'VARSITY WINS FROM PACIFIC

Yesterday's Meet Resulted in a Victory for Willamette 71 1-2 to 45 1-2

Willamette University and Pacific College were up against one another yesterday afternoon in an athletic contest. The battle was a royal one, the weather being perfect and conditions favorable for a splendid meet. Willamette won by a good margin, the final score being in its favor by 71½ to 45½ points. There was no wrangling, every event being settled decisively, and leaving no chance for contention or hard feelings. There was, indeed, in the high hurdles a difference of opinion between the judges, two giving the Willamette man first place, the other placing him as second.

The time was good in the track events, but didn't crowd the record at any time. It is claimed the track is very slow, and that the time is not a fair criterion of the men's ability. Pacific had the better of it in the dashes and distances, winning five firsts to Willamette's three. Pemberton, the nimble-footed, winning the honors. In the field events the work was not the best, though some of it was fair. Lounsberry, of the Willamettes, carried off the honors of the day for his team, his work being second only to that of Pemberton. It was in a generous spirit of rivalry that the contests were held, and in this respect the meet was up to the record. In response to urgings by the crowd, Roy Heater, Pacific's trainer, and a splendid athlete, gave an exhibition of pole vaulting, clearing 11 feet with apparent ease. The low hurdle event was won by Pemberton over Rader and Coulson, and was the fastest event of the meet. The high hurdle contest was also a warm one, and none of the four contestants cleared all of their fences. Taken all in all, it was a very successful meet, one calculated to increase the good will between the college members.

STATE DEVELOP MEETING

Secretary Walter Lyon, of the Willamette Valley Development League, and President G. A. Hurley, of the Independence Development League, were in Salem Tuesday to arrange a program for the Development League Convention, to be held there June 12th and 13th. The convention is to meet Monday afternoon, and have several sessions Tuesday, and includes a clam-bake, and a race meeting for side diversions. Independence is a live town, and there will be a big gathering with free expressions of opinions from prominent men for the good of Oregon. There will be a good roads section with prominent speakers, and the bankers of the Willamette valley will try to get together and form an organization, something that they have never succeeded in doing before. The local committee will give out the program in a few days.

PIONEER IN A NEW REFORM

Papa Got Out An Injunction and They Could Not Move

Atchison Globe: American women run the house. They decide when the house needs papering, and new furniture, and who shall come in, but Abram L. Stone, a real estate dealer in Chicago, is a pioneer in a new reform: He will run his own house. He has a wife and a princess daughter eighteen years old. They decided their house was in an unfashionable part of town and that it was inconvenient. So they rented a modern flat in a nice part of town. They told "papa" they were going to move, and he said he wouldn't stand for it; that the house they were in suited him. They coaxed him by telling him that his brother lived in the flat underneath the one they had rented, and would be "company" for him. Abram stood firm. The mother and daughter made up their minds to move anyway, and thought "papa" would get over the tantrum. But "papa" got out an injunction to have them restrained from moving the household goods and when the moving vans came they ran into the majesty of their old home, 3149 Wabash avenue. In the future, when the American men are free and are heads of their own houses, it is likely that a monument will be erected at 3149 Wabash avenue, Chicago, in memory of Abram L. Stone.

High School vs. Willamette.

The high school boys crossed bats with Willamettes yesterday, and as a result, the high school scalp, so to speak, hangs high on Willamette's lodge pole. The boys did not play anything like their usual game, in fact put up about as poor a game of ball as one would want to see. On the other hand Willamette played universally well, Jerman pitching a practically flawless game. The score was Willamette 13, High School 4.

MISS GENEVIVE MAY. CATARRH OF STOMACH CURED BY PE-RU-NA.

Miss Genevive May, 1317 S. Meridian St., Indianapolis, Ind., Member Second High School Alumni Ass'n, writes: "Peruna is the finest regulator of a disordered stomach I have ever found. It certainly deserves high praise, for it is skilfully prepared. I was in a terrible condition from a neglected case of catarrh of the stomach. My food had long ceased to be of any good and only distressed me after eating. I was nauseated, had heartburn and headaches, and felt run down completely. But in two weeks after I took Peruna I was a changed person. A few bottles of the medicine made a great change, and in three months my stomach was cleared of catarrh, and my entire system in a better condition."—Genevive May. Miss Bess Schafer, one of the nurses at the Sanitorium, returned Monday from a short visit with Misses Pauline and Harriett Sears, students of the Monmouth Normal School. Mr. and Mrs. George Hoeye and little son, Emerson, of Oregon City, stopped off in this city from Eugene Monday evening, and spent Decoration day, returning home last evening. Misses Nellie and Lou Hostettler daughters of E. Hostettler, postmaster of The Dalles, are guests at the home of their grandparents, Mrs. and Mrs. H. H. Spaulding, on the Garden road. W. A. Liston returned yesterday, after a three weeks' trip to Klamath county, where he went to settle a couple of losses for an insurance company. He reports that section in the most prosperous condition he ever saw it. Rev. Clark Bower and wife, of Albany, have returned to their home, after spending a few days here, visiting friends and attending the Martin-McVay meetings in the Christian pavilion. Rev. Bower and Prof. McVay are old school friends. The editor of The Journal acknowledges invitations to the ceremonies attending the opening of the state portage road, at The Dalles, June 3d, and the commencement exercises of the State University at Eugene, June 11th to 14th, inclusive. M. L. Murphy, one of the original Tonopah, Nevada, miners, who, two years ago, was using a pick and shovel, ornamented the standard sleeper south-bound today. He shook hands with The Journal scribe, who used to trot with him in Nevada, and, as he owns dividend-paying stocks galore, he had an air of satisfaction about him good to see.

JOURNAL OPEN FORUM

Correspondents need not sign names to communication in good faith, and not personal, and of local interest. Editor Daily Capital Journal: Will you kindly explain how it is that three of the best teachers in the Lincoln school were asked to resign, and so reason given? They are ladies who were very acceptable, and have taught our children for several years. We were surprised to learn that they had been dropped. There are no better teachers of children in the city than Misses Myers, Smith and Bellinger, and we would like some one to explain. MOTHER. (The Journal knows nothing of the reasons for making so many changes in the teaching force. For a number of years the principle has been followed of retaining competent teachers, who were giving satisfaction, and for a number of years very few changes were made. The manifestation of bossism in public matters must have places for its followers, and to make places some one must be asked to step out. Whether this explains the many removals and changes that neither parents, teachers nor children asked for is not certain. It was supposed that, under the law, no teacher could be asked to resign without assigning some reason, and giving an opportunity for hearing. But when political managers have to be satisfied, the fact that a teacher is doing the best or the worst work cuts no figure. The people must elect men who will not commit such outrages or make merchandise of public interests.)—Ed. J.

MCCORMICK MOWERS

It will soon be "Hay Day." The wise farmers are buying their cutting machinery now. The McCormick mower appeals to the farmer who carefully weighs the merits of the machine, irrespective of friendship, reputation or anything of that sort. It appeals also to the man who appreciates reputation, for there's no reputation that compares with that of the McCormick. Here are a few points: Extra heavy frame, which furnishes power to drive the knife that never clogs. Extra wide frame, that eliminates side draft. Extra high wheel that rolls easily. Extra long pitman, that reduces friction. Extra large-faced gears, that do not cut and wear. Hitch on the main shoe, drawing directly on cutter bar. Hitch under the tongue entirely removing neck weights. Main shoe outside the wheel, thus giving full swath. Compare these features with any mower on the market, and judge for yourself. Come in and look at the mower. You will agree that the above points are well taken.

McCormick Self Dump Rakes

We want you to notice the extra heavy angle steel frame, the staggered oval spokes, with channeled rim, the FLANGE TURNED IN, and the removable box in hub, permitting a change to be effected if the driver carelessly lets box cut out.

Here's the Sharples Tubular Cream Separator

If every farmer would be sufficiently thoughtful of the comfort and convenience of his wife or daughters, he would buy nothing else but a Sharples Separator. See that low supply can. Isn't it infinitely more convenient and sensible than having it away up in the air when it requires a ladder or box to reach it. See that gear case, every gear enclosed and running in oil all the time. No worry about clogging oilcups, and no bother, as well as perfect safety. And the bowl. Just a long, light, hollow bowl, with only one inside part, as compared with from five to thirty in other sorts. Come and see the machine or send for circulars whether you own a machine or not. Send for book, "Business Dairying." It will pay you to read it. Has many good points that you've overlooked.

Here's that side-delivery buncher, windrower and buncher. It can be attached to the cutter bar of any mower, and with it the shortest clover can be saved, every straw being delivered at the rear of the mower in a long windrow or in bunches, thus avoiding the tramping by the team, the gathering of trash as in raking, and permitting the perfect curing of the hay by free circulation of air. Drop us a line for further information. Keep in mind our stock of Stud-baker farm wagons and buggies, our splendid assortment of bike wagons and runabouts of all sorts, our hacks, delivery wagons, surreys, etc. We have a big lot of space on our lower floor devoted to vehicles, besides our entire upper floor. Visitors always welcomed. Fine assortment of two-horse cultivators now on hand in tongueless, tongue and riding sorts.

HERE'S A SCRAP OF KEYSTONE FENCING

No. 12 wire throughout. Top and bottom wires double and twisted; breaking strain of each cable greater than any fencing on the market by actual test. Stays run continuously, being twisted into the main wires, and thus forming an unyielding, non-shipping, elastic fence, that retains its shape under all conditions. Drop us a line for circulars and names of many recent purchasers, where you may see the fence already up.

X-RAYS

Men do not like house cleaning, but never realize that it is their dirt that makes it necessary. Girls who can make good butter are more sought after by men than those that play the piano. Sunday afternoons a country boy without a girl is as lonesome as a cork screw at a Sunday school picnic.
