MIND OVER BODY

New York, March 25.—Dr. William Rainey Harper, president of the Chicago University, reached this city yesterday, thus completing the first stage of a little vacation trip that he hopes will greatly benefit his health.

He will go to Lakewood today, he will remain for several weeks. There he will meet John D. Rockefeller, and doubtless discuss the affairs of the Chicago University.

Dr. Harper's wonderfully rapid recovery from the serious surgical operation, which was performed upon him in Chicago recently, is but one of the evidences of the domination of a mentality stronger than matter, for it is admitted by the friends of the doctor that his physical condition was at one time such as to preclude the hope of his recovery through medical agency.

His case is being closely watched by pathologists and metaphysicians, for it is of great moment to the scientific world to know just how far the mind can dominate matter and thus stay the ravages of disease.

For a long time it has been the belief of a certain school of physicians that much of the ills that the flesh is heir to are aggravated by the melancholic conditions that are induced by a morbid state of mind.

President Harper has frequently expressed himself to his friends as being in accord with Shakespeare when he wrote that there was nothing good or bad, "but that thinking made it so."

When Dr. Harper was told after the operation that surgery could not cure him, it was thought that he would never again be able to go about his work. He laughed at the fears of his friends and told them he had work to do that compelled him to live; work that he could not afford to leave unfinished. Several times he has expressed himself as quoted above. The outcome of his progress in resisting disease will, therefore, be watched with great interest by his friends.

COD LIVER OIL TRANSFORMED BY CHEMISTRY

Made Palatable and Digestible While Retaining All Its Medicinal Qualities.

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The chemist, adding to the sum of human knowledge as the latter years go by, may yet solve the secrets of human existence. In the work that may come to this result he is continually analyzing, separating, building—in his toilsome effort to find what is good and bad, and why. In no branch of chemistry is this truer than in the department of medicine. For years a drug or natural product may have been thought a specific; the analysis of the chemist demonstrates that it is not the whole, but a part, that contains remedial virtue. If there has been to the whole a difficulty of administration, or an unpleasantness of taste, or some other property that has hindered in its common use, and if it be found that the actual medicinal parts may be dissociated from this unpleasantness or difficulty, then the chemist who makes the discovery has proven his value to his race.

No one will dispute the curative value of cod liver oil. For centuries it has been recognized as the grandest of all body-building agents for wasted human strength and vitality.

Heavy Oil Indigestible.

Yet a great deal of the good that should have been derived from its use has been prevented by the fact that many patients who were weakened by disease could not digest the heavy oil, either in its raw form or in an emulsion, and others would not take it on account of its disagreeable odor and taste.

Now modern science has proved that the oil or greasy part has no value whatever, either as a medicine or food. It appears that the medicinal elements, of which there are about 50 different kinds found in the cod's liver, represent all the tonic, body-building and curative powers of this famous old remedy.

After 20 years' study two eminent French chemists, Monrgues and Gautier by name, discovered a way to separate these medicinal elements from the oil and livers, and gave to modern medicine all the valuable part of cod liver oil, unnumbered by the useless, oily, greasy part.

A preparation containing all these medicinal elements, but entirely free from oil or grease, therefore, must be the best tonic reconstructor possible. Such is Vinol.

In no way does Vinol resemble cod liver oil. It does not look, nor smell, nor taste like cod liver oil.

Delicious and Palatable.

Yet Vinol is guaranteed to contain in a highly concentrated form all the medicinal elements actually taken from fresh cod's livers, with organic iron and other body-building ingredients, in a deliciously palatable and easily digested form.

In every case where old-fashioned cod liver oil or emulsions would do good, Vinol will do more good, for it is immediately assimilated, and is acceptable to the weakest stomach; for this reason it is fast superseding old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions.

The elaborate process employed to separate the medicinal, curative elements from the cod's livers, omitting the oil entirely, is the only secret about Vinol. Its simplicity is its grandest feature, being absolutely free from drugs and injurious ingredients. It is not a patent medicine, as everything in it is named on the label.

Vinol, for the last six years, has been sold by the leading druggists in all the principal cities of the country, and in most of these stores its sales have equalled or more, the combined sales of all other cod liver oil preparations, which goes to prove its superiority. As a body builder and strength-giver for old people, weak women, puny children, and for all pulmonary diseases, it is guaranteed by over 2000 of the leading druggists of the country to be the best they ever sold. G. W. Putnam, Druggist.

LEAGUES ARE AT OUTS

Major league baseball is facing a struggle all over the country and many of the smaller leagues are preparing defenses for a disruption of the American League association. Should a condition come about it will be of great importance to the Pacific National, which is already at war with the American League. If the association is dissolved the Pacific National will not be outlawed organization, but will stand on a position of a leader in the re-organization of the American League.

A union league which threatens to break away will bring about the following conditions:

1. Disruption of draft for the time being.

2. Disruption of National Association minor leagues.

3. A fight for players between the American League of the class A type and the American League.

4. Recognition of contracts or releases by the class A leagues in dealing with the minor leagues.

5. Alliance between the National league and the class A minors.

Practically the end of organized baseball for the time being.

Possible invasion of Washington by the eastern league and Baltimore and Buffalo, now in the Eastern league, by the American.

Possible invasion of Chicago by the American association and Louisville by the American.

Possible split between the National league and the American on account of National minor alliances.

Howard Griffiths of Jersey City, who is traveling through the west as a minor league delegate to the Los Angeles conference, placed the cause of the trouble at the door of President Ban Johnson of the American League. The minor leagues are disgusted at the manner in which all of their best players are drafted away by the major leagues. They demand that the draft be limited to but one player from a team each year and that $1,500 a year be given for this privilege.

Johnson has ridiculed these representations and unless he reconsiders the war will be on.

Playing the Shells.

The following query was received this morning, and the answer seems clear:

To the Sporting Editor: Can a man play the shells and win? This is to decide a wager. Please answer in the Journal. A SPORT.

When the steerer gets the geezer in the push, let the boosters stall until the main plunger cops; then, if the gilly digs in his keyser, or goes south for soft, give him a flash of the little dinkie doodle ball. The boosters must tip the nut spieker if any ollies are pipping, and if the "gee" springs a fat roll, tie up the ollie a snif to vamp until the blowoff. When he is up against it good and cops the wrong nut have the staller ready to split him for any hobbals that come up to knock. Hunch him over to the juke joint and throw the bull con, but lead him off the lot before he gets hip and makes a roar for his wad, or starts a clemm. If the spieker should happen to fumble the pill while the dough is up, it is best to cop and blow at once. Make a hot lams before the rube gets the green in his mit, and do a ringer before making another pitch.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a child, she cried for Castoria. When she became a Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had children, she gave them Castoria.

Shortage of Rainfall.

The shortage of the rainfall this spring is seriously hindering the tie mills that rely on flumes to transport their products to the market. The owners of the Lewis river tie mills state that they will be compelled to close down in the near future because of insufficient water facilities.

The streams in the eastern part of the state, as also those in Washington, are much lower than they have been for many years, and, unless the precipitation increases in a marked degree soon the mills depending on the rivers for their water supply in bringing out the logs are apt to be greatly hindered, and the amount of logs sent out severely lessened.
