BEAUTIFUL WOMEN

HOW THEY MAINTAIN CHARM OF THEIR SEX.

The Importance That Attaches to Care of the Blood, if One Wants Bright Eyes and a Clear Complexion.

Every sensible woman wishes to appear attractive, for her own sake, but also for pleasure she may give others. She knows the value of bright eyes, clear complexion and lively expression. She may make her skin appear for a short time by the use of a complexion beautifier, but in the end cheat will show, for the cause has been removed, the effects have been hidden. The light that gives brilliancy to the eyes, and the vivacious spirits, cannot be obtained from cosmetics.

What every wise woman knows that good health is at the basis of charms, and that good blood is source of good health. She does not therefore waste money on washes, external applications of any kind, but buys at small expense a few boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and puts her blood in condition. Nature does the rest.

Miss Mamie Conday has a complexion which is the admiration of all who know her. Asked if she could give any suggestions that would be helpful to those of her sex who were fortunate in that respect, she said:

"My complexion would not be pleased you if you had seen it years ago. It was then about as it could be and it gave me a deal of dissatisfaction. If you had good complexion you must take care of your health, especially of the condition of your blood. My health at that time completely broken down. I was nervous, had frequent headaches, a torpid liver and a great deal of pain in that region. I suffered from indigestion. I could eat only simplest food and that very sparingly. It was clear that my blood was in condition, for pimples broke out over my face."

"It is hard to realize that, for it isn't the slightest trace of such pimples now."

"It was unfortunately quite wise then, and a long time passed before I found anything that gave any relief. I became very weak, listless. The doctor's medicine did no good, and I took a number of highly-recommended tonics with no result. As soon, however, as I began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People I commenced to improve in every way. My complexion cleared up at once, and after I had taken boxes there was not a sign of a pimple left on my face. My cheeks became rosy, I gained flesh and have had feet health ever since. I owe everything to five boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

These famous pills purify and enrich the blood. They cure nervous troubles and all forms of weakness. Every prudent mother sends them to her daughters to insure development to healthy womanhood. Rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes are merely signs of healthy blood. I have come not only in the case of Conway, whose home is at 1241 1/2 Eighth street, Canton, Ohio, but thousands of women for whom Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made new life. There is no surer way for you to obtain them than to buy a box of the pills from any druggist and try them for yourself. If you are interested in other points that relate to the care of a woman's health, send to Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free booklet—"Plain Talk to Women."

X-RAYS

"Everyman" is in Portland tonight and everybody will be there tomorrow.

If flattering press notices count for anything, Chauncey Bishop's eleven babies will get a great ovation in Portland tomorrow.

The political pot will get a chance to cool for a few weeks at least and the bosses will have an opportunity to recuperate and in the mean time think up some new scheme.

When a man starts out to find trouble he usually gets several packages of that article at one time. The old saying "That it never rains but it pours" has some significance.

Now all the funny artists are having a time with S. A. D. Puter's initials. It looks kind of like a case of jumping over a bundle and picking up a straw. Why not say something about his final title, or would that be too "spongy" for our modest brethren.

Foreclosure Suit.
John A. Shaw has filed suit in department No. 2 of the circuit court against Vianna L. Thompkins, —, Thompson's husband, William H. Thompson, Birdie L. Thompkins, Jessie E. Thompkins and S. Spencer for the foreclosure of a mortgage on a note for $2500 interest for five years at 7 per cent annum. The note was given in 1899, by Abraham Thompkins and wife, Vianna Thompkins, but she died in 1900, and since then his wife married one — Thompkins, and the land which was mortgaged is for taxes by the sheriff, and the plaintiff had to redeem it to protect title. Plaintiff asks that the land be sold and the amount due on the note be paid, also the amounts paid by her for taxes and the costs and disbursements of this suit. Weatherford Wyatt, of Albany, are attorneys for plaintiff.

Civil Service Follies.
Ed. Journal: Prominent members of congress, including Hepburn and Grosvenor, are making an effort to abolish civil service in the various branches of the government. In the arguments advanced before the committee of the whole on Thursday it was alleged that the employes of the government under the civil service law were becoming less efficient, and the departments were paying more for the work than under the old system.
Civil service was a theory, and before it was adopted it worked out well enough on paper, but the test of time destroyed all the glittering arguments advanced in its favor, and the result is as stated by the men quoted.
The examinations for positions under the civil service law are mostly all theories, and do not give the practical man a fair chance to compete. Every business man well knows that his most valuable help could not successfully pass an examination loaded down with red tape and useless questions. This is not saying that every employe of the government under civil service is incompetent, yet it weakens the ambition to take them out of the competitive field, and secure them positions for life, without any further effort on their part. They feel secure in their work, so long as they obey the rules and regulations of the departments, and the thousand ways of becoming lax and dilatory in the performance of their duties make the results of their labors very unsatisfactory to the public. The old spoils system was had enough, but from practical experience it is much preferable to civil service. CITIZEN.

FRANK MEETS TEDDY
Washington, Dec. 6.—Chairman Frank C. Baker, of the Oregon Republican state central committee, was presented to President Roosevelt yesterday. He was accompanied to the White House by Senators Mitchell and Fulton. Senator Mitchell, in presenting Mr. Baker to the President said: "Mr. Baker is the liveliest chairman in the West."
The President replied: "Yes, Mr. Baker, I am sure of that, and thank you and the people of Oregon for their generous indorsement of our administration. Oregon's indorsement in June, however, your first, was the important event in your state. It set the pace for the November contest."
Mr. Baker came East at the invitation of the Oregon senators and managers of the Republican national campaign. He will remain until the holidays, and will have a conference with the President, Chairman Cortelyou, Secretary Dover and other officials of the national committee.
Mr. Baker says he is not here to discuss appointments, but says he will have something to say after he sees the President again.
