ASKING WHERE THE MONEY COMES FROM.

One of the leading opponents of the Rockefeller gift to the American Board of Missions, the present storm center of public discussion, has been the Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden, of Columbus, O., author of "Social Salvation," etc., and the present moderator of the Congregational church in America. Dr. Gladden is reported as saying: "The prudential committee has placed itself on the broad and intelligible position that all gifts must be received, no matter what may be the character of the giver, or by what immoralities or crimes his gains may have been gathered.

It openly proclaims that money to which the giver has no moral right may be rightfully given to a missionary society, if only his motive is to do good with it; and it assumes the power of judging the motive of the giver. It knows and declares to the world that there can be no motive but that of benevolence in the bestowal of this gift.

That is a great testimony from such a high authority. From this decision the appeal will now be taken to the conscience of the Congregational churches and the conscience of Christendom."

In his latest book, entitled, "Where Does the Sky Begin?" Dr. Gladden has chapters on "Knowing How to Be Rich and Who Can Forgive Sins."

Mr. Gladden has certainly raised a new question in ethics and religion.

While in California recently a citizen of one of the college towns said they would not ask any question where the money came from if Rockefeller wanted to give them any of his wealth.

The passage of Scripture that speaks of making unto yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness covers a wide scope of country, in which the shady benevolences of the American millionaires can operate.

THE WILD WEST SAFE.

The storied glory of the wild west is gone. No more is the land of the redskins, scouts and reckless desperadoes that thrilled the hearts of youth.

"Bat" Masterson, the now deputy United States marshal of New York—the wild rip-roarer from the bloody plains who was taken east by President Roosevelt to introduce strenuousness of the real sort in the metropolis—has said these fateful words:

"There never was as much down-right senselessness in the west as you'll find here in New York, and as for gun play you're apt to find more along Broadway than in the main street of the poorest mining camp. That's what I've got down in my little book since I first stacked up against the local game. The wild west is a safer place than Broadway, New York, for a man of peace."

Thus dear old traditions perish. The adventurous youth, with his mind fired by tales of daring, may now be expected to turn from the west to the east, and to dream no longer of wild adventures on mountain and plain, but of those on the greatest street in America.

Adventure has drawn millions of strong hearts to the west and turned a wilderness into a mighty industrial empire.

But times have changed.

"The way to wealth, if you desire it, is as plain as the way to market."

So said wise old Ben Franklin one hundred and fifty years ago. It is as true today as then. He points the way with this homely advice: Be honest. Work hard. Save some.

OUR SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT WILL HELP YOU SAVE. "Remember," said Franklin, "that money is of a prolific, generating nature. Money begets money, and its offspring can beget more, and so on."

We receive deposits of one dollar or more any time, and pay interest at the rate of 3 per cent per annum, compounded semi-annually.

WOODBURN POSTOFFICE ROBBED IN DAYTIME

The Woodburn postoffice was robbed in broad daylight last Thursday, and upwards of $250 secured. The crime was committed while Postmaster Toozee and Deputies Pennebaker and Boynton were present.

About 3 o'clock in the afternoon the registered mail pouch was placed in the regular northbound sack ready for the evening overland train. The sack was hanging in its accustomed place on the wall, and the postoffice employees say that it would be impossible to remove the registered packages from the sack without being observed.

When the train arrived Assistant Baggage Master Kruper carried the sack to the depot. It was locked by him in the presence of the post office force. When he arrived at the mail car the railway agent immediately reported that he could not find the registered pouch, and search was commenced for it at once, but so far without avail.

The registered pouch contained a daily remittance of $240 and several small packages of the probable value of $20. The mystery deepens with time, and it is improbable that it will be solved, as the postoffice people are positive that it was placed in the bag, and was not removed, while the railway agent is equally positive that it was not in the locked bag.

Threaten to Close Road.

The Lucky Boy Mining Company has offered its road to the Blue River mining section to Lane county for 50 per cent of the cost of construction, and the threat is made that unless the county buys the road it will be closed to public travel. The business men of Eugene are frantically petitioning the county court to buy the road, as they fear it will be closed otherwise, and the trade of the Blue River section will be diverted to Brownsville and Albany over the road now being built by Lane county to the Blue River district along the Calapooia.

Every long distance telephone line running north and south of McMinnville was rendered useless by the lightning Wednesday evening, and many of the local lines were put out of commission.

GRIFFIN UNDER ARREST

A warrant was issued yesterday by Police Judge Moores for the arrest of John Griffin, the penitentiary guard, who last Saturday assaulted John Manley with a cane on Commercial street. At the time of the fight Griffin was arrested by Chief of Police Cornelius for assault and battery and fined $10. The present complaint is under the state statutes and charges Griffin with assault with a deadly weapon.

Conductors' Excursion.

A grand excursion will be given by the Order of Railway Conductors, from Lebanon, Silverton, Dallas and Sheridan to Portland on Sunday, May 7th. This excursion promises to be quite an event and will be largely attended. The fare for the round trip, including admission to the Lewis and Clark exposition grounds and Sacred concert in the Festival hall, will be $1.50. The trains will stop at all stations between the above named towns and every comfort will be provided for the excursionists to make their trip pleasant.

This excursion will give hundreds of people the opportunity to view the Lewis and Clark exposition grounds, and a chance to visit their Portland friends and have a good time, all for a very small sum of money. The conductors have made arrangements for the visitors to see all parts of the grounds and buildings at the fair. Tickets are for sale by all station agents and conductors on excursion trains. The train will leave Salem at 8:30 a. m. and will reach Portland at 10:30, leaving that place at 5:30 in the evening.

New Cure for Cancer.

All surface cancers are now known to be curable by Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Jas. Walters, of Duffield, Va., writes: "I had a cancer on my lip for years, that seemed incurable, until Bucklen's Arnica Salve healed it, and now it is perfectly well." Guaranteed cure for cuts and burns. 25c at J. C. Perry's drug store.

A Good Stock Country.

People who have formed the opinion that stock cannot be wintered successfully out of doors in Oregon, must disabuse their minds upon this subject after close investigation of facts.

At Coolidge has just sold 14 head of cattle three and four years old, and which have not been fed hay or grain since they were yearlings. When put upon the market they averaged 1200 pounds each. Mr. Coolidge has been successful in this branch of his farm work each year, and has never fed his stock hay or grain, except one winter—that of 1891-2, when Oregon was visited with a severe snow storm.

A country where stock can be fitted for the market on grass alone during the winter season is certainly not a bad place to try for a livelihood.—Silverton Appeal.

FRUIT GROWERS ACTIVE

A Salem special says: All present indications are that the Willamette valley will have a bumper prune crop this fall and the growers are encouraged to believe that at least fair prices will prevail. In a few lowland orchards the blossoms were so badly injured by the frosts or cold rains that little if any fruit is expected, but reports from most districts show the outlook to be good.

The dispatches from California announcing that the yield of prunes in that state will be but one-fourth to one-half of a normal crop, leads growers in Oregon to expect better prices than were realized last year. Dispatches from the Middle West a few days ago told of extensive damage to the fruit crop, and this is also an indication that there will be a better market for prunes.

Last season there was a large crop of all kinds of fruit in the Eastern states, and the people of that section, being well supplied with fruit at home, bought prunes only at reduced prices. Nevertheless, the supply has been pretty well cleaned up, and it is expected that there will be very little carry-over stock. Since the 1905 fruit crop east of the Rockies will be short and prices therefor correspondingly higher, it is anticipated that there will be more demand for prunes.

At the St. Louis Exposition last summer a demonstration in prune-cooking was conducted and the visitors at the Oregon exhibit were shown what a palatable fruit the Oregon prune is when properly cooked. In that way the merits of the Oregon prunes were well advertised and results were later shown by inquiries for prunes of the kind served in the Oregon exhibit.

It is certain that heavier orders will be received this year for Oregon prunes because of the favorable impression the fruit made at St. Louis last summer. It may be said that although there are still on hand small quantities of Petite prunes, the Italian, or, as they are now coming to be known, the Oregon prunes, are all sold.

At the Lewis and Clark Fair this summer a demonstration will be conducted with prunes furnished by the Willamette Valley Prune Association, and, if possible, no Eastern visitor will be permitted to go home without first learning the merits of Oregon prunes and how to cook them. In this way a permanent market is being built for the Oregon prune in order that from year to year there may be a steady demand for fruit that is neatly packed under an Oregon brand.

The local telephone system at Eugene is being reconstructed. The "common battery" system will be put in.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS. For restoring the stomach to its normal condition or to overcome that tired feeling so prevalent in the Spring the Bitters should be your first choice. It never fails in cases of Spring Fever, General Debility, Impure Blood, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Costiveness or Malarial Fever.

WHY THEY ARE HAPPY TWO NOTABLE RECOVERIES FROM EXTREME DEBILITY

Husband's Strength Had Been Waning for Three Years, Wife a Sufferer from Female Weakness.

"My strength had dwindled so that I couldn't apply myself to my business with any snap but was tired and listless all the time," said Mr. Goldstein.

"I went to bed completely used up by my day's work, and when I got up in the morning I didn't feel rested a bit. I had awful headaches too, and my kidneys got out of order and caused me to have severe pains in the back. At one time I became so feeble that I could not stir from my bed for three weeks."

Mr. Goldstein is a young man and had then but recently established a home of his own. His anxieties were increased by the fact that his wife was far from being robust. Speaking of her own state of health during this trying period, Mrs. Goldstein says:

"For two years I had been all most of the time. Sometimes I was confined to bed for weeks in succession. I had headaches, kidney trouble, pain about the heart and many more uncomfortable symptoms connected with that weakness to which my sex is peculiarly subject."

Trouble had invaded this household and settled in it in just the years that ought to be the very happiest. Physicians could not tell them how to get rid of it.

"A trip was prescribed for my health," said Mr. Goldstein. "It promised well at first, but when I returned I found myself just as badly off as before, and I was utterly discouraged. Then an advertisement and the urgency of some friends led me to try a blood and nerve remedy, which was said to be a wonderfully successful. I could hardly believe it at first, but within a month there were unmistakable signs of improvement which led me to continue the treatment until I became completely well. Through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I have now as good health as I ever had in my life."

This is not all, for Mrs. Goldstein adds: "The wonderful effect that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had in the case of my husband led me to try them and they helped me even more quickly than they did him. One box made me decidedly better and a few more cured me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make pure rich blood and when there is general weakness and disorder that is what the system needs. The peculiar organism of women calls for a specially large supply of good blood, and obstinate cases of prostration and complicated troubles owe their existence to nothing but scanty or vitiated blood. In such cases it is always best to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. and Mrs. H. Goldstein live at 38 Gove street, East Boston, Mass. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by druggists everywhere.

Colored Editor Thrashed.

Editor A. D. Griffin, of the Portland New Age, entered the Pullman saloon on Fifth street last night and asked for a drink of whisky. It is against the rules of the Pullman saloon to sell drinks to colored men, and the bartender refused to take Griffin's money. Griffin insisted that the man treat him the same as his white brethren, and argued the matter for fully half an hour.

Finally the bartender consented and gave Griffin a drink of whisky, at the same time taking the ten-dollar bill which the negro had been flourishing in the air when declaring his rights. The bartender rang up $10 on the cash register and refused to give the negro any change. A free-for-all between the negro, the bartender and the proprietor ensued. The white men were too much for Griffin, who soon found himself sprawling outside the door in the sidewalk, minus his $10. It is said he has already engaged an attorney and will bring suit for the recovery of his money.—Oregonian.

COMMERCIAL CLUB APPOINTS DELEGATES

The Greater Salem Commercial Club met last evening in the city hall with a goodly number of the prominent business men of this city present.

After the meeting had been called to order by the president a communication was read from the Idaho State Press Association in regard to the proposed excursion of that body through the valley next June. The matter of providing proper entertainment for the visitors during their stay in the city was referred to the Salem Press Club.

The official call for the Oregon Development League Convention to be held in Portland on April 26th and 27th was read. The following delegates were appointed by President Hofer:
