

GREAT AUTO RACES

The Greatest Automobile Race of the Year

Ormond, Fla., Jan. 21.—Everything is in readiness for the great motor racing tournament to be held here next week. The program arranged for the occasion and the many prominent automobile racers here assure the success of the meeting, which will be the third ever held over the famous Ormond-Daytona course.

Record breaking trials by the famous machines will be a feature of the tournament and there is considerable speculation as to just how far the present records will be reduced. During the first tournament Winton covered the course in 52 2-5 seconds, but this record was practically forgotten last year when William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., drove his machine a mile in the remarkable time of 39 seconds.

Nothing short of a mile in 30 seconds would electrify the public now, who seem to have become accustomed to these marvelous miles of speed. Experts firmly believe the two miles in one minute will be recorded here during the coming week by some of the high power cars.

The races will undoubtedly be more interesting this year than ever before. This is due to the great number of entries. In fact, so much interest has been aroused over the respective merits of the various machines that several New York bookmakers are here to lay prices on the different racing events.

The tournament will bring together the greatest motors, as well as the amateur and professional kings. Never before has such an aggregation of foreign cars been entered in one meeting, and their owners represent the best amateur drivers in this country and Europe. There are many of 90-horse power machines here, more than 30 foreign machines being entered by as many Americans. Of the 10 there are seven Mercedes, their owners being William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., H. L. Bowden, E. R. Thomas, S. B. Stevens, E. M. Shanley, James L. Brees and James J. Barry. The others are W. Gould Brokaw's famous Renault, A. G. Vanderbilt's Fiat and A. McDonnell's Napier.

The condition of the beach course was never better than it is at present. Its sand is composed largely of the shells of the coquina clam, peculiar to this part of Florida. The beach seems made for automobilists, for, regardless of weather conditions, there is no mud, no dust, tires are never heated, owing to the moisture, and an exploded tire is unknown. Twice each 24 hours the course is entirely rebuilt by the tide. Being almost level, and with an average rise and fall of only two feet six inches at extreme low tide, the beach is free from 300 to 500 feet wide, and can be used from two hours after until two hours before high tide, thus giving an average of seven or eight hours for automobilists some part of the day.

A remarkable cure of tetanus has been performed at the Newark, N. J. city hospital, upon a thirteen year old boy who was in the last stages of the disease. The cure was performed by the use of the new anti-tetanic serum, over two hundred dollars worth of which was used.

Eczema

How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries and scales! Some people call it tetter, milk crust or salt rheum. The suffering from it is sometimes intense; local applications are resorted to—they mitigate, but cannot cure. It proceeds from humors inherited or acquired and persists until these have been removed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla positively removes them, has radically and permanently cured the worst cases and is without an equal for all cutaneous eruptions.

Hood's Pills are the best cathartic. Price 25 cents.

GREAT MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Portland, Jan. 21.—A magnificent musical festival, to continue for a solid week, is planned as one of the many attractions for the Lewis and Clark centennial. A monster chorus of amateur voices, recruited from the various singing societies throughout the state of Oregon, will be gathered and drilled for months prior to the festival. It is probable that at least 1000 singers will take part. The concert will be held in Festival hall, a beautiful exposition structure built for such purposes, which is provided with a large stage, and seating capacity for 3000 people.

LEWIS AND CLARK NOTES

An airship tournament will be an attraction at the Lewis and Clark exposition. Large prizes will be awarded to the successful contestants.

The Order of Railway Conductors will hold its biennial session at the Lewis and Clark exposition on May 9.

The state of Washington will erect a handsome building at the Lewis and Clark exposition. The structure will cost $25,000.

The National Lettercarriers association will hold a week's convention at the Lewis and Clark exposition, beginning September 8.

Norwegian singing societies will have a special day at the Lewis and Clark centennial for a reunion of members and a contest for prizes.

The gigantic statue of Vulcan in iron, which was exhibited at the world's fair by Birmingham, will hold a prominent place on the grounds at the Lewis and Clark exposition.

Missouri will make an exhibit at the Lewis and Clark centennial that could not be duplicated for $300,000. The best of the state's display at St. Louis will be supplemented and transferred to Portland.

Many pieces of the best statuary used on the grounds and buildings at the world's fair have been donated by the St. Louis management to the Lewis and Clark exposition, where they will grace the grounds next summer.

The silver watch worn by Captain Meriwether Lewis on the exploration expedition 100 years ago through Oregon to the Pacific, which was believed to have been stolen from him when he was murdered in Tennessee, has been found. An old lady in Weston, Va., claims to own the identical timepiece and will exhibit it at the Lewis and Clark centennial.

ALASKA'S FAIR EXHIBIT

Large Display to Be at Lewis and Clark Fair

Portland, Jan. 21.—Alaska, the land of snow and ice and gold mines, will make a display at the Lewis and Clark centennial that will show, besides its mining resources, the agricultural wealth of Uncle Sam's most northerly territory. Alaskans are alive to the importance of being suitably represented at the exposition, and the exhibit which they will prepare will far exceed displays collected for earlier fairs.

Every part of Alaska will be represented, from the islands along the southeastern coast to the remote regions along the international boundary and extreme western Alaska, back to Nome. The ore exhibit, which will naturally attract the greatest interest, will fill a single case 75 feet long and five feet high. Gold and copper ores will be exhibited for the most part. The Treadwell mine will have an individual display, showing that this mine in 22 years has produced over $22,000,000 worth of gold—more than three times the original cost of Alaska.

The fisheries exhibit is being prepared to show methods of catching and packing salmon in Alaska. There will be a fine line of Alaska furs, including skins from all the furbearing animals native to the territory. Some of these skins, made into rugs, are worth $1000 each.

The agricultural exhibit will serve to dispel the popular impression that the northern territory is a great ice floe. The exhibit will include samples of various grains grown in Alaska, which will compare favorably with those grown in the States, together with garden vegetables now raised extensively in favored portions of the territory. Native fruits and berries, many of them unknown elsewhere, will be on display, as well as fruits which have been introduced into the territory.

Photographs of scenery will form an interesting feature of the Alaskan exhibit. The work of the natives, such as basket beadwork, totem poles and canoes, will be shown in an attractive manner, and the exhibit will give evidence of the results of educational methods introduced since the United States took possession of the territory.

The population of Alaska is now estimated at 50,086, of which 29,536 are Indians and 26,550 whites. Shiphounds of Alaskans are expected to attend the exposition.

Honor Memory of Ingalls.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—Today was set aside in both the house and senate for exercises in memory of Senator John J. Ingalls of Kansas. After addresses in eulogy of the life and works of the late senator had been delivered in both houses by a number of his former colleagues the members adjourned to Statuary hall, where the marble statue of Senator Ingalls, presented to the government by the state of Kansas, was formally accepted. The exercises were of an impressive character and were largely attended.

In Memory of Victoria.

London, Jan. 21.—Tomorrow will be the fourth anniversary of the death of Queen Victoria, and as usual King Edward, Queen Alexandra and other members of the royal family will attend memorial services in Frogmore mausoleum. the purpose of starting the fund. The students are enthusiastic over the project. The building is assured by this first effort, and as it will be the only student building in the northwest it will in time attract scores of students to the institution.
