RUSSIA NEEDS A RULER

Our Teddy's "Big Stick" Kaisers "Mailed Hand" or a Stuffed Club

London, July 7.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg says it is reported that the crew of the battleship Catherine the Great has joined the mutineers. A dispatch from Thodosia says the Potemkin stopped a British steamer and compelled her to follow the battleship. A quantity of coal was taken from the steamer. According to this dispatch the Potemkin left Thodosia last night. Thodosia, Russia, July 7.—Reports to the effect that the Potemkin had bombarded the town are untrue, and her present whereabouts is unknown. The torpedo boat destroyer Smatily arrived several hours after the Potemkin departed, and after hurriedly coaling put to sea. St. Petersburg, July 7.—Reports current today tend to confirm advices from Moscow to the effect that the emperor is prepared to go to the Kremlin and issue a manifesto summoning the representatives of the people.

LAUNCH THE ADMIRAL

Cherbourg, France, July 7.—The remains of Paul Jones, with the escort of officials and sailors, arrived at 8 o'clock this morning from Paris. The party was officially received by the maritime prefect. The coffin was removed from the special car and placed in a tent, resting on a catafalque. French and Americans took turns as guards of honor. Tomorrow at noon the casket will be taken aboard the Brooklyn, Rear-Admiral Sigbee's flagship, to be conveyed to America.

Seattle Really Needs Them. Baltimore, July 7.—Denominational meetings were the feature of the Christian Endeavor convention today. Tomorrow the delegates go on an excursion to Washington and Gettysburg. Seattle and Los Angeles are making a strong fight for the next convention, with Seattle a trifle in the lead.

JURY QUICKLY CHOSEN

Williamson Case Is Now Ready for Evidence and Argument

Portland, Or., July 7.—In the district court today, before Judge J. J. DeHaven, the second of the land fraud trials began. Congressman J. N. Williamson, his partner, Van Gesner, and Marion R. Biggs, formerly United States land commissioner at Prineville, Oregon, are the defendants. Representative Williamson and his associates are charged, under the indictment returned against them, with having conspired to commit an offense against the United States by suborning persons to swear falsely before the land commissioners in order to get control of land near Prineville, Oregon. The indictment is brought under section 5440 of the revised statutes of the United States, which section provides, where two or more persons conspire together to commit any offense against the United States, or to defraud the United States in any manner or for any purpose, and one of the persons does an act to further the conspiracy, then all are parties to the crime, and are liable to a fine of not less than $1000 or more than $10,000, and to imprisonment for not more than two years.

It is alleged that on June 30, 1902, the defendants conspired to suborn 100 persons to commit the offense of perjury, by making false declarations in the filing of land near Prineville. Marion R. Biggs was at that time United States commissioner, and it is alleged that 100 persons went before him and swore that lands about to be filed upon under the timber and stone act were being taken in good faith by them, when in fact the entries were being made at the solicitation and under the direction of the defendants, who were to receive the lands, once patent had been issued on them.

The lands, it is alleged, were to be acquired by Williams and VanGesner, partners in the sheep business, near Prineville, and to be used by them for sheep range. The opening day was consumed in the selection of a jury. The case promises to be a most stubbornly contested one, and to occupy as much if not more time in the hearing than the Mitchell case. More than 100 witnesses were present for the prosecution, who hope to prove by their evidence that the allegations of the government are true, while a small army will testify in behalf of the defense against the indictment and its charges.

Francis J. Heney, United States attorney for Oregon, is conducting the prosecution, while the defendants are represented by Judge A. S. Bennett, who defended Senator Mitchell and H. S. Wilson and Lionel R. Webster. The parties to the case are all prominent in Oregon politics, Williamson being representative from the second Oregon district. He is in his fiftieth year and is a native of Oregon. He has been in politics since 1886, when he was elected sheriff of Crook county. He was elected to congress in 1902 to succeed Malcolm M. Moody.

A special venire of 70 tailmen was drawn for this trial. The jury for the Williamson trial was drawn today as follows: J. E. Henkle, merchant, Philomath; M. V. Thomas, farmer, Bull Run; Mast Webb, farmer, Coos county; G. O. Walker, farmer, Lane county; J. W. Williams, farmer, Junction City; Barney May, merchant, Harrisburg; W. P. George, restauranter, Salem; A. E. Binns, liveryman, Heppner; August Carlsen, manufacturer, Portland; S. L. Burnagh, farmer, Elgin; O. L. Hook, farmer, Douglas county; W. D. Cook, brick-maker, Eugene.

WILL NOT PAY TAXES

Railroads in Nebraska Defy the State and Are Brewing Trouble

Lincoln, Neb., July 7.—As a result of the refusal of the Burlington to pay its taxes assessed last year, and resenting the injunction against the county's collecting them, the commissioners of Seward county have declared a boycott on the road, refusing to ship county supplies over it. Other counties are preparing to adopt the boycott. The Union Pacific also refuses to pay, and has joined hands with the Burlington. Deferred payments exceed half a million dollars, and the county finances are suffering. The governor is considering the summoning of a special session of the legislature to pass a freight reduction bill as a punitive measure.

Kansas Law Unconstitutional.

Topeka, July 7.—The supreme court today, in an unanimous opinion, declared the state oil refinery law unconstitutional. The refinery is declared to be a work of internal improvement, which the state is practically forbidden to make. That the establishment of a branch penitentiary, at which the oil is refined by convicts, is clearly a subterfuge. Governor Hoch said: "I have hoped to go ahead with the plan and lick John D. Rockefeller." He would make no statement in reference to calling a special session to pass new laws to defeat the Standard.

Surgeons Elect Officers.

San Francisco, July 7.—The American Surgical Association today decided to meet next year at Cleveland, Ohio. The officers elected are: Dr. A. Van Beebe, Albany, N. Y.; vice-president, Dr. J. E. Moore, Minneapolis; second vice-president, Dr. J. C. Munroe, Boston; secretary, Dr. P. Allen, Cleveland; treasurer, G. R. Fowler, Brooklyn, N. Y.; recording secretary, Dr. B. H. Hart, Philadelphia.

A Kentucky Hanging.

Owensboro, Ky., July 7.—Robert Mathley was hanged in the jail yard here this morning at 4:46. The prisoner attempted to cheat the gallows by cutting an artery in his wrist with his finger nails, but the plan was frustrated by the death watch. Mathley was convicted of the murder of Miss Emma Watkins, whom he wanted to marry, at the same time killing James Gregson, the girl's cousin, who opposed the match.

Germany After Equitable.

Berlin, July 7.—The insurance department of the German government has demanded of the Equitable Mutual, of New York, that they declare by August 1st in what manner they propose separating their premium reserves in German policies from the general reserve, and how they intend to invest them. The amounts affected for the two companies are about $30,000,000.

Millionaire Escaped, of Course.

Milwaukee, July 7.—Michael Dunne, former building inspector, was sentenced today to a year and a half in the house of correction on a charge of accepting a bribe of $1500 from Col. Gustav Pabst, the brewer, for a permit to build a riding academy with illegal specifications. Pabst escaped by turning state's evidence.

Blow Out the Gas Company.

JIM HILL MOVING

Winnipeg, Manitoba, July 7.—A report is in circulation here that James J. Hill is engineering a scheme to amalgamate the Grand Trunk, Canadian Northern and Great Northern, with the possibility of the Inter-Colonial, which will give a combination of two international lines. It is also proposed to extend Hill's road into British Columbia.

Endeavorers Keep Busy.

Baltimore, Md., July 7.—The third day of the Christian Endeavor International convention began with as great a display of enthusiasm as marked the opening of the convention. In fact, enthusiasm seems to be the keynote of the gathering. All the meetings are well attended and the rousing words of the speakers are greeted with enthusiastic demonstrations.

The day opened with the usual quiet hour service conducted by President King of Oberlin college. This was followed in turn by the school of methods, the program followed, being similar to that of yesterday. The distinguishing feature of the day was the series of rallies by states and by denominations. A half dozen churches were requisitioned for these meetings.

Two rousing meetings open to the general public are to be held tonight, one in the Fifth Regiment Armory and the other in the Lyric theater. "Evangelism Everywhere" is the general topic selected for the armory meeting and "Christian Culture for Christian Service" will be discussed at the Lyric meeting. Prominent among those who will be heard at one or the other of the meetings are President P. H. Lewis of Western Maryland college, Rev. Washington Gladden of Columbus, O., Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis of Brooklyn, Prof. Herbert L. Willett of the University of Chicago, Rev. William E. Biederwolf of Indiana, and the Rev. Mark Allison Matthews, D. D., of Seattle, Wash.

Land of Carrie Nation and Sockless Jerry Can Stand Any Old Thing

Kansas City, Mo., July 7.—Thomas W. Lawson, of "Frenzied Finance" fame, arrived here today en route to Kansas to tell the people of that state of the iniquitous workings of the Standard Oil trust and to advise with them in regard to plans for carrying on their warfare against the octopus. He will pause in Kansas City long enough to make a speech at tonight's banquet of the Knife and Fork club.

Kansas is preparing a rousing welcome for the Boston financier. During his stay in the Sunflower state he will be the guest of Governor Hoch. His first address is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at the Ottawa Chautauqua assembly. In addition to Mr. Lawson the speakers at Ottawa are to include District Attorney Jerome of New York City, Governor La Follette of Wisconsin, and Clarence S. Darrow of Chicago.
