Edison—Vaudeville.
EDISON'S POLITE VAUDEVILLE.

Program Provided for This Part of the Week Exceptionally Strong.

Hopper and Burrell are slated as the headliners at the popular little vaudeville theatre for the first half of the week, but the bill, as booked seems to be all headliners. The above mentioned team present a rural act that is full of fun, and fine selections on several musical instruments. Richard Henry Miller is a mimic who has appeared in all the best vaudeville theatres in the world, and will make you laugh in spite of yourself. Hawley and Vass, in a Hebrew act, will present something that is sure to please you, as they are very versatile and clever. Helen Vance will sing the illustrated songs, and the motion pictures will be amusing and interesting. Remember the Edison has a matinee every Wednesday and Saturday at 3:15 p. m., when the children are admitted for five cents. If the grown folks cannot come with the children, they can rest assured that the little ones will be taken care of by the management.

The American Boy.
Judge Frazer of Portland is doing a good work. Since the law went into effect giving cities of Portland's size a juvenile court where corrective policies will be pursued in reforming wayward lads instead of branding them from the start as criminals and thereby forcing them into a criminal life, Judge Frazer has organized a juvenile aid association, the object of which is to enlist boys who are inclined to recklessness, in baseball clubs and athletic organizations, providing amusement that directs their minds into new channels, gives them better and higher motives and putting them in the way of accomplishing something for themselves.

It seems like a mighty responsibility for a great city to assume in looking after her bad boys, adopting heroic measures in reforming them but in answer to the question "will it pay?" there is only one reply. Yes, it is the boys of a city left to shift for themselves by careless parents, who grow up to be a menace to the morals and good government of that city. They become barnacles, disturbers, thieves, culprits, offenders that cost the city thousands of dollars in money and millions in reputation.

It pays to look after the boys while they are boys and change the channel of their evil tendencies into acts of usefulness by the moulding of character that will stand for something in the future.

The Juvenile Aid association should come to stay, not only in cities of Portland's size but in every town and city of consequence throughout the United States.

The thousands of children growing up in this country today as human weeds will be the tares in the body politic of the next generation—the ballot box stuffers, the disreputable politicians, the forgers, robbers, murderers—the class who never have been taught the principles of good citizenship proceed to put into practice the other kind.

The Juvenile Aid association should be made to supplant the reform school. These youths need the restraint, good moral teaching, physical instruction and mental equipment, with ambition as a motive power to development of good citizenship. It can't be done by retention in a reform school where knowledge of the cause leading to such restriction overcomes all ambition and is a nightmare to thousands of boys who under more heroic treatment might be developing into model citizens.

The time has come to change our policy toward the American boy. He ought to be the pride of the world, but we can't make him so by putting him into a reform school. Let us have organizations of a corrective nature that remedy with kindness that exalt the boy's estimation of himself through our expression of interest in his welfare.—Eugene Register.
