AFLOAT AT SEA ON A RAFT

Life Saving Crew Search All Night in Vain for Them

(Four O'Clock Edition.)

Marshfield, Or., Sept. 21.—Afloat on what appeared to be a life raft, standing on their frail craft and gazing earnestly toward shore, but evidently not seeing the signals waved to them, four men and a woman were sighted a little way off shore, about 14 miles down the coast from Bandon at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

John Sidnam was the first to see the quintet in their perilous plight. He mounted an eminence, and, peeling off his coat, waved vigorous signals, but received no answering wave. The passengers on the life raft were evidently too intent on finding a safe place to come ashore, where they would not be overwhelmed by the heavy breakers that still beat up strong from the recent blow.

When Sidnam found that his signals were not noted, he started with all speed up the coast toward the Bandon lifesaving station. It took some time to make the trip, and it was fully 5 o'clock before the lifesavers started on their long pull at sea in quest of the people in such great peril.

When questioned on the subject, Mr. Sidnam was positive in his statement that the raft contained the woman, accompanied by four men.

"I could see them as plain as I can see you," he replied to his questioners, in a very brisk tone of voice.

"There were four men and a woman. All were standing up and looking in one direction toward shore. I watched them for two hours, and tried in every way to attract their attention, but without success.

"The raft, or whatever it was that bore them up, did not seem to be provisioned in any way. I could not see a box or a keg or anything that looked as if it might have contained anything to eat or drink."

Marshfield, Or., Sept. 21.—The Bandon lifesaving crew were out all night looking for four men and a woman, sighted on a raft last night. They reached Port Orford this morning, but found nothing. They patrolled the beach all night. The tug Triumph is now cruising off Cape Blanco.

A Bum Bomb.

(Four O'Clock Edition.)

Warsaw, Poland, Sept. 21.—The governor-general has issued an order stating that, owing to the leniency of the civil authorities, the military forces must suppress the disorders in this district. At Pinsk, in the province of Minsk, a bomb exploded in the pocket of a young man, who was waiting for the chief of police. The man who had the bomb and four others were killed.

Norway Ready to Fight.

(Four O'Clock Edition.)

Stockholm, Sept. 21.—According to a private letter, the Norwegian government has sent 60 cannon south by rail. The postal service has been increased to facilitate the circulation of mobilization summons.

Many stores in Christiania have been closed, says the writer of the private letter, because all the employees have been called to arms. Resolutions adopted by the Swedish social party, call for a general strike in case war is declared, and they have decided to refuse to take up arms.

Experts estimate the 1905-6 crop of wheat of the states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho as follows: Oregon 13,400,000 bushels; Washington, 32,000,000 bushels; Idaho, 4,800,000 bushels. Grand total, 50,000,000 bushels.

BEEF PACKERS FINED

Plead Guilty to Accepting Bribes as Rebates From the Railroad

Chicago, Sept. 21.—In the United States court this morning four members of the firm of Schwarzschild & Sulzberger, pleaded guilty to accepting bribes from railroads. Samuel Well, vice-president of the company, Vance D. Skipworth, assistant traffic manager, Beth S. Cuzey, traffic manager, were accused of accepting rebates latter also indicted, it is alleged for interfering with government witnesses. These cases are unidentified with the alleged violation of the Sherman law.

Charles E. Todd, assistant traffic manager, pleaded guilty. Judge Bethen fined Well $10,000, and Cuzey, Skipworth and Todd $5000 each. The costs were distributed proportionately. The United States marshal took the men into custody.

Well gave the clerk of the court a check covering the fines and costs. The government spent $16,762 in impaneling and keeping the grand jury which indicted them. The fines aggregate $25,000 and costs $5.00. The government today filed a demurrer to the plea of the other packers, who alleged the indictments were improperly returned. Well is 65 years old, and in poor health, and his family fears the result of the trials. Moody telegraphed congratulations to Morrison expects to have the cases of the packers under indictment for violations of the Sherman anti-trust law brought to a final hearing October 2d. He expects to get the dilatory pleas out of court by that time.

BRAVE LITTLE ELLA

Hot Air Story From the Wilds of the Raging White Salmon

(Four O'Clock Edition.)

Portland, Or., Sept. 21.—While the coyotes howled around them, Miss Ella Hawthorne, aged 18, of 362 Stanton street, guarded William Sinclair, an aged Portland resident, from harm all Tuesday night in the mountains near White Salmon. In her care was also a 4-year-old boy. The party was en route to Bedoin Mountain. Sinclair's horse fell with him on the mountain trail, breaking his leg. The coyotes devoured the carcass of the horse, but were kept off the old man and boy by the girl.
