AMUSEMENTS.

TONIGHT.
Edison—Vaudeville.
ANOTHER GOOD BILL.
The Edison Offering One to Please and Delight All.

As a special feature last night Manager Byrd presented a beautiful film on the moving picture machine, entitled, "The Eruption of Mt. Pelee," the film being one of the very few colored ones in the market today, and Salem theater goers are fortunate to be able to see this film at 10 cents a piece. Ward and Simonds have a sketch entitled, "A Curious Cure," which is presented in a capital manner. Mr. Simonds is a good comedian, a sort of Irish Wm. H. Crane, and his lady partner gives him capital support. Adams Bros. have a neat talking and acrobatic dancing specialty, and their efforts to entertain were appreciated by the large audience present at each performance. Miss Inez Scott has an act that is sensational, very interesting, and one that gives her an opportunity to display some beautiful wardrobes. She is an aerial skirt dancer and club swinger and delighted the crowds. Helen Vance is singing a sweet illustrated song, and was given a hearty welcome after her illness. New faces and new acts Thursday.

ANNUAL DRAMATIC RECITAL.

The Recital to Be Given at the Grand June 3d, Will Be the Best Ever Given by Amateurs in Salem.

The College of Oratory is noted for the excellent entertainments it gives. It has played to crowded houses at every recital given this year. Monday night the chapel was crowded to overflowing, and hundreds were turned away Saturday evening, June 3d, it will produce three one-act plays, "Drifted Apart," a pathetic society drama; "Christmas Chimes," a little comedy, and "Thirty Minutes for Refreshments," a laughable farce. Miss Gertrude Johnson and Mr. Edgar Averill will be seen in two of these, and they will be assisted by members of the college, who will do credit to the institution they represent. There will be heart scenes that will cause tears to flow, and perplexing situations that will make your sides ache with laughter.

Taken all in all, the management is not afraid to say that it will be one of the best entertainments ever given by the college, and those who are fortunate enough to attend will get their money's worth. Seats will be on sale at the box office.

Only One in Court.
There was only one victim of misplaced confidence and badly located booze facing the city recorder this morning. The usual brief lecture of so many days or so many dollars, was handed down by the recorder, and, while the dipsomaniac would undoubtedly have preferred the dollars, he took the days.

KILLS ONE PERSON IN FOUR

Tuberculosis may, and does, invade every portion of the body, says a writer in Leslie's Monthly for June, but it has a selective affinity for the lungs; therefore, pulmonary tuberculosis, or, in common parlance, consumption, most appropriately termed the Great White Plague.
It is the most prevalent disease in the world, and the most terrible, since hope of recovery is so rarely confirmed that it is held to be incurable. Were it as contagious as it is deadly, the world would soon be depopulated; as it is, excluding death by accident, tuberculosis kills a quarter of us all. Think of that perilous chance,—one out of every four to be sacrificed to this dread disease, and yet, it can be made "to disappear from the world."
"Few reach maturity," says Osler, "and none reach old age without having had a focus of this disease some time. The germ is ubiquitous, and none escapes it. But the resisting power of the human body is very great, hence all are not finally vanquished by this germ." Suppose our power of resistance happens to be below par at the time the germ may have found a resting place in his favorite haunt,—the apex of the right lung, then,—poof! we write him, and begin our exit.
The present is marked by a crusade against tuberculosis which amounts almost to a mania,—ever the pendulum of public opinion, so slow in swinging, swings too far. The public is just now awakening to its need, yet they have been invited to assist in arresting the spread of this disease ever since the days of Louis, who wanted the various countries of Europe to form a crusade against it.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Oratory Recital.
The graduating recital of the class of 1905, College of Oratory, Willamette University, Monday evening was one of the delightful college events this season. The chapel was filled with a large number of friends, and many were turned away.
The stage was elaborately decorated, the background being a solid mass of green, while arches of ivy and clumps of ferns made it look like a woodland bower.
The first number on the program was an Emerson gesture drill, led by Miss Johnson, and was very interesting. The young ladies were gowned in graceful Grecian robes, and their work was good.
Edgar Averill gave two readings, which was one of the features of the evening. The first was "Cutting from 'The Virginian,'" and Mr. Averill brought out the situations of the piece in a manner which was much enjoyed. He also gave the laughable monologue, "Pro and Con," which shows Mr. Averill at his best. The audience laughed, and laughed again.
Miss Gertrude Johnson, the other graduate, was also at her best Monday evening. The monologue "The Musicale," was most laughable, and won great applause from the audience. She showed her wonderful versatility in her reading "As the Moon Arose," which was a deeper selection than her first. She brought out the pathos and feeling to her best advantage.
Miss Johnson and Mr. Averill also gave a scene from "Catiline," by Croley, and that famous scene showed the training and study which these two students have put in their work.
The musical part of the program was also very interesting. Miss Nina Johnson sang "A Gypsy Maiden I" in her usual charming manner, and Miss Nina Bushnell gave a piano solo which was much enjoyed.
The closing number was given by 12 young ladies, attired in Greek costumes, with powdered hair. They gave "A Dream of Ancient Greece," or a series of Greek tableaux, which were very fine. Mrs. Nellie Varley acted as accompanist.

What two words mean most to your grocer? and what do they mean?
Schilling's Best; and they mean a good deal of business without any trouble.

A Wise Dog.
There is a dog on High street that knows what he is doing, and can get the best results from a hedge fence. The dog is troubled with fleas, and he will start in at one end of the hedge and rub one side along the whole length of the hedge, and then turn around and go back, rubbing the other side. This drives the fleas up onto his back, and then he goes out into the road and rolls on his back.

Played a Concert.
The reform school band played a short concert in front of the G. A. R. headquarters yesterday afternoon after their return from the cemetery. The boys played exceedingly well, and Prof. Beard is deserving of credit for the excellent condition he has put the band in.

Beautiful Show Window.
In one of Meyers & Sons' show windows there was displayed a handsome Memorial day decoration, representing the blue and the gray shaking hands. The window dresser who conceived the design and carried it out is an artist in his line.

Stop to Look.
In one of the show windows at the Brewer Drug Co's store there is a tank filled with gold fish, which attracts the attention of the passerby, who always stop to look at the handsome fish.

Handsomely Decorated.
Stockton & Co's store was handsomely and appropriately decorated yesterday with the national colors, and attracted much attention.

ALARMING WARNING

Bacteriologists Say That the Bubonic Plague Is Again to Appear as a Pestilence

The alarming warning comes from the world's most famous bacteriologist that the bubonic plague, the "black death" of the fourteenth century, which swept away half of the earth's population, is again to appear as a fiercely raging universal pestilence. From its breeding places in India, according to these scientists the disease has established centers of contagion in almost every country and clime, and it will be ready to decimate the population when certain atmospheric conditions shall be favorable. It has been so many years since the bubonic plague has made any considerable headway outside of the Asia death-holes that we are in the habit of dismissing the possibility of a recurrence of the dread destroyer as an unpleasant subject of discussion and one founded upon probably greatly exaggerated tradition. We have learned to lean with supreme confidence upon our scientists, believing that the advancement in learning during the last decade gives practical assurance that epidemics shall never again become pandemic. The last general epidemic of the plague was in 1879. Last year 2,000,000 persons in India, and 1,500,000 in China perished from it. During the past seventeen years the plague has claimed 40,000,000 victims in Europe alone, and city after city was depopulated and whole districts laid waste before the pestilence. The bacteriologists say that there were never more favorable opportunities than now for the spread of the disease. It has recently appeared on this hemisphere in Mexico, Brazil, Chile, Peru, California and New York. Besides this it has established itself in the Philippines, Australia, South Africa, France, London, Glasgow, Russia
