

HOPS DEFEAT STATE

Humorous Baseball Game Between Hopmen and State House Clerks

The largest crowd that has assembled to witness a baseball game in Salem so far this season gathered on the 'Varsity campus Saturday afternoon and saw the hop men defeat the state house clerks and officials by a score of 19 to 18. It required only six innings to roll up this score, and into these six innings was crowded more fun and excitement than has been seen in all the other games played on that illustrious field this year. The costumes were unique and original, the players witty as well as brilliant, and every man was in the game, or did his best to get there, from the time the umpire called "play ball," until the game was ended. There was some brilliant playing done, and there was some that was not so brilliant.

Members of both teams, who have been compelled to resort to anti-fat heretofore will have no occasion to use it for some time to come.

Ex-Sheriff Frank Durbin, who played a star game in the center field, was willing to quit at the end of the second inning. He thought his part of the garden was too large.

Besides the crowd of men and boys on the bleachers, there was a large number of ladies in the grand stand who cheered their respective teams with a vigor and vim that would have done credit to a bunch of college rooters.

In the opening of the game it looked like there would be nothing to it but state house, but later in the game the hopmen connected with "Baby" McHughes' delivery, and there were things doing. The feature of the game was the heavy stick work of both teams, and the scientific base running. When either side came to bat they would run in enough scores to put them ahead of their opponents, and as the hop men has the last chance at it they pulled down the victory.

The baseball fans are looking forward to another game with a great deal of interest.

Furious Fighting.

"For seven years," writes Geo. W. Hoffman, of Harper, Wash., "I had a bitter battle, with chronic stomach and liver trouble, but at last I won, and cured my diseases by the use of Electric Bitters. I unhesitatingly recommend them to all, and don't intend in the future to be without them in the house. They are certainly a wonderful medicine, to have cured such a bad case as mine." Sold, under guarantee to do the same for you, by J. C. Perry, druggist, at 50c a bottle. Try them today.

Played Ball in the Rain.

The Liberty baseball nine played the West Salma at their home grounds Sunday forenoon. At the end of three innings the score stood 15 to 1, and then it rained, and it would have taken three figures to hold the talley for the Red Hillers. They expect to play the Mt. Angel team soon. The Liberty high school turns out some good ball tossers.

PENCIL PUSHERS COMING

National Editorial Association Will Make Short Stop Here Tomorrow

A delegation of 327 members of the National Editorial Association will pass through Salem tomorrow morning, en route to Portland to visit the exposition. A stop will be made at this place, but at this writing it is not known just how long. Salem citizens have arranged to give them a quick lunch at the depot, after which, if the time will permit, a drive will be made about the city.

It is suggested that, as this delegation represents every state in the Union, citizens of Salem who formerly lived elsewhere prepare a small lunch or bunch of flowers with a little note attached as follows, for instance: "With the compliments of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Blank, formerly of Newton, Iowa, to the Iowa delegation, with the hope that your stay in Oregon will be as pleasant for you as it has been for us in our adopted home." Small boxes of cherries, currants or berries will be appreciated. Roses and evergreens will be appropriate. A basket of flowers from the several state institutions is desired. For instance a basket with the compliments of the superintendent of the Oregon state insane asylum or the Oregon state penitentiary or superintendent of the Oregon state reform school. No state has yet done this particular thing, and it will make a hit. Let there be no hesitancy in completely burying the editors in flowers. It is these little unthought of attentions that count. Let all persons who cannot be at the train when it halts here leave their contributions of lunch boxes or flowers at their the Capital Journal or the Statesman offices, and the same will be promptly delivered. Those sending flowers from the state institutions can leave the same with the janitor at the state house.

This is a national body of organized newspaper people, the members of which, when they reach their several homes, will tell to their readers of their visit to Oregon. Salem needs all of the advertising that it can possibly get, and here is an opportunity to send word to your former old neighbors. Remember the flowers and box lunches will be the means of making a great hit for Salem.

Train will arrive here about 7:30.

C., June 26.—The National Association of Elocutionists met in fourteenth annual convention in Washington today with an attendance of about four hundred members from various sections of the country. At the opening session held this afternoon in the auditorium of the public library prayer was offered by the Rev. Wallace Radcliffe and the visitors were welcomed by Commissioner Henry B. F. McFarland and Dr. William T. Harris, United States commissioner of education. President Robert L. Hay Much Better.

Newbury, N. H. June 26.—The condition of Secretary Hay is much better this morning. Additional medical aid arrived early this morning from Boston. Hay is suffering much in the same manner as before he took the trip abroad.

Dr. Cain, the local physician in attendance, said today: "Hay's condition has been relieved. He will need attention for a day or two. If no complications arise he will soon be as well as usual." Dr. Scudder, of Boston, returned home this morning. Dr. Murphy will remain as a precaution against the development of any unexpected symptoms.

Oil for Invalids.

The use of olive-oil in the treatment of tuberculosis is having quite a vogue, being in line with the modern fresh air treatment combined with surfeit feeding. In the animal kingdom good results are being obtained with this method, particularly in case of bovine tuberculosis. In some cases the oil is injected subcutaneously, being introduced alternately over the shoulder blades. The theory upon which this treatment is based is that during the course of the disease the nutritive processes are at a very low ebb, and olive oil is an effective stimulant. In the same bovine experiments recently undertaken, which gave very promising results, high-grade sterilized olive oil was administered by injection under the skin. It is now believed that cattle affected with tuberculosis may be successfully treated in this manner with quantities of linseed, cotton seed and sperm oil.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by all druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Never Missed a Day at School in Eleven Years.

It would be interesting, says the Nebraska State Journal, to know whether there is a school boy or a school girl in Nebraska whose record for attendance equals that of Miss Lizzie Spivecek, of the Ravenna schools.

The young lady graduates from the Ravenna schools this year without missing a day during the entire eleven years of her school life. More than that she has been tardy but once, and it is said that this tardiness was occasioned by a mistake of the janitor in ringing the bell too early.

The Grand Propelling Power

It is easy to see why the doctrine should be promulgated and followed that advertising is the soul of business; that the man who cannot use advertising in his business has no right to be in business; that, as Macaulay once said, advertising is to business what steam is to machinery, the grand propelling power. The story is told of a man who once came to a merchant to buy a remnant of cloth long out of fashion, with which to repair a garment. The merchant was delighted to be able to satisfy the new customer and asked, "How do you happen to come to me for this bagatelle?" The answer was, "I thought you would be the most likely man to have the sample because you never advertise." Our modern immense establishments take good care not to hide their light under a bushel. It is claimed that one of these establishments in the United States paid out $250,000 annually for advertisements in three newspapers alone, and the newspaper advertising expenses of the twelve largest retail stores have been estimated at $3,000,000 per annum.—V. Mataja in International Quarterly.

Pushed Ahead By Advertising

A British journal recently commented on the fact that whereas the tea grown in China was formerly the most popular, it now occupies second place, while Ceylon tea has become the favorite with all classes of people. The question, What has brought about this change of taste? is not, however, a difficult one to answer. As a prominent firm of dealers pointed out, Ceylon tea has been liberally advertised for some years, while the Chinese product has not been advertised at all. The change noted has been wrought during these years, and it is therefore reasonable to conclude that advertising is the principal cause thereof. As a result of advertising the consumption of Ceylon tea has increased so rapidly that in many cases China tea has practically been forced out of the market. Yet the actual difference in the quality of the two is not material.—Profitable Advertising.

The same might be said of many merchants who have forged to the front by liberal and persistent advertising in newspapers. Such examples can be found in the columns of this paper.

Torture of a Preacher.

The story of the torture of Rev. O. D. Moore, pastor of the Baptist church, of Harpersville, N. Y., will interest you. He says: "I suffered agonies, because of a persistent cough, resulting from grip. I had to sleep sitting up in bed. I tried many remedies, without relief, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption Coughs and Colds, which entirely cured my cough, and saved me from consumption." SOCIAL EVENTS

Lawn Party.

Miss Winona Savage was hostess at a delightfully arranged lawn party Friday evening, at which 20 of her friends were present. The lawn was lighted with Chinese lanterns, and the evening was spent in playing numerous games, and having a good time.

Pleasant Party.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Atwood entertained about 50 friends at their home on East Center street Wednesday evening in a most delightful manner. The party was in the form of an "initial party" from the invitations, which were written in initials to the games, and was very interesting.

The house was decorated with ferns, marguerites and sweet peas. Refreshments were served at a seasonable hour, and the event was delightful in every detail.

Makes Fortune in Oregon Lumber.

Pendleton East Oregonian. William Eccles, president of the Hood River Lumbering Company, vice-president of the Sumpter Valley railway and stockholder in several other Oregon properties, passed down the O. R. & N. yesterday evening from Ogden to Hood River, where he goes to spend the summer in the beautiful Hood River district. He was accompanied by his family, which lives in Ogden during the winter season.

The career of William Eccles in Eastern Oregon inspires poor boys to persevere and work faithfully at their chosen calling, whatever it may be, so long as it is legitimate and profitable.

Eccles came to Union county a poor boy in 1888, and bought an old sawmill plant on Catherine creek, and began grinding out lumber, going in debt for his supplies, and borrowing money to pay off his employees, at first. He continued it until he is worth anywhere from $250,000 to $300,000, and is making more money easily and rapidly.

He is now building a 17-mile railroad from Hood River toward Mount Hood to reach a timber belt, and to tap the rich Hood River valley, and owns an elegant home in Ogden and one in Hood River, and is a large stockholder in the Oregon Lumber company at Baker City. Mr. Eccles saved the first lumber ever shipped to the Mormon colony in Sonora, Mexico, in 1889, from Teocasset, Or., and established lumber shipping points at Teocasset, Pleasant Valley, Union and North Powder in Eastern Oregon. He is one of the leading sawmill men of the state, and has made a success of his business by close application and hard work.

Now, this is all correct, but how much money came from the Mormon church, and whose money builds the Hood River railroad? The Mormon religion teaches "do the Gentile," and this Hood River will discover with a branch of the 'Polygamy Central' that it is done properly.

A Pleasant Way to Travel.

The above is the usual verdict of the traveler using the Missouri Pacific railway between the Pacific coast and the east, and we believe that the service and accommodations given merit this statement. From Denver, Colorado Springs and Denver there are two through trains daily to Kansas City and St. Louis, carrying Pullman's latest standard electric-lighted sleeping cars, chair cars and up-to-date dining cars. The same excellent service is operated from Kansas City and St. Louis to Memphis, Little Rock and Hot Springs. If you are going east or south, write for particulars and full information.
