It's Absolutely True

That one-fourth of the entire civilized people of the world are suffering in a greater or less degree from eye strain.

YOUR eyes may be all right, but if there's the slightest thing wrong with them, or, if you're troubled with headache, nervousness, dizziness—all of which are direct symptoms of eye strain—surely it would be worth your while to have your eyes tested.

An examination will cost you nothing, and you'll be under no obligation to buy glasses here—should we find they are needed.

Britt and Sullivan Ready.

San Francisco, Cal., July 21.—The date of the fight between "Jimmy" Britt and "Kid" Sullivan has arrived, but there appears to be little or no increase of interest in the event. Nevertheless, the Hayes Valley Club, under whose auspices the mill is to take place, expects a fair-sized crowd on hand tonight, basing their expectations on the fact that Britt has a host of followers among the sporting fraternity who never fail to turn out to see him fight.

The lack of interest in the bout is due chiefly to the belief that the lad from the national capital is no match for Britt, and that the fight will consequently be a one-sided affair. The fight followers were desirous of seeing Britt and "Batling" Nelson in the ring again and are disappointed that Britt should side-step a match with the Dane and take on Sullivan, who is regarded as an easy mark.

Sullivan is an unknown quantity here, but some of the critics who have watched him at work think well of him and the prediction is made in some quarters that he will give the San Francisco idol a hard tussle when they come together tonight. Sullivan is a slam-bang fighter of the rough-and-ready type. His chief defect is his lack of experience. His brief record, however, is a creditable one. Although he has been in the fighting game only a few years, he has held his own with three of the best men of his division and disposed of several lesser ones. His fifteen-round draw with Eddie Hanlon was unquestionably a good performance, especially as it is held that Hanlon was fortunate to get the decision of draw.

Sullivan followed with a ten-round draw with "Young Corbett." In this battle Sullivan's manager insisted on a draw if the men were on their feet at the finish, and he was much chagrined when he saw how well Sullivan did. But the best performance in Sullivan's record was his six-round encounter with "Batling" Nelson, in which the Washington lad exchanged blow for blow and held his own to the finish.

Since the match between Britt and Sullivan was made several weeks ago both fighters have been training faithfully, and reports from their respective quarters today are to the effect that both are in prime condition. Under the articles of agreement they are to weigh in at six o'clock this evening at 133 pounds.

"The Wages of Sin."

San Jose, July 21.—A new phase was put on the killing of aged Gustav Hueter, the retired San Francisco capitalist, at his home Friday night by his wife, when Mrs. Heuter, having been made acquainted with the fact that Sheriff Ross had evidence of her intimacy with a physician, made a full confession to that officer.

Hueter's oldest son and the Japanese cook discovered the couple together at the ranch house recently during Hueter's absence, and the son informed the father. They planned to lay a trap for her this week and in the meantime Hueter was not to let his wife know that he was aware of the facts.

This was the real cause of Hueter's anger Friday night, although his wife did not know it. She states that she has been intimate with the physician for six months past, having gone to San Francisco a number of times to meet him.

Silver Bay Conference.

Silver Bay, N. Y., July 21.—The annual conference of the Young People's Missionary Movement began here today and will continue until the end of this month. A large attendance and an attractive program combine to give promise of a notable session. Bible study, the discussion of home and foreign missionary work and platform addresses by speakers of note make up the programme. The scheduled speakers include Bishop James M. Thoburn, Samuel B. Capen, John Willis Baer, Dr. E. E. Chivers, John R. Mott and Robert E. Spear.

Vermont Editors in Session.

Brattleboro, Vt., July 21.—Members of the Vermont Press Association are gathered here for their annual mid-summer meeting. This evening Clifton L. Sherman, of the Hartford Courant, will address the association on the subject of "Newspapers and Newspaper Men." The editors will devote tomorrow to entertainment.

Englishman Wins.

London, July 21.—In the challenge round for the Davis cup, at Wimbledon today, S. H. Smith, of the English team, defeated W. A. Larned, the American, 6-4, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4. Smith won by hard driving, and clever playing along the lines.

London, July 21.—Doherty, of England, defeated Holcombe Ward, the American.

Horribly Mangled Corpses

board the Bennington, when it reached the wharf, was frightful. The deck timbers, heavy steel and iron beams, smoke stacks, gun carriages, and scraps of engines and boilers were heaped in one indescribable mass. Two of the guns were gone, and the magazine, which let go almost simultaneously with the boiler, was nothing more than a great gaping hole. The plateau buckled, and the inner woodwork, in places, was torn to splinters. Much of the upper works was thrown into the water.

The ship is leaking badly, and it is feared that she will sink. The cause of the explosion is not definitely known. Engineer Nelson personally making an inspection of the boilers, preliminary to leaving port, had found everything all right, and was about to give orders to put up the steam, when the explosion occurred. Nelson was blown back into the store room, and injured, but not fatally. The captain and a few of the other officers had not yet joined the ship, and thus escaped. Ensign Perry, officer of the day, was on the forward deck, directly above the boilers, and is perhaps fatally injured. Other officers are injured, but none, it is thought, fatally. The engine crew were all at their places when the explosion occurred. The explosion was followed by an outpouring of a sheet of flame and scalding water and smoke. This caught every man in the boiler and engine rooms, blew up the decks and threw dozens of men into the air and into the bay. In the panic others jumped into the bay, and were picked up by boats which soon arrived. To step upon the gang plank and board the ship it was necessary to step over the bodies of three dead boys. Those sailors who remained in condition to walk around, behaved in an heroic manner, and did not stop until every badly injured man had been sent ashore on the launches.

The scenes at the morgue and hospitals are horrible. The victims are blackened by cinders and smeared with blood. Very few were badly torn, the injuries in most cases being from scalding water. In many cases the skin hung in ribbons. Some of the injured were so blackened and scalded they could not be identified by friends. Among the identified dead sailors are Chambers, Newcombe, Hughes and Bensell.

CITY WINS VICTORY.

Judge Galloway Dismisses Writ of Review in the Nichols Case.

The writ of review in the case of the City of Salem vs. Nichols was dismissed by Judge Galloway this afternoon. This was the case in which Nichols was arrested on the charge of vagrancy, and fined $75 by the city recorder. Through his attorneys the case was carried to the county court, where it was decided against him. His attorney then filed a writ of review in the circuit court on the grounds that the ordinance under which he had been arrested and fined was lost, and that, therefore, the recorder's court had no jurisdiction over his case. The judge held that, while there was grave doubt in his mind as to whether the ordinance was now in existence, the writ should be dismissed, for, if not, the fact that a number of other ordinances had been lost would work a great hardship on the city. The testimony in the trial went to show that the ordinances had been copied into a book, without being certified to. It is not thought that the case will be appealed further, but that Nichols will pay his fine.

Boys Got a Lecture.

Promptly at 2 o'clock this afternoon 12 boys appeared before Recorder Moores to get a free lecture on how to conduct themselves in the future. It is safe to say that they will neither be caught stealing nor eating stolen melons in the near future. Five of the boys that were in the gang were not compelled to appear, as they were very young, and had only eaten some of the melons, and were not implicated in stealing them.

Spotted Her Beauty.
