

LAWYER LEVY PICTURES CAESAR YOUNG'S LIFE

Bookmaker Loved Two Women And Enjoyed the Diversion

New York, Dec. 21.—When court opened this morning Nan Patterson appeared in fine spirits and conversed in a lively manner with her father, whom she kissed on entering. Prosecutor Rand withdrew his motion to strike certain bits of testimony which he made yesterday, the defense declining to concur. Attorney Unger made usual motion to dismiss defendant on the grounds of non-proof, which was denied. Counsel Levy then summed up a case for the defense in a long, extensive speech.

Levy pointed out the weakness of the prosecution's case and spoke of the conflicting testimony of the cabman and the boy who jumped on the cab. "Either Young killed himself or was killed by the defendant. You must either acquit this girl or give her the full punishment of the law," said Levy. He spoke of the life of defendant, of her scarlet sins and dramatically declared, "Were she the best strumpet of the street, and her hair as black as the gates of hell, she entitled to as square and fair a trial as the sweetest and purest woman."

Defendant's counsel told of the life of Young, and of his complex disposition. He said that Young was a man who would naturally love two women, and he had great sympathy for the widow in her bereavement, but the verdict of the jury, whatever it was, could not bring her husband back. Levy declared that there was no evidence brought out to show that Young had to get rid of the defendant.

DENNIS DONAHOE DID NOT MAKE THREATS

New York, Dec. 21.—Dennis Donahoe, the financial writer, who is reported to have sent Lawson a message warning him not to print an advertisement attacking him, or he would take the midnight train for Boston and do things to Lawson, this morning denied having made the statement ascribed to him or sending the telegram. He said: "I am a man of peace, not of fighting, but I am prepared to defend myself if attacked by Lawson. My weapon is my pen, and I propose to tell the people what I know of conditions, fairly, accurately and fearlessly."

given it to him so that he might carry the means of protection while abroad." When Levy closed a recess was taken. Justice Davis stated during the recess that he would not charge the jury until tomorrow. Prosecutor Rand began summing the evidence for the state when court opened after 2 o'clock, and agreed with the defense that either Young killed himself or the defendant killed him. He declared it was physically impossible for Young to fire the shot which caused his death.

HOUSE KEEPER ON STAND

Cleveland, Dec. 21.—Mrs. Mary Lovderville, for 12 years housekeeper for Dr. Chadwick, was a witness in the Chadwick bankruptcy hearing before Referee Remington today. She told of taking the mysterious portmanteau, supposed to contain the securities to a conference of lawyers at the Hollenden Hotel, and said they were to be turned over to a man named Pine, who was a relative of Mrs. Chadwick's. An effort will be made to secure Pine as a witness.

Fighters Feel Fine.
San Francisco, Dec. 21.—Britt and Nelson are none the worse this morning for last night's battle. Britt shows a slight cut on the forehead as a result of the battle, and Nelson was cut over the left eye, and had a swollen left ear, but otherwise is in good shape. It was almost daylight when they retired, and slept late. Nelson feels that the referee's decision was wrong. The receipts were, in round numbers, $35,000, of which the fighters get 55 percent. Britt's share is $11,500 and Nelson's $7,700.

Parker, in whose honor the dinner is to be given. It is intended as a sort of formal welcome to the judge upon his return to the ranks of the legal profession. That it will be without political significance is evidenced by the fact that the speakers are to include prominent men of both parties. Among the number will be ex-Governor Frank S. London, Dec. 21.—Baron Hayashi reports that the Japanese captured in Kikwan fort, on December 18th, four quick-firing guns, five field guns, and a number of rifles, a quantity of shells, ammunition and grenades.

Shanghai, Dec. 21.—A report has reached here that the captain of the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi, which dismantled at Shanghai, August 26th, last, has been discovered on board the British steamer Nigretia, which was seized by the Japanese protected cruiser Tushima, off Ulsan, Corea, Monday. Charts and documents which would have been of incalculable value to the Russians are said to have been found on the captain's person.

The report, which is generally credited here, somewhat conflicts with that contained in an earlier dispatch, in which it was stated that Captain Reizenstein, of the cruiser Askold, also disabled in August at Shanghai, was the officer who had attempted to reach Vladivostok on the Nigretia. In either case, it is believed that the Japanese will hold the Chinese authorities responsible for the escape of the officers from Shanghai.

Great Britain is also likely to be required to clear herself in the matter unless the rumor circulated here is correct, that the captain disguised himself as a French officer, and in that manner secured passage on the Nigretia.
