

CRIPPLED NINE AND SUICIDED

Maniac Fires From Windows of San Francisco Hotel at the Passing Crowd

San Francisco, June 21.—A man supposed to have been Thomas Lobb, armed with a rifle, shotgun and pistol, barricaded himself in his room of the fifth floor of the United States hotel at 7:30 this morning, and, firing from the window, shot eight passersby and one policeman, and then putting the revolver into his own mouth blew off his head.

The wounded are: C. T. Chevallier, shot in the left eye; Wong Quong, shot in left hand; Police Officer Patrick Kimsa, shot in left cheek; W. B. Coffman, in right cheek, nose and forehead; Emil Robert, in left knee; Vincent Bonaventura, in ear and jaw; W. Jones, in right cheek; George H. Dlangton, cheek and left arm, and Jox. Larabee, in lip, cheek, eye and shoulder.

The would-be murderer and suicide, who is unknown to the hotel attaches, registered at the hotel last night as Thomas Lobb, but gave no address. He appeared entirely rational when shown his room, and was quiet during the night. He arose at a time when the street was filled with persons on their way to work. Without warning, he started firing from the window. Immediately the police were notified, and 30 officers were hurried to the scene.

The street was cleared of pedestrians, and a number of officers entered the hotel, rushing up to the man's room. They hammered on the door and the maniac fired at them with a shotgun, several shots striking one officer.

Returning to the window the madman fired several shots more and then hurled a heavy chair to the street, but it was caught by the telegraph wires.

The officers continued to batter the door, against which Lobb had placed the bed, and had succeeded in breaking the lock, and were in a fair way of getting the bed out of the way when Lobb, perceiving another officer rapidly approaching his room on the fire escape, returned to the center of the room, placed his pistol in his mouth, and blew off the top of his head. When the officer on the fire escape entered the room the man was dead.

Scattered about the room were the fragments of a number of fifty-dollar bills. In the dead man's waist band was a butcher knife with a seven-inch blade, and in a pocket was the address of the British consul. Also a working card of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, issued by the San Diego union. He was a young man, attired in clothing of a cheap make.

POLICE AGAINST BURGLARS

Chicago Force Capture Part of Gang but One Is Killed

Chicago, June 21.—In a revolver battle following the discovery by the police early this morning of five burglars in a butcher shop in the stock yards district, Officer McGeoghan was shot in the head and will probably die. Two of the robbers, John Mahoney and James O'Hearn were captured. Mahoney was shot in the thigh. The three escaping robbers left a trail of blood.

GIVE HIM ALPHABET

Worcester, Mass., June 21.—President Roosevelt arrived at 9:25. A committee of citizens headed by Lieutenant-Governor Gild and Mayor Blodgett, boarded the car and welcomed the executive to the state and city. The city is gaily decorated in honor of the President's visit. Large crowds of residents and visitors filled the streets to get a glimpse of the visitor. Several companies of militia and veterans of the Civil and Spanish wars escorted the President to Clark University, where he will receive the degree of LL. D., and deliver an address.

SAMSON IS KILLED

Washington, June 21.—According to reports Apolinio Samson, the notorious Philippine outlaw, has been shot by a government spy with whom he interferred in the discharge of duty. Samson served under Aguinaldo, being in command of the insurgent troops at Bulacan.

JAPS ARE MOVING

London, June 21.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times wires that three columns of Japanese are moving parallel to the coast in Northern Korea with the apparent purpose of capturing Fossil Bay, six miles southwest of Vladivostok. A large fleet of transports sailed from Gensan for the same point.

THEY ALL LIKED ALASKA

Uncle Joe Cannon and His Fellow Congressmen Get Back

Chaperoned by "Uncle Joe" Cannon speaker of the house, six members of the congressional party that visited Alaska spent several hours in Tacoma yesterday afternoon as the guests of friends. They came over from Seattle on the Interurban in their private capacity, brimful of Alaska and matters pertaining to the territory.

It was evident that Alaska made a good impression on the visitors, as they are unbanded in their praise of the country and its prospects, and those for whom it was the first visit return astounded at the wealth of that vast northland. From all accounts, while the visitors were interested in Alaska Alaska was equally interested in them and keenly anxious that some good should come of their visit. At every stop the party was met by intelligent men, who know the needs of the country, and in this manner the party got the cream of the information.

Better Prepared to Legislate.

Several members of the party said, on their arrival in Tacoma, that in the future, whenever matters pertaining to Alaska came up in congress, they would take hold, fairly well certain of their ground and with some idea of what the country needed.

One question that was dined into the ears of the congressmen and senators was the matter of direct representation, and while none of the party made any definite statement of his position on this subject, they left behind them a general impression that it would receive careful consideration.

Inasmuch as the party only left June 5, which left them less than three weeks for the trip, their stops along the coast were necessarily brief, but all during the trip they were in close touch with Alaska. Alaska was the sole topic in the smoking room of the steamer every evening, and everything that had been seen or heard by any member of the party during the day was communicated to the others and discussed.

Speaker Cannon Interested.

Speaker Cannon was one of the most careful and persistent seekers after Alaska knowledge in the party, and his shrewd, keen questions all the way up and down the coast generally went to the heart of the subject. At every stop there was a crowd anxious to meet the speaker and shake his hand. Speaker Cannon, to a certain extent, holds the legislative destiny of Alaska in his hands, as without his consent little can be done in the house of representatives. Appropriations will be needed for Alaska and as no bill can be called up without the speaker's consent, Alaska was particularly solicitous about "Uncle Joe."

The agricultural resources of Alaska apparently appealed to the speaker more than anything else, and he discussed the growing possibilities of the country constantly during the trip. The gold he looked on more as an advertisement that brought the people to the country, after which it would be developed along more valuable and lasting lines.

The only fault the speaker had to find was with the scenery, which he said was so abundantly grand that one lost all idea of value and gradually came to look upon the most wonderful demonstrations of constructive nature as commonplace.

Scenery Is Magnificent.

"It seems to me that in this 1000 miles are gathered mountain and sea scenery that cannot be found anywhere else on this continent and perhaps in the world," was the speaker's comment on his return.

Congressman Tawney of Minnesota is enthusiastic about Alaska, and, as this was his second trip north( he was able to give the other members of the party much information. Mr. Tawney is known to favor direct representation and is looked to for assistance when this question came up. The Minnesota congressman favors sending a delegation of senators and representatives on a tour of Alaska to visit the interior and spend some time in the territory, that they may get an idea as to what the country needs.

The party that visited Tacoma left last night on the Interurban for Seattle, where they will join with the main body and travel eastward to their homes after a tour of nearly a month.

Some Popular Patrons.

The Juvenile Grange of Macleay has announced for June 22d, at 8 p. m., a novelty minstrel show. It will be entirely under the management of the youthful Patrons of Husbandry, whose organization is the only one upon the coast. The entertainment, in addition to the usual songs and jests, will include an old-fashioned plantation party, pantomime, Ethiopian comedy and original witticisms. The pickaninnies will walk for a prize cake, donated by Mrs. Eva Patton. This fine cake will be raffled off after the program. Ice cream will be served.

Fighting and Swimming Boys.

Two Garber boys from East Salem were picked up yesterday by Marshal Cornelius for fighting, and, upon investigation by Recorder Moores, they were let go, but the matter will be held against them for further consideration. It seems these and others boys have also made themselves very offensive by bathing in Mill creek, in plain view of passersby, and an example may be made of them. Judge Moores holds that swimming in the creek anywhere within the city limits is against the law, and boys should be very careful.

Wants a Divorce.

Lucy G. Sanders has commenced suit against Nelson H. Saunders for a divorce in department No. 2 of the Marion county circuit court. The complaint alleges that they were married in New York in 1892, and that the husband has been cruel, and in June 1904, deserted the plaintiff. H. H. Turner and J. A. Finch are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Hop Growing Champion.

Conrad Krebs has gone to Washington and Yamhill counties to hold meetings with the hop growers of those sections in the interest of forming the big corporation pool. From advance information received he is led to believe that many growers in those sections will join in the movement. Mr. Krebs is confident of great results from his labors.

WANT BETTER STREETS

Taxpayers' League Desire a Sample of Macadam Road

At the regular meeting of the city council last evening a petition was received and read from the Salem Taxpayers' League asking permission to proceed with the proposed improvement of certain streets in the business portion of the city. The petition covers Commercial street, from Trade to Center; State, from Commercial to Church; Court, from Commercial to Church, and Liberty, High and Church streets, between State and Court. It is proposed to treat the streets with a macadam pavement, ranging in depth from six inches at the crown and tapering to four inches at the curb, and the estimated cost per front foot will not be more than $2.20 to the property owners. The petition, together with specifications complete for the proposed work, as printed herewith in full, was read before the council and referred to the committee on streets:

The Petition.

"We, the Taxpayers' League of the city of Salem, Oregon, respectfully petition your honorable body to cause the improvement of the following streets, to-wit:

"Commercial street between the north line of Trade street and the south line of Center street; State street between the east line of Commercial and the east line of Church street; Court street between the east line of Commercial and the east line of Church street; Liberty street between State and Court streets; High street between State and Court streets; Church street between State and Court streets.

"Provided always that the improvements contemplated in this petition be ordered, made and completed in accordance with the specifications here-with submitted, only on condition that a contract for the same (except the cement curbs, gutters and crosswalks), be secured at a cost of not more than $2.20 per front foot to the owners of the property abutting on said streets.

"We also respectfully request that the said improvements of the above named streets consist of raising the present crown of said streets six inches above the established grade and excavating the sides to a sufficient depth to secure a thickness of approved crushed rock macadam to be not less than six inches at the crown and thence gradually tapering to and not less than four inches at the gutter line, and not less than six inches at any part of a street intersection.

"We also recommend the following specifications to govern the proposed improvement:

"1. The street railway company shall be required to raise their track to the required grade wherever necessary.

"2. The contractor shall first remove by scraping off, or washing, or both, all loose materials now on said streets, including manure and dirt, down to the solid surface of the present gravel roadbed.

"3. Excavations shall be made where necessary to receive the required thickness of macadam.

"4. When the necessary excavations shall have been completed and the surplus earth removed and the street surface thoroughly cleaned, as provided in clause 2 above, there shall be applied over the entire street surface a layer of crushed rock, the dimensions of which rock shall not be less than 1 1/2 inch and not to exceed 2 1/2 inch cubes. This layer shall not be less than four inches in thickness at the center of the street, and gradually decreasing in thickness to a minimum of two not less than four inches in thickness over the entire street intersections, and inches at the gutter line, and shall be of sufficient thickness to bring the surface of this layer, after it has been thoroughly compacted by rolling as hereinafter specified to two inches below the surface of the street, as it shall be when finished.

"5. The second layer shall be of crushed rock of the dimensions of not less than one-half inch, and not to

Pe-ru-na, the Remedy That Cured.

Miss Ella Off, 1127 Linden St., Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"I suffered with a run down constitution for several months, and feared that I would have to give up my work."

"On seeking the advice of a physician, he prescribed a tonic. I found, however, that it did me no good. On seeking the advice of our druggist, he asked me to try Pe-ru-na. In a few weeks I began to feel and act like a different person. My appetite increased, I did not have that worn-out feeling, and I could sleep splendidly. In a couple of months I was entirely recovered. I thank you for what your medicine has done for me."

exceed 1 1/2 inch cubes, and shall be of a uniform thickness of two inches after it shall have been thoroughly compacted by rolling.

"6. The entire surface of all streets included in the improvement is to be treated with an approved finishing coat of top dressing consisting of finely crushed rock.

"7. Each layer of crushed rock, including the top dressing, shall be (prior to the application of the next layer) watered down and thoroughly rolled with a heavy steam roller passing over the surface a sufficient number of times to level down and incorporate the same in an approved manner, the rolling to be continued until the stone ceases to creep in front of the roller and until the macadam is thoroughly compacted.

"8. The quality of the material to be used in and throughout shall be approved quarry basalt rock.

"9. After the macadam shall have been completed in the street all cement crosswalks shall be raised to conform to the new grade and curbs and gutters shall be constructed wherever there are now none. Said crosswalks, curbs and gutters to be constructed under the rules and ordinances now in force and to be charged separately to the property benefited thereby, as provided by existing ordinances.

"Your petitioners would further ask that those owning property abutting upon the streets to be improved herein specified be permitted to choose a superintendent having control of these improvements and arrange with him for his compensation.

"We respectfully request that work on said improvement of said streets commence not later than the first day of August next.

"Respectfully submitted,
"The Taxpayers' League of the City of Salem, Oregon.
"By Chas. B. Moores, Secretary."
