

AMUSEMENTS.

TONIGHT.

Edison—Vaudeville.

Artists in New Stunts.

This is change night at the Edison. It means much, as all the turns will virtually be new. The change always brings out big crowds who patronize this popular house.

The DeLacey's will show their cleverness in a brand new act, and Walter H. Orr, challenge bag puncher, will add some new apparatus to his setting. S. B. Lansing will show you he is a very versatile musical artist, and little Doris Greenwald will "soubrette" in an entirely new manner. The illustrated song will be changed also, and the Edison bill promises to sparkle with newness all around. Come early.

The Red Feather.

"Red Feather," which will be seen here shortly is reputedly the most gorgeous comic opera production in America. It is said to be a revelation in its scenic equipment and costuming. The piece was written especially for the starring tour of Grace VanStuddford, who has made quite a meteor-like appearance in the world of music. She is entirely above the rank and file of opera bouffe stars. Her work with the Bostonians and the Metropolitan English Opera Company was a revelation. DeKoven, who wrote the music for "Robin Hood," is also the composer of "Red Feather," and there is no doubt he has given Miss Van Studdford opportunities for brilliant work. "The Garden of Dreams" and "The Merry Cavalier" are said to be exquisite numbers, in which the composer and star are equally successful.

THIS IS THE NAME

AND THIS is the WHEEL

Wherever wheels are ridden and wherever Tribunes are known there you will find the riders loyal to their mounts, not because they're painted blue; not because they think to ape some famous rider, but for the genuine worth of the wheel itself. Worth, measured in durability, in easy running, in freedom from annoying break downs of forks, crowns, cranks or worn-out or cracked bearings.

Come and try a spin on our new models. All types to choose from, any tire, saddle or bar.

Sundries, tires, lamps, bells and everything the rider needs.

Saturday we sold five wheels, not bad for a "half way sort of day."

WRIGHT AND MONTE WILL BE ARRAIGNED

Harry Wright and Charles Monte will be arraigned in Judge Burnett's court tomorrow afternoon on the charge of assisting and abetting Tracy and Merrill, the notorious outlaws, to escape from the penitentiary.

They were indicted by the grand jury, and charged with murder in the first degree, the penalty, if they are found guilty, being hanging.

Wright was brought from Walla Walla this week by Sheriff Culver, and is now in the county jail. Monte is in the penitentiary, where he is serving a sentence of three years for the crime of burglary. Only a portion of his time has expired, but District Attorney McNary proposes to break all precedents in the case, and arraign him at once, and he will be tried under the indictment, notwithstanding the previous conviction and sentence.

Several cases have occurred in former years where criminals serving a short sentence were accused of crimes of greater magnitude, but the practice, in most instances, was to get the felon pardoned by the governor, and rearrest him when he was released.

The courts recently held that a pardon is optional, and the prison authorities could not forcibly eject the pardoned man, if he desired to serve his full term.

The officials at the penitentiary have consented to turn over Monte to Sheriff Culver, and tomorrow he will go to the prison and take charge of the man charged with one of the most heinous crimes ever docketed against an Oregon criminal.

Monte has confessed to the part played by him in the crime, but Wright declares that he will be able to prove that he was in Seattle when the break was made, and for some time prior to that date. The trials will probably prove sensational, and will be of interest throughout the country.

GRAND JURY ADJOURNS FOR ONE WEEK

The Marion county grand jury adjourned this morning until Wednesday afternoon, May 26th, at 1 o'clock. The morning session was very quiet, and was mostly consumed in getting the testimony of witnesses compiled for District Attorney McNary to act upon during the vacation.

It was expected that indictments would be returned at the session of Judge Burnett's court tomorrow, but, from present indications they will not be forthcoming until about next Thursday or Friday.

In the meantime the district attorney will be busy separating the straw from the chaff, and will be prepared to commence active proceedings against the school land ring.

District Attorney McNary went out into the country this afternoon, but will take up the land fraud matters tomorrow, and push them to the final outcome. He is determined to hunt out every particle of evidence necessary to secure the conviction of the principals in the steal.

Letter Carriers.

An effort is being made in several sections of the city's suburbs to secure letter carrier service, and all who are interested should take an action in bringing this about. The government makes certain requirements before it will deliver mail in any community. First among them is passable sidewalks and next the houses should be numbered. When this is all done an application can be made for the extension of the service. Then an inspector will be sent over the territory, and, if he considers it feasible, the mail will be ordered delivered in that section. Everybody who is interested in having this service should provide his property with good sidewalks and have his house properly numbered.

Oregon Hawkeye Club.

Last year, at the state fair, preliminary steps were taken to organize an Iowa Association, with headquarters at Salem. An effort will be made some time in the early spring to hold a grand picnic at Salem of Iowa people, when a good time will be had, old acquaintances renewed and a permanent state organization effected.

Every Iowan should send his name to the secretary, F. N. Derby, Salem, Oregon, as well as the names of as many others, both men and women, who came from Iowa, known to them. All should take hold to make this organization a great success, as there are probably more Iowa people in Oregon than those hailing from any other state.

Write to the secretary or to The Journal office, and when the gathering is announced, don't fail to attend.

Services on Good Friday.

There will be a three-hours' service at St. Paul's Episcopal church on Good Friday. The services will be conducted by the Rev. H. D. Chambers, of Portland. The services will be a commemoration of the death of Jesus Christ on the cross. Seven addresses will be delivered on the seven words from the cross.

All Christian people who desire to remember the death of their Savior are cordially invited to attend these services, which will begin promptly at 12 noon, and close at 3 p. m. Worshipers can come in at any time, and retire at any time, and none feel obliged to remain for the three hours.

Igorrotes Arrive.

Seattle, April 20.—Dr. T. K. Hunt reached Seattle last night with a party of 51 Igorrotes for the Lewis and Clark exposition. One small Negrite boy and three white assistants complete the party. The Igorrotes will be held here for a short time, and may give local exhibitions. Their village on the Trail will be built when the details are settled with the exposition officials.

A canoe, or native dance, lasting for three days, followed the return of Dr. Hunt's party from St. Louis, and when he sought to gather his party for the trip to Portland, over 300 asked to accompany him. Only five persons, including Julio, a native interpreter, are with the Portland as well as the St. Louis parties.

One of the natives contracted a severe cold on the trip across the Pacific, and is in a local hospital. The others are quarantined in a North Seattle house, rented late tonight.

Dr. Hunt, when he left Portland, talked of bringing representatives of five villages. The fact that the Igorrotes took in $202,000 at St. Louis, while other villages barely paid expenses, decided the company in favor of bringing Bontie Igorrotes alone.

The President has almost killed enough game to insure him a second term.

Bank clearings of the United States for April showed an increase of over 50 per cent over last year.

The country waits with bated breath the result of the game of poker between Harriman and that other Wall street magnate as to who shall own the Union Pacific. Any other government in the world would take such an important transcontinental road out of the hands of gamblers, and turn it over to the people.

At the Old Standstill

Some are born great, some have greatness thrust upon them—others advertise. The merchant who sits down and waits for business to come to him will find himself among the left over baggage when the Empire State express of business success pulls out.

Business success needs three things—knowledge, push and good advertising.

Advertising isn't an art; it's just applied common sense. Advertising is naturally a creative force. Since it has been applied to modern commerce there have been created dozens of commodities and branches of trade that did not exist before its advent. The $600,000,000 spent annually in this country for publicity has set many hundreds of millions of dollars running into wholly new channels.

Business is warfare—in a sense, a hard, constant fight to the finish. Advertising is the business man's most modern, most effective, weapon.

Once in awhile we hear some old fellow saying, "I have never advertised and am still doing business at the old stand." He means that he is doing business at the old standstill.—M. L. Corey in Retailer and Advertiser.

The most successful merchants in this town advertise regularly in this paper. The moral is obvious.

Irrigate Large Tract. The Columbia Irrigation Company, which is building a canal from the Walla Walla river to reclaim a large tract of land, has 107 teams at work, and 10 miles of the 24-mile canal is practically completed, says the Spokane Review.

The company last year built a solid concrete dam across the Walla Walla river near Wallula, and this year commenced on the canal. The ditch extends toward the Two Rivers project, and covers practically all the land northwest of Wallula which is not controlled by the Shalake River Irrigation Company.

No effort has been made by the promoters, who are residents of Seattle, to dispose of any of the lands and no move will be made until the water is on the land. With the completion of this project the barren lands of the western part of the county, which have for so long been the picture of desolation, will be converted into fertile farms, and the population of the county materially increased.

Two Additions.

The population of the city jail was increased last night by the addition of two more individuals, giving the names of Ed. Faine and J. McDowell. Both were under the influence of liquor. They were discharged this morning.

Is Football Brutal?

A bitter assault on football recently appeared in one of the magazines, and President Gatch, of the Oregon Agricultural College, after having the article read in chapel, offered a reward of $5 for the best answer to it, written by a student of the college. A number of articles were handed in, and Wednesday the judges awarded the prize to Hallie Wilkins.—Corvallis Gazette.
