A Seaside Idyl.

He sat on the bench hour after hour, And gazed and gazed with a seven-man power, While beautiful women strayed to and fro, With skirts to their knees and rarely below— Who's to blame?

He gazed and gazed at the charms unhid, And the women all knew it—you bet they did— But still in their gambols his glance they brooked, For they knew there was only, if still he looked, Hose to blame.

—Morning Astorian.

Judge Cleland Takes Burnett's Place.

Judge Cleland of Portland conveyed Department No. 1 of the circuit court for Marion county yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The case up for trial was that of M. M. High against the Southern Pacific Company, and High being a relative of Burnett, the latter asked Judge Cleland to sit in this case for him. This is the suit brought to recover damages for the killing of some horses near Chemawa. High won out once, but the supreme court ordered a new trial.

It is said that Fitzsimmons bet $2 on the winner of the Hart-Root fight. Fitz is almost as great a plunger as Tom Sharkey.

MAREVICK GIVES ITS OPINION

Of Country Editors in General and Speaks From Personal Experience

Ye Country Editor.

As a mental gymnast, a psychological lightning change artist, Maverick enters the country editor in the free-for-all, bar none; the limit handicap imposed and backs him to the extent of its cash and credit. Within the narrow compass of a day he does more work, of wider range, driven by the despot, Necessity—that not only "knows no law," but has neither conscience, heart nor brain—than any other hard driven slave on earth.

He makes out bills in the vain hope of collecting them; hence, therefore, necessarily, dashes the other fellow's hopes to earth; folds papers, directs wrappers, sweeps the office, makes paste, washes rollers, swears, tinkers with the press, does a funeral, reports a marriage and records a birth; stands for a kick from a pompous fool of a patron, buys the drinks to square a jolly, defends the Salvation Army from criticism, boasts his unappreciative town, goes hungry, sometimes feeds his face, sometimes also waters it; and, interspersed between these tasks, tries to write. He makes an effort to entertain his readers; if extremely presumptuous, to instruct; in despair he perpetrates stuff similar to this. That he does nothing well, that he cannot excel in his literary efforts, is a foregone conclusion, is inevitable.

Either the country newspaper ought to be abolished or some strong willed genius should weld them into a trust, rendering it impossible—by a judicious division of labor, a reduction of production cost, an elevation to the skyline limit of prices, the forcing of the politician and other beneficiaries to pay for what they get—for their owners to eat regularly and emerge from the mendicant class.

ONE OF THEM.

A Grim Tragedy

is daily enacted, in thousands of homes as death claims, in each one, another victim of consumption or pneumonia. But when coughs and colds are properly treated, the tragedy is averted. F. O. Huntley, of Oakland, Ind., writes: "My wife had the consumption, and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, which cured her, and today she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves. Guaranteed at 50c and $1.00 by J. C. Perry, druggist. Trial bottle free.

The Horrors of War.

The old gentleman in the smoking car was declaring vehemently, in his opinion, war was a disgrace to civilization. "War," he exclaimed, "is an abomination, a blot on the universe!" Upon which he rose and left the car.

"The old man seems to feel pretty strongly on the subject," said one of the passengers. "Has he lost some near relative through war?"

"Yes," answered a friend, "his wife's first husband."—Harper's Weekly.

Voluntary Imposition.

General Sherman once had occasion to stop at a country home where a tin basin and a roller towel on the back porch sufficed for the family's ablutions. For two mornings the small boy of the household watched in silence the visitor's efforts at making a toilet under the unfavorable auspices, but when on the third day the toothbrush, nail file, whisk broom, etc., had been duly used and returned to their places in the traveler's grip, he could suppress his curiosity no longer, so boldly put the question: "Say, Mister, air you always that much trouble to yo-se?"—Lippincott's.

Spotted Her Beauty.

Harriet Howard, of 209 W. 34th St., New York, at one time had her beauty spoiled with skin trouble. She writes: "I had salt rheum or eczema for years, but nothing would cure it until I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve." A quick and sure healer for cuts, burns and sores. 25c at J. C. Perry's drug store.

One Fellow's Scheme.

Old Bocksey—The young man who marries my daughter must be rich. Impecune—Well, sir, I don't know of any better way to get rich than to marry her.—Puck.

Fitzsimmons now says that he will not fight any one but Jim Corbett, and as the latter says he will fight no more, the old gentleman will not have any fight on his hands. It is probably just as well for him to get in the chloroform class.

Outing for July.

Into the heat and dust of the city comes the Outing Magazine, from cover to cover full of the holiday spirit and cool breaths from inland waters and the outer sea—so that the pangs of those whom duty keeps to her desk are in some degree mitigated, while those whom fortune favors realize, and appreciate their surroundings the more.

The Editor's View-Point contains a lot of straight-from-the-shoulder talk on the ill effects caused by commercialism in college sport, and Ralph D. Paine's School and College World is full of the same clean, vigorous spirit. Francis Metcalf and Oliver Herford lead one under the wings of the circus tent as usual.

The practical articles by men who are authorities in their different lines teach one how to knot and splice ropes, make furniture for camps and cabins, take care of fruit trees, catch striped bass, improve dog cameras, and hold a camera. The reader certainly finds what he is looking for, to his entire satisfaction, no matter what his interest takes, in July Outing.

Needs a Philadelphia Lawyer.

Judge Webster of Portland arrived in the city Tuesday evening to protest to the county commissioners against taxes on certain lands within the Klamath reservation assessed against the Oregon & California Road Company. These lands are in peculiar shape. In a suit brought before Judge Bellinger by the government he decided that this company did not own the lands. On being carried to the supreme court this decision was reversed. Even in the face of this decision the road company never had actual possession of the land and are unable to cut a stick of timber. It is stated that when they made an estimate of the timber they were compelled to pay the government for pasture for their horses. The attorney general of the state of Oregon has decided that the land is taxable and therefore it has been assessed to the road company and they are expected to pay the taxes.—Klamath Republican.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Sometimes a man gets grouchy when he sees his wife minus her war paint and wearing a dirty apron. Still, she has to see him without any collar on and his galluses hanging down his back. Which is worse?—St. John's Review.
