparing for the delegates.

Charles E. Moore, an Oregon pioneer, former member of the legislature from Benton, superintendent of the blind school under Governor Moody, late postmaster at Corvallis, and ex-county judge of Polk, died at his family home north of Corvallis yesterday morning. He had been helpless for two months, and was found dead in an easy chair an hour after he had eaten breakfast. Mr. Moore was born in New York in 1823, grew to manhood in Vermont, and at 21 came to Oregon and settled in Polk county. He had resided on the farm where he died since 1865. The survivors in the family are: Mrs. Linderman, of Mountain View, Benton county, and Artur Moor, of Alki, Wash.

The contract for building the state portage road at Celilo will probably be let to A. J. McCabe and A. McL. Hawks within a few days.

The citizens of Hillsboro will vote on the question of whether or not the town cows will be allowed to run at large within the corporate limits.
