TO AID AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINE

New York, April 13.—The new campaign organizing to secure from congress in the next session action toward the rehabilitation of the American merchant marine will be started in earnest tomorrow when a meeting will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria to effect permanent organization and discuss plans. The new organization is called the American Maritime League, and the president is former Senator John M. Thurston. The organization is thoroughly non-partisan, and comprises men of all business pursuits and every shade of political opinion. It does not favor any definite policy, either of subsidies, discriminating duties, port charges or tonnage taxes, but interests the public in the general subject of upbuilding the merchant marine of the United States.

An advisory board has already been selected, with one or more representatives from every state. President Roosevelt has signified his interest in the organization by accepting an honorary membership and on the advisory board are former Secretary of War Root, Secretary of the Navy Morton, Attorney-General Moody, Secretary of War Taft, Charles M. Schwab, M. E. Ingalls, President Schurman of Cornell University, President Harper of the University of Chicago, and Governor Bliss of Michigan.

It is proposed that the members of the league shall press the subject of building up the merchant marine, especially on commercial clubs and organizations. A magazine will be established in Washington whose columns will be open to a non-partisan discussion, and prior to the assembling of congress meetings will be held in this city and in other parts of the country.

Don't Borrow Trouble.

It is a bad habit to borrow anything but the worst thing you can possibly borrow, is trouble. When sick, sore, heavy, weary and worn-out by the pains and poisons of dyspepsia, biliousness, Bright's disease, and similar internal disorders, don't sit down and brood over your symptoms, but fly for relief to Electric Bitters. Here you will find sore and permanent forgetfulness of all your troubles, and your body will not be burdened by a load of debt disease. At J. C. Perry's drug store. Price 50c. Guaranteed.

The county court of Josephine county refused to make an appropriation for a county exhibit at the Lewis and Clark fair.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

A millinery shop window is now a curious sight; exaggerations of all kinds and exquisite creations are so arranged that almost startling contrasts are the result. A Napoleon shape in pink gossamer straw, with an outline of tiny rose buds at back and front, (intended for a very young person) is next an immense black lace straw, with a high crown, and two gorgeous ostrich plumes. Then a large sailor hat, with crown of the richest colored silk and lace brim, has for its neighbor a jet toque with white ostrich plume. A green straw, trimmed with white lilacs, is near a large shape of Milan straw, the brim bent in three curves which are filled in with large roses and foliage.

embellishment, and they are often as costly as they are beautiful. Linen etamine is one of the latest varieties in shirt-waist suit style. Seen at a recent opening was a linen suit of the blue-blue shade, now called "Alice blue," with a half-length coat open in front and a circular skirt. The edges of the entire costume including the skirt were hand-scalloped with the same color, and the sleeve fronts of skirt and front and back of coat were embroidered in heavy hand work of the same shade.

Ostrich Plumes. were never more important, their graceful undulations doing away to some extent with the absurdities of hats designed to be conspicuous. Velvet is also a factor in millinery, particularly in the "high back" effects, where it is combined with flowers of several kinds. Large roses are well adapted to shapes turning up at one side, or forming the center of a flat crown of flowers. The position of stylish hats is varied. Some tilt over the face, especially the "high back" shapes, others perch on the pompadour roll, then again the large sailor is worn quite flat on the head.

That Beautiful Accessory. the parasol, now comes with renewed beauty and variety. Myriads of plain silk parasols in different styles, are suitable to the shirt-waist suit, the novelty however is the "suit-case parasol," jointed in the handle, which is certainly a great convenience. Checked parasols with flowered silk borders are in keeping with the present rage for checks, and one style of elegant plain silk parasols have cut jet head or steel head handles, some being finished with a large knob.

The Lingerie Parasols while affording no genuine protection, are very pretty, and range from those of simple muslin edged with embroidery or eyelet work, to the hand-embroidered one, with insertions of real Valenciennes lace. Tucked and embroidered linen swell the category, and hand-painting or colored embroidery on each gore or in a wreath around the parasol, are usually a beautiful blending of delicate tints. Gathered tucks of blue or pink chiffon, a little more than an inch apart, from an entire parasol, remarkable for its softness and beauty.

Illustration. This handsome street costume, the illustration of which is supplied by The Demorest Fashion Co., is of brown shot mohair of a beautiful lustrous quality, with collar and cuffs of cream-white suede cloth, edged with brown mohair braid. The belt is of braid and the girdle of soft messaline tafeta in chameleon effect. The skirt is of the popular nine-gored type, with the side plaits arranged over each seam, and down the center of each gore.

Linen Gowns and Suits far from showing the decline of favor prophesied on account of the longevity of its fashionable reign, linen is to be the craze in gowns, waists, suits, coats and embroideries. The gowns are of irresistible charm in their latest development. Embroidery in heavy hand work, open eyelet work, Irish chochet or linen laces are used freely for their
