FOREIGN HOP MARKET

More Speculation on Crop and Consumption

(Kentish Observer, Dec. 29th.) The Borough market was virtually closed on Tuesday, business not being resumed until yesterday. The few inquiries received point to a much better demand in the near future. Prices in the meantime are firmly maintained, and holders show little inclination to submit samples at the present level of values. Messrs. Manger and Henley, London, S. E., report:—There has been very little change of business in consequence of the dense fogs which have been continuous the whole week—the holidays also interfering. No alteration to report in prices, which remain notably unchanged.

Nuremberg.—S. B. Bing Sons, hop merchants, Nuremberg, report:—Notwithstanding the near holidays the daily transactions are on about the same level as during the past week and both quotations and tendency are unchanged.

Hops Imported and Exported. (Report of U. S. Department of Commerce for November.)

The Times is in receipt of the following which is part of a communication, dated Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 30, 1904, and signed by Isaac Pinus & Son, the leading hop dealers of Washington:

"An article in Thursday's Oregonian contains the following statement: 'As three-fourths of the hops grown in the United States in 1904 have passed into the hands of consumers, brewers will not require to buy until early summer, having in stock three-fourths of their annual requirements.' This foolish statement shows what ridiculous extremes the bears will resort to accomplish their purposes.

The facts of the situation are as follows: It is conceded by every one familiar with the hop trade that the crop of the United States for the year 1904 did not exceed 255,000 bales. Out of this we have already actually shipped to foreign countries 70,000 bales and have in transit for export 5,000 bales, a total of 75,000 bales, which must be deducted from the crop of 225,000 bales, leaving 150,000 bales of the 1904 crop in the United States. Now let us see where these are. In Washington in the hands of the growers and dealers there are 12,000 bales, in Oregon 30,000 bales, in California 10,000 bales, in New York, in the hands of growers and country dealers and in New York city, 20,000 bales, making a total of 72,000 bales. Deducting this from the 150,000 bales shown above as remaining of the 1904 crop leaves 78,000 bales of this crop in the hands of the brewers of the United States. To this must be added the imports since September 1st of this year, which will equal about 10,000 American bales, making 88,000 bales, all that it is possible for the brewers to have in stock at this time of 1904 hops.

The United States department of Commerce shows that the consumption of hops during the past year was 216,000 bales, or an average of 8,000 bales per month. Now it must be apparent that the brewers began using the 1904 crop the 1st of October, and, at the rate of 18,000 bales per month, the 118,000 bales which they have in stock would, if equally divided in proportion to the quantity used among all the brewers of the United States, last until the middle of April, 1905. As these hops are not equally divided among the brewers, it is self evident that heavy buying must take place soon.

Apropos of Parsifal.

We frequently hear the criticism from those of our people who are not of the manner born that "Salem people will not turn out to hear a good thing." That is hardly just, for when our people are absolutely sure they are to hear something fine they often turn out en masse, but we are nothing if not conservative, and conservatism is always narrowness in a degree, and may become such a habit that we live isolated lives, missing therefore, most of the good things that come to the venturesome spirit who nibbles at all. We shall have at the Grand Opera House on the 26th of this month a dramatic reading of Parsifal, by Bertha Kunz-Baker. You may have yielded many times to the temptation to hear a dramatic reading, when your love for the spirit of the poem was shocked by stage-cant, and the murder of a classic, but we have the testimony of scholarly men and women as to the ability of Mrs. Baker, and one of our townsmen, who has recently heard her, pronounces her fine. She can easily fill Studebaker Hall, in Chicago. Mrs. Baker has made a study of her subject, and we shall enjoy her interpretation of this beautiful creation of Wagner.

A Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party may be given to your stomach and liver by taking a medicine which will relieve their pain and discomfort, viz: Dr. King's New Life Pills. They are a most wonderful remedy, affording sure relief and cure, for headache, dizziness and constipation; 25c, at J. C. Perry's drug store.

A good deal of excitement is being aroused at the little village of Mosier, near The Dalles. Gold is said to have been found in large quantities at the mouth of Mosier creek.
