

ANOTHER JEWISH MASSACRE

Slaughter of Innocents Repeated in Rus- sia

Horrible Assaults Beat in and Killing of Hundreds

St. Petersburg, Feb. 15.—Another "slaughter of the innocent" has been perpetrated by the Russian police. This time the outrage occurred in Mskoff, in the government of Minsk, and among the victims, mostly Jews, were several young women, who were brutally assaulted, while the men were killed, stabbed and beaten.

The massacre took place on Wednesday, but until Thursday the efforts of the authorities to keep it secret were successful, for the blood was spilled in the building where the local police makes its headquarters. It appears that a large number of arrests were made in connection with some minor strikes which have recently occurred in Mskoff. Wednesday orders were given to arrest the leaders and as many of the strikers as could be gathered in without attracting too much attention. To this end the Jewish settlements, where most of the workers here, were invaded and a number of men and women dragged to the police station. There was no evidence that these persons were instrumental in calling the strike.

Blows Rained Upon Them.
The prisoners were taken before the lieutenant of police, who looking over the list of names and noting that most of these were Jews, turned the strikers over to the police.

Immediately the officers pounced upon the unarmed strikers and thrashed them until they groveled on the floor. Then they kicked them down the stairs, where a second party of policemen took up the task where their comrades had left it and rained blows upon the backs of their victims with the flat of their swords.

By this time most of the workmen were almost unconscious, but the tortures had not yet been completed. They were taken into the courtyard, where a party of soldiers, which was guarding the prison annex, fell upon them, gouged their eyes out, broke their limbs with blows from their rifle barrels and then kicked the injured all over the yard.

Girls Shamefully Assaulted.
Several girls who had up to this moment escaped with minor injuries, were shamefully assaulted by the soldiers and then dragged. Several of these girls, it is stated, cannot live, while others will be crippled for life. Several of the men died in the yard. Others were kept thronged and bleeding, until the superior officers realized that their removal had become an urgent necessity. They were transferred to the prison hospital.

According to reliable reports, there were over 100 men and women in the party of prisoners. How many lost their lives is not known.

Big Bowling Tourney Is On.
Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 15.—Individual and team bowlers from all over the country are gathered in the Grant City to take part in the annual meeting and tournament of the American Bowling Congress, which begins in the Exposition building this afternoon in connection with all of next week. From New York, Philadelphia and Washington in the east to Ancon, Denver and several Pacific coast cities in the west the alley men have assembled here to compete for the $10,000 in prizes, and to enroll themselves as guests of the Milwaukee bowling association, host for the championship tournament.

Experts at the game predict the hottest kind of competition in all the events, five-man, two-man and individual, and Chicago and Milwaukee are naturally the most largely represented and the bowlers from those two cities are mounting upon carrying away many prizes. But all the way west from New York the cities have sent in delegations, and Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Joseph, Kansas City and St. Louis men are here, anxious to compare their skill with that of the better known players. The sixteen alleys are now, fresh paint are to be set up daily, and some of the competitors have been allowed to practice upon the tournament alleys. While these conditions will militate against high scoring, it is expected that some records of the American Bowling Congress will go by the board before the tournament is concluded next Saturday.

Sessions of the American Bowling Congress, controlling organization of the game, will begin next Monday.

That the sessions this year are to be of much importance is shown by the general demand for revision of certain rules and a general shaking up of the Congress so that it may become a worthy governing body of so important a sport as bowling. The feeling that the commercial side of the sport should be forced into the background is the consensus of opinion among the delegates here. Just what will be done cannot be stated definitely, but it is certain that an effort will be made to amend many rules, among them the eligibility rule, which is conceded to be altogether undesirable by those who have tried to organize bowlers for the national tournament.

Secretary Langtry of the Milwaukee Bowling Tournament company has drafted a rule which he will present to the delegates as follows:

"To qualify as a contestant in an annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress, each bowler shall become a member of the American Bowling Congress at least five days prior to the date of the closing of the entries in accordance with rule 2 of the by-laws.

"To bowl on a team entered in the annual tournament, each individual bowler must be a bona fide member of the American Congress in good standing.

"To become a bona fide member of the American Bowling Congress it will be necessary for each individual to join the American Bowling Congress and pay annual dues of 25 cents at least five days prior to the date of the closing of entries for an annual tournament.

"A bona fide member of the American Bowling Congress may bowl on any team he may enter with, providing the other members of the team are bona fide members of the American Bowling Congress, but each individual can enter with but one five-man team, one two-man team and once in the individual contest of each Congress."

The salient point of this proposed amendment is that individuals and not clubs become members of the American Bowling Congress, and the cumbersome and unnecessary city bowling associations are done away with, following the lines of the Amateur Athletic Union and the League of American Women.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestine and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onion and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually cleans and improves the complexion. It whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and constantly safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some cases a potent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

All the Year.

The whole year through, legislators or no legislators, people must eat, and they must eat smart if they work with head or brain. For a generation the people of this city have depended on the old reliable market of E. C. Cross for their best meat supplies. Try a Sunday roast from this market. If you are not in the habit of securing it, there.

FRANCES WILLARD HONORED

Marble Statue of Noted White Ribboner Unveiled

Only Woman Whose Image Ornaments Statuary Hall

Washington, Feb. 15.—The snow-white marble statue of Miss Frances H. Willard, conspicuous as the only statue of a woman among a score or more of images of noted men, was unveiled in Statuary hall of the capitol yesterday afternoon with exercises of a highly interesting and impressive character. The statue is a gift from the state of Illinois, but its formal acceptance yesterday was made the occasion for a day's tribute from the women of the entire country to the memory of the great temperance leader.

The exercises were conducted under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the District of Columbia. The national officers of the organization, a number of the state presidents and many workers from various parts of the country were in attendance. The exercises were attended also by the members of Congress in a body and addresses eulogizing the life, character and work of Miss Willard were delivered by several of the representatives from Illinois. At the conclusion of the exercises 1000 school children filed through Statuary hall and each placed a white carnation at the base of the statue.

The statue, which is of Carr marble, is the work of Miss Heier, Frances Mears, of Wisconsin. It represents the famous temperance leader standing in modern dress by a reading desk as though about to address an audience. In her left hand are a few leaves of manuscript and her right arm rests easily on the desk. At her feet on the pedestal are carved these words from one of her addresses:

"Ah! it is women who have given the world the greatest blessing to fortune. Out into the battle of life they have sent their best beloved, with fearful odds against them. Oh, by the dangers they have dared, by the hours of patient watching over beds where helpless children lay; by the incense of ten thousand prayers wafted from their gentle lips to heaven; I charge you to give them power to protect along life's treacherous highway those whom they have so loved."

Anniversary of Pythians.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 15.—Tomorrow the order of the Knights of Pythias rounds out its fortieth year and members of the order throughout the land are preparing to celebrate the anniversary in an appropriate manner. They believe they have good cause for jubilation in the rapid growth and flourishing condition of the order. Since it was founded by Justice H. Rathbone in this city four decades ago the fraternity has spread to every state and territory of the Union, to Alaska, Cuba, the Hawaiian Islands and several of the Canadian provinces. The Uniform Rank and the Rathbone Sisters, the women's auxiliary, have likewise enjoyed a marvelous growth. The present supreme chancellor is Charles E. Shivers, of Indiana, who will hold office until the next biennial convocation, which is to be held at New Orleans in September, 1906.

Oregon's Change Run.

The steamer Oregon and Pomona change runs today at Newberg, when the passengers will be transferred and the Oregon, which will be on the down trip will come back up the river and lay over Sunday at Albany. These changes are made occasionally to enable the different crews to have their Sunday off in Portland, instead of the upriver towns.

Sent to Portland.

Norrene Snyder, the girl who has been detained in the city jail for several days, was committed to the Boys and Girls' Aid Society of Portland yesterday by County Judge Scott. Superintendent Gardner of the society, coming after her.

INITIAL SHIPMENT OF HORSES

Arrived in Japan and Pass Official In- spection

This Will Give an Impetus to Horse Raising on Coast

The 14 horses shipped January 17 via the Kanagawa Maru to Japan as an experiment, stood the trip over the seas splendidly and passed Japanese inspection at Yokohama. The news has just been reported from Yokohama and Washington and Oregon men are rejoicing for the safe arrival in its condition of the animals, and their being passed by the Japanese inspection service means a lot to the horse raising industry of the two states.

Some time ago Japan made known her need of horses, nearly every horse in the empire having been taken up by the army, and many of them having been killed or captured by the enemy or even used for food during times of short rations. The stockmen of the western states were anxious to secure the Japanese orders for horses, but thought best to send a small number of the animals on a trial trip before engaging to supply the wholesale demand, so the 14 horses were sent by the Kanagawa Maru on her last trip to the Orient.

During the passage over the open sea it is reported some of the horses were slightly seasick and showed a little uneasiness, but none of them suffered seriously, and when released at Yokohama all of them evidenced their splendid condition physically and in spirit by an animated frolic. The compartments in which the animals were confined while en route were padded against accident by heavy seas and plenty of hay and oats were served.

Now that the trial has been so successfully passed the horsemen of the west will begin gathering their stock together, and it is expected that several large consignments will be sent next month. Most of the horses will be brought straight from the plains full of life and vim. The Japanese agents in this country have been buying up all the horses they could get
