Independence the Scene of a Grand Con- vention

Regular Autocar Service Has Been Established Into Polk County

There was a large attendance today at the Independence development convention, and the programs extending over Tuesday, include many of the brightest men in Western Oregon, animated by the single impulse to work for the development of this state.

Foremost topics are opening the Oregon City locks, and making them free by means of government ownership, and construction of branch lines of steam and electric railroads.

The convention will be called to order at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and this evening there will be a social reception and clambake. Tuesday forenoon there will be another big program, and the afternoon will be given up to a race meeting. There are delegates in attendance from as far south as Grants Pass and north to Portland.

Three trips a day will be made by the new autocar during the convention, the car carrying ten to fifteen persons, and making the trip in an hour.

Uncle Bill's Bull Race.

Uncle Bill Anderson has just had word from the managers of the Lewis and Clark fair in regard to his proposition to manage one of the old-time bull races for them. They say they will not allow it to take place on the Trail, and, as there is no other place, Uncle Bill may be forced to go to Irvington Park. But he says the race will be run, and it will be called the Lewis and Clark Fair stakes bull race. In an early day, before there were any horses in the country, bull races were quite fashionable, and were a set-off for the bull fights held in California and Mexico. Bill has one bull that can go pretty close to three minutes.

Anna Valentine, the Italian murderess of Hackensack, N. J., whose death on the gallows has been repeatedly deferred by court action. Although apparently friendless and totally without means, it is evident that strong influences have been employed in the unfortunate woman's behalf. It is said that the latest effort to save the woman's life came from Queen Helena, of Italy, whose sympathies were enlisted, and who directed the Italian ambassador at Washington to plead with Governor Stokes, of New Jersey, to grant even a brief respite, in order that an appeal might be taken to the United States courts.

SILVERTON ENDEAVOR PICNIC

Addresses Were Delivered by Several Speakers

The Christian church Endeavor societies of Silverton held a grove picnic Saturday, at which several hundred people assembled. The day was perfect and the exercises very interesting. Rev. Alvin Eason of Portland, Rev. Cartwright, of Silverton, and Dr. Withycombe of Corvallis were the speakers. Rev. Eason spoke of Christian endeavor problems and ideals. He discussed the demand for pleasures and the so-called good time. The pleasures of life and the determination to have a good time did not always produce the greatest good. In much of this craving for pleasure there was nothing real and substantial. The flowers of happiness that could be plucked along the way were all right, but that was not an absorbing or profitable occupation to engage in constantly. He discussed many of the fashionable follies of men and women. If pleasures yielded injury and nothing good they should be cut out. No one ever accomplished much running after a good time all the time. There must be a serious and definite purpose in any successful life.

After a fine lunch served by the ladies the afternoon program was carried out. Dr. Withycombe delivered an address on education of the young, which was very well received. He was preceded by vocal music and both the choir and the male quartet were among the best we ever heard. The beautiful grove where the exercises were held will one day become a city park.

The exercises were presided over by Prof. Washburn, principal of the Silverton public schools. The recitations and songs by the children were all well rendered.

A journal representative drove over to Silverton and must say he never saw the country looking as well as it does this year. Silverton is a live and growing city, spreading out in all directions, and many new houses going up. Mayor Adams is erecting a block of business houses, around an opera house, that will be dedicated with appropriate ceremony. There is a railroad surveyed off to the east toward Mount Hood for 40 miles through a rich and undeveloped country and it may be built in a hundred years from now if the Harriman-Hill agreement not to build any lines in Oregon holds good. The passenger train service stops at Silverton, travel the rest of the way on the Springfield branch being by a coach hitched to a freight train. A fine new bank building is being erected and many residences are going up. Our old friend Allen of the Gold Hill News has bought into the Silvertonian, and his sharp pointed pen and breezy Dakota style of journalism is making that paper brighter than ever. With first class schools and growing churches there is a great future for Silverton. It is bound to be one of the best towns in the state, and some day it will have an electric line to Salem and five thousand population.

USED SHIRT FOR BANK.

Man Sent Shirt Containing $460 in Bills to Laundry.

Eugene Guard: H. L. Graves, a stranger stopping at the Encore hotel, recently sewed $460 in $10 bills in an undershirt. Forgetting for the time being his treasure, yesterday he sent the shirt containing the bills, together with a lot of other clothing, to the Eugene steam laundry. This morning he happened to remember that his money was sewed up in the shirt and went to the laundry and coolly and nonchalantly inquired if the money had been found. The package had not yet been opened. Graves picked out a shirt in the bundle, ripped open a seam and displayed before the wondering gaze of the laundry employees 46 crisp $10 bills neatly sewed beneath the lining of the garment. When asked if he was not excited over his temporary loss the man replied that he was not in the least, trusting to the honesty of the employees of the laundry to recover the money.

CELEBRATE ANCIENT PAGEANT

Seven Hundred People and Three Separate Choirs Will Participate

London, June 12.—A celebration began today in the little Dorsetshire town of Sherborne which conveys a sense of antiquity very difficult for an American who knows no country but his own to realize. The celebration takes the form of a pageant to mark, not the town's centennial or even bicentennial, but the 1200 anniversary of its foundation, and the means taken to mark the event bring into sharp relief the contrast between the present and the days when Sherborne first became famous as a bishopric, as the seat of the school where King Alfred was taught his letters, or, to come down to comparatively recent times, when it was the residence of Sir Walter Raleigh.

The pageants, which are to continue until Thursday, are being held in the interior of the ruined castle founded by Roger of Caen. Enriched by a deep moat is a greensward measuring some 100 by 150 yards, two separate blocks of ruins serving admirably the functions of a background for the stage.

The festival is not a mere procession or series of tableaux, but a genuine folkplay, representing in action, with dialogue, music, processions, morris and maypole dances, and choruses, episodes out of the varied history of Sherborne from the coming of Saint Alhelm in 705 to the reign of Elizabeth. Among the episodes to be represented are the founding of the town and school, a battle with the Danes, the quarrels between the townspeople and the abbey and the intervention of Robin Hood and his merry men, the arrival of Sir Walter Raleigh, etc., and a final picture is to show the American descendant of the ancient town.

Sixty performers have speaking parts, and with the three separate choirs there will be altogether 700 people in the arena at one time, many of them mounted on gorgeously caparisoned steeds.

BARNEY BENARD

In "The Financier"—The Great Hebrew Comedy Success—Coming

Mr. Barney Bernard and his excellent company will be seen at the Grand Opera House on next Thursday evening, June 15th. It is needless for us to tell of Mr. Bernard's reputation as a comedian, for his name is a household word from coast to coast, and he stands today at the head of his class on the American stage. "The Financier" is the name of the production in which Mr. Bernard is starring this season. It is a clever three-act high-class comedy, from the prolific pen of that great American playwright, Harry Cottrell, written especially for Mr. Bernard, and giving him ample scope for his well-known talents. As may be imagined Mr. Bernard is "the show." He is an actor of genuine ability, and has recognized that all comedy work worthy of the name is played upon seriousness. His portrayal of the stage Jew is not a caricature, but the sketch of a careful character student; not once during the entire progress of the play does he resort to any of the cheap, flashy tricks used by alleged "Hebrew comedians." There are no fanciful motions of his hands, no feigned nasal intonations of the voice, no poor little efforts of any sort pulled in for their own sake. There are several scenes of pathos, and in all his work the actor shows a vast improvement in the last five years. Seats for this production will be on sale at the box office on next Thursday at 9 o'clock.

SEVERAL RECORDS BROKEN

At the Big State Field Meet Held Here Saturday Afternoon

The intercollegiate field and track meet took place at the state fair grounds Saturday afternoon. The University of Oregon, at Eugene, Oregon, Agricultural College, of Corvallis; Pacific University, of Forest Grove, and Willamette University, of this city, participated. It was the most interesting event ever held in the state, and though the O. A. C. won easily the events were hotly contested, and several records made.

Smithson, of O. A. C., made the most points, 19; Hug, of U. of O., coming second. Smithson's time in both the farlong and high hurdles was the record for the association. Gates, of Pacific, set the pace in the mile, and cut it out to swift for any of the others to crowd him, making the run in 4:41.4-5, and cutting 4:25 seconds off the record, made by Wilkins in 1900.

Moore, of U. O., won the low hurdles in 25.25 seconds, making a new record. Smithson knocked a second off the record in the farlong, and Williams, of O. A. C., shaved the record for the quarter 14.5 seconds, making it in 49.1-5. Peterson, of Pacific broke the record in the broad jump, clearing 21 feet, 2 1/4 inches. Woodcock, of O. A. C., won the pole vault, and then raised the association record three-fourths of an inch, putting it up to 10 feet, 7 1/4 inches.

INDIGESTION'S RECORD

"The best remedy I can prescribe for your indigestion, malaise, is Green's August Flower. I know of several other physicians who prescribe it regularly."

Indigestion is making an awful record as a cause of sudden death. It is beating heart-failure in its ghastly harvest. You read in the papers daily of apparently healthy and even robust men being suddenly attacked with acute indigestion after enjoying a hearty meal, and of their dying in many cases before a physician could be called in.

This should be a warning to you who suffer with regular or periodical attacks of indigestion. If these unfortunate victims of acute indigestion had taken a small dose of Green's August Flower before or after their meals they would not have fallen a prey to such sudden seizures.

August Flower prevents indigestion by creating good digestion. It also regulates the liver, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system in a natural way.

YOUTHFUL BURGLAR

Pilfering From Stoltz's Cider Works He Runs Against Marked Coins

Salem absolutely refuses to be outdone by Portland, or any other place. The metropolis down by the Lewis and Clark exposition has been putting on airs over the celebrities in the land fraud cases—Stephen A. Douglas Potter, Horace Greeley McKinley and our own Daniel Webster Tarpley, but this morning the jail record this morning contains the illustrious name of Roswell P. Flower, who is charged with burglary. For some time the Stolz cider factory has been suffering from petty pilfering, money being taken at night from a roller top desk, in which the afternoon's receipts were left, and the employees also missing many small articles. The matter was turned over to Sheriff Colver, who set a watch up on the place.

Last night the employees watched until 11 o'clock, at which time the sheriff's men were to relieve them. Shortly before the change was made Flowers turned the trick, but when the watchers undertook to arrest him, he got away. The sheriff soon got on his track and followed him over into Polk county, catching him about eight miles from the city. At the sheriff's suggestion, Mr. Stolz had put some marked coins in the desk, and these were found on the prisoner, who, seeing the game was up, confessed.

The prisoner is a pleasant looking young fellow, probably 20 years of age.
