

DAILY CAPITAL JOURNAL

BY HOFER BROS.

OFFICIAL CENSUS SALEM, MAY, 1904, 13,287.

The Bridge Bond Election.

Unless a campaign is made it is not likely that there will be a big vote out at the special election for permanent bridges.

Only those can vote who pay taxes, and then it takes two-thirds of all voting to carry the election for this important measure.

The Journal can only urge voters to be at home and vote on that day, without seeking to influence them either way on the matter.

This paper will be opened to expressions on either side of the subject and hopes there may be a general discussion.

The editors have their own views, but do not wish to force them upon their readers in a local matter of this kind.

Better study into the question, Mr. Sovereign American citizen, and figure out for yourself how you want to vote, for or against bonds.

There will be some dodging among the politicians and some deceiving, as usual, but there should be a full and fair expression on the merits of the matter, and let the strongest side win.

Care for the Horses and Cows.

In the blazing hot days of summer it pays to have a little thought for the horses and cows, even the dogs and birds.

Cool water to drink is a godsend to these domestic friends of man, and there is much charity and religion in remembering them.

It is not kind to allow cows and other domestic animals to stand all day in a hot sun, or in a pasture without a particle of shade.

Horses tied on the streets for hours are hurt by the fierce rays of the sun and the carelessness of the owner.

A horse never travels as well afterwards, or pulls as well when he has been subjected to the beating rays of the summer sun.

A flynet for a horse or cow is a humane contrivance. If they were running in the pasture they would go in to the brush at certain times.

The humane man or woman will reap all the reward for their kindness in satisfaction here on earth, and need not wait for the next world to be rewarded.

Bad Election Laws.

The Oregon election law, which conducts an expensive, troublesome registration for each election is a bad law, because it reduces the number of persons who go to elections.

The Oregon primary law, which requires registration of party affiliation before the voter can take part in the making of nominations is a bad law, because it will reduce participation in the primaries.

The Oregon naturalization law, that compels a man to pay five dollars in order to get his citizenship papers is a bad law, because not many foreign born citizens will become American voters under it.

Who enacted all these laws? Who gets up these un-American schemes to increase the non-voting class?

Who have been the political bosses of the Oregon legislature? Isn't it time we had a different political leadership in Oregon?

The average politician has but one purpose in going to the legislature—to get a federal office. He doesn't go there to enact good laws.

Oregon Political Leadership.

The Republican leadership at Portland has been so rotten that one after another the highest officers have been taken away from the gang that dominates the party down there.

Are they fit to nominate the next governor of Oregon, or to name the next United States Senator? What is the verdict of the voters who live in Multnomah county?

If Portland dominates in the formation of the next Republican ticket the verdict will be the same all over the state. Portland has had too much political power, and has not used it wisely.

Political power in Portland has but one objective point—graft. If a good state law has originated there we would like to have some one mention the article in plain English.

What is the moral of the matter? The next Republican ticket must be taken from the body of the country, if it is to be elected by the thinking people of this state, who are Republicans.

It was Republicans who elected Chamberlain governor, Word sheriff, Manning district attorney, and Lane mayor. It is Republicans, not the Democratic party, that Oregon politicians must reckon with.

A party movement might originate in Portland that would reach out and take in all the interests and men of brains, thought and ability in the state, but that is hardly likely to occur.

Portland is steeped in graft politics to such an extent that Portland managers will not trust men outside the city, and few in the city will trust one another.

The people must make up their minds to make up their own program, to select their own ticket, to do their own nominating, to follow no rotten leadership, or pursue ancient and time-worn methods.

With practically a whole delegation in congress to select, with a whole state ticket to nominate, with a legislature to choose, with a new constitution that needs to be framed, Oregon has a big job just ahead.

With leadership distrusted, with organizations smashed, with an administration in Washington determined to indict and convict every man of prominence in the state, need anyone be surprised if Oregon goes Democratic?

THE SHAME OF AN AMERICAN CITY.

At last the blistering truth that tells of the moral turpitude of a great American city—Cincinnati—has been advertised to the world in the July number of McClure's Magazine.

It is not a pleasure to attack a city any more than it is to reflect on the reputation of a woman.

But here is a municipal cancer that must, if it is allowed to continue in its growth, carry its deadly poison into the very heart and center of American life.

The government of a city and a county are absolutely and entirely in the hands of an unscrupulous boss who rules for himself alone. The people are literally enslaved. He says what he wants and gets it. He puts the seal of his disapproval on a man or a measure and they are lost. He is keen, calculating, brutal and ignorant. He has no knowledge or understanding of what the world calls "rugged honesty." He plans and plots for his own pocket all the time.

Holding no office, he is a dictator. His hands are not only on the official but on the business life of the community.

The harm is not the harm of graft. It does not lie in the fact that the treasury is plundered and that the taxpayers' money is diverted from the proper channels. Cincinnati is a rich city. The boss could take millions from the vaults and the money would not be missed.

The real harm lies in the fact that half a million people have become enslaved and cowardly; many of them glory in their enslavement.

Slowly but surely their condition and their tacit approval of the same is destroying the sense of decency; dulling the keen edge of their appreciation of honesty and integrity.

They are becoming less and less Americans.

That is what hurts.

St. Louis had her boodlers and fought them. Philadelphia is in the throes of a scandal. Chicago was ruthlessly plundered. But in these and other places the people arose in their might and demanded changed conditions.

Only in Cincinnati, for 365 days every year, do the people supinely accept their disgrace, almost unanimously supporting the man and organization that is surely destroying their manhood.

Today the shame of America is Cincinnati.

IN THE POLITICAL SWIM.

For state treasurer there are said to be a number of candidates. County Judge Ryan, William H. Hobson, and Lot L. Pearce are mentioned. For secretary of state Claude Gatch and Frank T. Wrightman of Salem are considered as being in the field. For governor C. A. Johns of Baker City and J. B. Withycombe of Washington county are in the swim. For state senator in Marion county nearly every man who was ever in the legislature is talked about by his friends. It is not expected that Marion county can make up the whole ticket, but there are three persons mentioned for congress—W. L. Tooze of Woodburn, and C. B. Moores and W. C. Hawley of Salem. Tooze is postmaster at Woodburn and congressional chairman, Moores was register of the Oregon City land office, and Hawley is a prominent national officer of the Woodmen, and for years president of Willamette university. William L. Vawter of Medford is also mentioned for congress. As there is a senator to be elected it is very likely there will be a host of candidates for the legislative honors. Under the direct primary there is no limit to the number of persons who may aspire to a nomination. In the mean time there will be seven aldermen to elect in this city in December.

THE CRIME OF JOHN F. WALLACE (Seattle Star). With perspiration dripping and the thermometer climbing when fat folks should beware of overheating and extra exertion of any kind, William H. Taft, official bouncer of the Roosevelt administration, works himself into a lather over the defection of John F. Wallace, who was chief engineer of the Isthmian canal. Mr. Wallace's crime was something awful. The very least that should happen to him was boiling in oil. Here is what he did: He had a job in a country where there is yellow fever, malaria, high temperature and low morals; tarantulas, snake bites and funerals every hour. And there he took orders from men who knew about as much about canal building as a shoat does about logarithms, and who could issue them while swinging in hammocks and breathing God's pure air, the while the waiter mixed cooling drinks and served them. Mr. Wallace was offered a better job. It was more congenial and carried a higher salary. So he quit. He simply exercised his right as an American citizen to lay down one job and take another, which is a right dear to the heart of every free man. Taft froths and calls Wallace a "rank deserter," which is a pretty tough sort of a name to hitch to any man. The president accepted the resignation and wrote a "curt note," which must have hurt like blazes. And now, so far as officialdom is concerned, John F. Wallace can go hang. One wonders how long Mr. Wallace would have been kept in office had Taft or the President desired to dispense with his services, and if patriotism would have cut any figure in such an event. About seven seconds is the answer—just how long enough to write on a telegraph blank: "YOU'RE FIRED." It makes all the difference in the world whose ox is gored.

HERE AT HOME.

Salem Citizens Gladly Testify. It is testimony like the following that has placed the "old Quaker Remedy" so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Salem citizen: James A. Tanner, farmer, corner of 13th and Lewis streets, says: "So many suffer from kidney complaint that for a time I was alarmed about myself, for I was troubled with my back aching in the region of my kidneys. I think it was caused first by a strain from heavy lifting I did two years ago. I kept getting worse instead of better, and finally consulted a doctor. He told me I had gall stone in the bladder. Not only did I suffer from stone in the bladder but trouble with the kidney secretions existed and their too frequent action disturbed my rest from fifteen to twenty times in a night. This was very annoying and I was in a bad way when I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box at Dr. Stone's drug store. To say I was surprised at the speedy effect of their use is putting it mildly. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to others, and will always have a good word for them."

CHEMAWA TO HAVE BUILDINGS

About $40,000 Available for Improvements to Be Made This Year

Chemawa, Or., July 12.—Extensive improvements will be made at the Indian school here this summer and fall. The dining-room and kitchen will be remodeled and enlarged, being on the ground, and work will be commenced this week. The cost of this improvement will be approximately $4,000.

Superintendent Chalcraft has $10,000 at his disposal for general improvements, and this money will be used to increasing the efficiency of the school plant. The middle-sized boys' and also girls' homes will be entirely remodeled and about $3000 devoted to improving the interior of each of these buildings. About $1,500 will be devoted to the small girls' quarters and $1,000 on the present school hospital in preparing it for use as a domestic science department.

There is also available an appropriation of $29,500 for a new brick hospital, two barns and a house for the assistant superintendent. The plans for these improvements are about completed and proposals for bids will be called for in a few days. When these improvements are completed, Chemawa will have one of the best equipped schools plants in the Indian service.

Gene recently overlooked his flock and Mr. Headrick discovered that some of the birds were off color. This led to an investigation that resulted in a disagreement, Mr. Headrick declaring the "off color" birds to be young grouse, Mr. Miller that they were hybrids—half China and half grouse—while Gene maintains that they are China and nothing else. These fanciers disagreed so strongly that the cigars are now hanging on the balance. The little fellows will soon be in feather sufficient to settle the question, and somebody will smoke—Corvallis Gazette.
