LAND FRAUDS

Portland, July 6.—Federal Judge DeHaven this morning overruled the demurrers in the land fraud cases in which James Benson, Charles Nichols and Henry Meldrum are defendants.

The case against W. N. Jones, Daniel Clark, Thad. Potter and Ira Wade, accused of conspiring to obtain lands in the Siletz Indian reserve, is set for trial to follow the trial of Congressman Williamson, et al., which begins tomorrow.

The case against Mitchell, Hermann, Ormsby, et al., is placed at the foot of the calendar. A number of bench warrants were issued for minor defendants.

AFRAID OF CONVICTS

Tacoma, Wash., July 6.—One of the boats in which the eight convicts escaped from McNeil's Island, after cutting their way out of prison, was located this morning near Steilacoom, about 30 miles from the jail. Six posses are now on a man-hunt, and although rumors of men being seen at various localities are current, the fugitives, thus far, have successfully eluded the officers. Thousands of campers scattered throughout the Puget Sound country have come to the city, fearing to remain in the woods so long as the convicts are at large.

DIED.

REYNOLDS.—At the family home, at Rosedale, Oregon, Thursday, July 6, 1905, at 4:15 a. m., Mrs. Mary A. Reynolds, wife of Silas Reynolds, aged 53 years, 10 months and 21 days.

Deceased was well and favorably known, being a woman of kindly nature who made friends wherever she went. The funeral services will be conducted by Bishop H. L. Barkley at the United Brethren church in Yew Park tomorrow at 11 a. m., and the interment will be in the City View cemetery.

The Odoriferous Polecat.

The polecat is lately in evidence in this vicinity, fully charged with all the double quaintness of pungency with which he is accredited. Two of our young ladies one evening this week discovered one. They were investigating a row in the chicken coop late at night, and after getting a lamp to the scene found the cause to be a pretty little black and white striped animal, which was already putting his seventh chick out of business. The young lady not holding the lamp quickly executed a brilliant flank movement and thoughtlessly accelerated the animal's departure from the coop with a swift kick that would have done ample credit to "H'er name was Maud." The girls nearly fainted. But his skunkship didn't disclose any symptoms of feebleness. On the contrary. He managed to get away safely, but left a record, as he always does. A few minutes later two sorrowful girls with tear stained faces could be seen in the pale light of the moon, each holding her nose with one hand and burying her-ahem! clothes with the other.

Tuesday evening George Cyrus found to his sorrow, the same animal after his chickens. At least, George says it was the same one. He killed it, but not until it nearly killed off the entire neighborhood. George followed the fashion, burying his clothing and dosing his person with disinfectant.—Prineville Review.

Pardon Unconditional.

An examination of the records in the secretary of state's office shows that Wm. F. Beckman, the aged veteran of the civil war, who was recently arrested for the alleged breaking of his parole, was unconditionally pardoned by Governor Geer, and not upon the condition that he should leave the state, as has been alleged. Beckman is an old man nearly 80 years of age, and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary a number of years ago for the murder of his wife and stepson near Oakland, Oregon. He alleged that he did the killing in self-defense. After he had served seven years of his term he was pardoned by Governor Geer and went to Minnesota, where he entered the soldiers' home. The climate there did not agree with him, so he was given permission to be transferred to the soldiers home in California. On his way there he stopped off in Portland to visit an old friend for a short time, and had his ticket for California in his pocket when arrested.

Santa Must Answer.

Kansas City, July 6.—Federal Judge Phillips today cited the Santa Fe to appear and show cause why it should not be punished for an alleged violation of the injunction forbidding it granting rebates on coal, on cutting the tariff on rates. The answer must be filed by August 1st.

An Idaho Fire.

Lewiston, Idaho, July 6.—A fire this morning destroyed a number of frame buildings and stocks of merchandise in the heart of the town. It threatened for a time to destroy the entire business district. Loss, $40,000.

Root is Willing.

Washington, July 6.—It is represented here that Ex-Secretary of War Root has indicated to the President his willingness to accept the position of secretary of state.

County Courts Confer.

The county court of Polk county came over this morning to confer with the county court of Marion, and the Salem street committee, relating to making the needed improvements to the big bridge across the Willamette. These bodies went out to the bridge, inspected it and estimated the cost of repairing the same, and will probably make some arrangements for having the work done.

Wife Sues for Divorce.

A suit for divorce was filed in the circuit court yesterday by Eva L. Wood, who asked to be legally from her husband, W. A. Wood. She sets up as a cause for divorce cruel and inhuman treatment and desertion. According to the complaint filed by her in department No. 2 of the court yesterday the plaintiff and defendant were married at Eugene on June 30, 1898, and lived together until the month of March, 1905, when the former was deserted by the latter, without cause or provocation. The wife alleges that during the time they lived together her husband treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner, and that during the past two years he has contributed nothing whatever toward herself and child. The plaintiff asked for a decree of the court forever dissolving the bonds of matrimony existing between herself and the defendant, and that she be awarded the care and custody of their minor daughter, aged six years John A. Jeffrey appears in the suit as attorney for the plaintiff.

Two More Made Happy.

Mr. W. A. Elder and Miss Bernice Neal were yesterday afternoon given permission to unite in the holy bonds of matrimony by County Clerk Roland. W. Y. Richardson furnished the affidavit upon which the license was issued.

Do Your Eyes Make Protest

If, after reading or working steadily, the eyes are tired or ache or become watery, or the eyelids smart, or the head aches, it is sure that you have overworked, perhaps strained them. And it is just as sure that the RIGHT glasses, will not only afford present rest and relief for the eyes, but will prevent them from being further overworked or strained.

It will cost you nothing to find out just what your eye trouble is. With instruments of the utmost precision, we can determine the exact condition of your eyes in a few minutes, and you may rest assured that we will not advise glasses unless they are actually needed.

Red Men Have Big Parade and Conduct the Ceremonies

Portland, Ore., July 6.—The bronze statue of Sacajawea, erected by the women of the Northwest to the memory of the Indian heroine, who guided Lewis and Clark in the exploration a century ago was unveiled today at the exposition, under the auspices of the Order of Red Men. The unveiling was preceded by a Red Men's parade, in which members of the order from all the Western states participated.

Teachers Talk Shop.

Asbury Park, N. J., July 6.—The National Educational Association in annual session today had another busy day of it. Even the attractions of the night were not sufficient to lure many of the teachers, and all of the sectional conferences were well attended. No general session was held, but the departmental meeting listened to scores of interesting papers and discussions covering a wide field of educational work. The open meeting to night will be addressed by William Barclay Parsons, the famous New York engineer; Frank A. Vanderlip, vice president of the National City Bank of New York, and Lorenzo D. Harvey, superintendent of the schools of Menomonie, Wis.

Took Suicide Route.

Colebrook, Conn., July 6.—Winthrop Turney, a millionaire mine owner in Sonora, Mexico, killed himself in a pasture lot here this morning. He was dependent on account of ill health. He was 40 years old and a graduate of Yale.

When Rev. Gordon offered the prayer at the opening of the Fourth congregation he requested that the "congregation stand up." Of two little girls seated together one started to rise, when the other, pulling her down by the skirt said: "Sit down, we ain't Congress-
