LEARNED FROM ABNER

Widow Evidently Caught on to Some of Brother Abner's Little Ways

Somerset, Pa., Sept. 23.—Exceptions to the accounting of Ennie E. McKinley, widow and executrix of Abner McKinley, have been made by the Seaboard National Bank, of New York. It is said other exceptions will be filed. It is alleged that Mrs. McKinley is disposing of the money realized, defrauding the creditors by not having appraised a large amount of personal property, horses, carriages, etc., worth several thousand dollars.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

(Four O'Clock Edition.)
Stockholm, Sweden, Sept. 23.—The government announces that Norway and Sweden have simultaneously ordered their troops not to approach the frontier nearer than one kilometer.

English Footballers in St. Louis. St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 23.—The English association of football players, who are on a tour of the United States playing exhibition games and contest games, will play their first game in this city today. Football enthusiasts from all parts of the state are here and an enormous crowd is expected to be present at the game. This evening a reception will be tendered to the English players. Another game will be played tomorrow.

STEAMER ASHORE

(Four O'Clock Edition.)
Toledo, Or., Sept. 23.—The steamer W. H. Harrison went ashore at Alsea, in a dense fog, last night, and is probably a total wreck. The crew escaped. She was the property of the Elmore Packing Company.

LAND FRAUDS

(Four O'Clock Edition.)
Portland, Sept. 23.—The closing arguments began in the Williamson case this afternoon. This morning J. H.

A SPANISH ELECTION

Cuba, Sept. 23.—Aynla was offered a big sum to join the plot and assist in carrying it through. He agreed, learned the details and informed the chief of police. The liberals were preparing to assassinate all the judges. The raid on the Hotel Suigo, and its attendant tragedy, followed. The body of Villuendas was ordered brought to Havana to lie in state in the house of representatives, but it was buried at Cienfuegos this morning, carried to the cemetery on the shoulders of the liberals. According to reports the election in Cienfuegos is proceeding quietly. There were several outbreaks in the interior, and one fight at Pinar del Rio, but the police quickly restored order. Trouble is expected this afternoon and tonight. The report of the attempt to assassinate Gomez was apparently merely a political trick, without any foundation. It appears the government is preventing the transmission of messages from Cienfuegos, intended to influence the voting, as the liberal newspapers of this city have not a line from their correspondents.

WANTS THE SAHARA

New York, Sept. 23.—According to the Herald's Tangier correspondent, a passenger on board the steam yacht Honor, who is well acquainted with the plans of Baron de Forest, is authority for the statement that, under the pretext of a mere hunting trip, the baron has prepared an armed expedition to the Desert of Sahara, with the support of the British government.

For this purpose the yacht is supplied with from 3000 to 4000 repeating rifles with ammunition. It is stated that Baron de Forest intended to found a Saharan empire, believing that his influence and millions would enable him to carry out the scheme successfully. Baron de Forest has been recently in frequent communication with a famous Africanist. His idea that the execution of his project would be of political advantage to the British government.

The correspondent, after filing a dispatch containing the above facts, cables that he has received a private communication from Mogador to the effect that Baron de Forest and party started on the night of September 16th for the Desert of Sahara.

The correspondent of the Herald at Las Palmas states that Baron de Forest's yacht, the Honor, arrived there on the morning of September 18th, and sailed at midnight on the 19th, probably to Teneriffe for dispatches. The Honor remained six days at Mogador, whence she came here. She carries a crew of 38. The Baron and Baroness de Forest were both on board, together with Mr. Harris, of Tangier, and several distinguished-looking members.

ard in 1779, the Massachusetts Society Sons of the American Revolution, the Paul Jones club of Portsmouth and other patriotic organizations celebrated the day by dedicating a tablet, marking the site of the old shipyard on Badger's Island, in Killery, where Paul Jones' ship-of-war Ranger was built in 1777.

The members of the various societies arrived here this morning and marched to the North Congregational church, where the memorial exercises were held at 11 o'clock. Prof. I. F. Friese welcomed the outside members in behalf of the Paul Jones club. Gen. Francis Henry Appleton, Dr. Moses G. Parker and the Hon. Augustus F. Moulton also delivered addresses. After the meeting dinner was taken at Freeman hall, opposite the church, and in the afternoon the whole party will visit the navy yard and other points of interest.

Houses Must Be Numbered. Property owners are required to place numbers upon their buildings, in accordance with ordinance No. 436, passed by the council October 4, 1904, which requires all houses or buildings now erected to be numbered before January 1, 1905, and all hereafter erected to be numbered before being occupied, under penalty of from $2.50 to $5.00 per day for each day's neglect. W. A. MOORES, Recorder.
