Selling Goat as Mutton.

A rose would smell as sweet By any other name, So do not scorn the goat, As lamb he chews the same.

Goat, the hollow horned, four-stomached animal, raised for its milk, flesh and skin primarily, is, according to the department of agriculture, furnishing a considerable part of the "lamb" and "mutton" handled by the packing houses and retail dealers all over the country. Dealers in goats at the stock yards say this is true in Kansas City as well as elsewhere.

"Several times of late I have gone into butcher shops with the purpose of buying mutton for my morning meal and have found nothing in the shop except goat, represented to me to be 'mutton,'" said a goat dealer at the stock yards.

"The average man is fooled. It is easy enough, though, to distinguish the difference between sheep and goat meat if one will only take the time and trouble. Herein the difference lies: In the sheep the front leg from the hoof to the knee is about the same length as from the knee to the shoulder. With the goat the distance from the hoof to the knee is only about half as great as from the knee to the shoulder. Also the goat is much more 'razor-backed' than the sheep. The backbone, or spinal column, is not so flexible as that of the sheep, and it cannot be so easily broken. Mutton is much more plentiful, but the cost is greater.

"Even if the people are being deceived and are eating goat it matters not so much if the animal is young, for kid meat is more delectable than lamb. I am of the opinion that both the packer and the butcher are at fault. Often the green butcher thinks that he is buying the most innocent of animals, the lamb, when he has bought the goat. And again the retail dealer knows that he has bought goat and he sells it to the consumer for mutton."

The Kansas City market receives a larger number of goats, compared with other markets, but compared with the number of sheep received the number is small. The biggest goat years were 1902 and 1903. In 1902 there were from 75,000 to 80,000 goats sold and in 1903 from 50,000 to 75,000. Last year there were only 23,000 on the market. From the number thus far this year it looks as if the receipts would exceed last year's. The bulk of the goat trade comes from Texas and New Mexico. The trade here is handled by a few firms. As such a limited number of goats arrive, they usually find a ready market. Fat goats this week are selling from $3.50 to $3.75 per hundred. Nannies, or does, are bringing from $3 to $4 a head.

Even if goats do not arrive very often at the stock yards, there are always goats there, for the stock yards company owns about fifteen, and each packing house has an animal. These are used to lead the sheep. Whenever a load of sheep arrives a goat is taken to the train to lead the band of sheep, sometimes numbering thousands, to the pens, later to be slaughtered. The goats are most needed after a rain, for then sheep balk, as they are afraid of mud puddles.

All men that are familiar with the history of the Kansas City sheep yards will remember a goat called "Mike." He won his renown by his marked degree of intelligence. He died about a year ago of old age, after having seen ten years of service at the yards.—Kansas City Star.

FRAUD EXPOSED.

A few counterfeiters have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and other medicines, thereby defrauding the public. This is to warn you to beware of such people, who seek to profit, through stealing the reputation of remedies which have been successfully curing disease for over 35 years. A sure protection to you is our name on the wrapper. Look for it, on all Dr. King's, or Bucklen's remedies, as all others are mere imitations. H. E. BUCKLEN & CO., Chicago, Ill., and Windsor, Canada. For sale by J. C. Perry, Salem.

CHILDREN OBY FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA.

Convulsion, Fits, then Epilepsy.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine has been so successful in curing these brain-wrecking diseases that there is every reason to believe that even the most hopeless cases can be benefited, if not fully restored.

We will be pleased to refer any one thus afflicted to many who now enjoy the blessing of health, after years of hopeless suffering.

"I have a son that had brain fever when two years old, followed by fits of the worst type, and he was pronounced incurable. I spent hundreds of dollars for him, without relief. After about fifteen years he became so bad that we sent him to Longcliff hospital for the insane, at Logansport, Ind. He was there nearly three years, but he continued to grow worse, so we brought him home July 30, 1902, in an awful condition. He had lost his mind almost entirely. He hardly knew one of the family, could not even find his bed; was a total wreck. He had from 5 to 10 fits a day. We were urged to try Dr. Miles' Nervine, and before the first bottle was used, we could see a change for the better. We have given it to him ever since, and he has had but two very light spells since last August, 1903, and then he was not well other ways. We pronounce him cured, as he can work and go anywhere. If any one wishes to ask any questions concerning this, they are at liberty to do so."

M. H. BUNNELL, Lincoln, Ind. Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

His Worldly Goods.

It was at a fashionable wedding in Savannah. The bridegroom had no visible means of support save his father, who was rich, but when he reached that part of the service he repeated boldly:

"With all my worldly goods I thee endow."

Whereupon his father said in a stage whisper that could be heard all over the church:

"Good Lord, there goes his bicycle."—Everybody's Magazine.
