STEIN-BLOCH SMART CLOTHES

CLOTHES THE INDEX OF MAN

A man is judged by first impression—and rightly so. Clothes are an index of character. Right clothes indicate right thinking.

We have sought and found that ideal in men's apparel which enhances appearance, which expresses character.

We count no detail trifling which makes or mars impression—no cloth too good, no tailoring too painstaking for our customers.

We believe the man who dresses well possesses every advantage. He commands attention, respect, admiration. And rightly so; it's the advantage of well-groomed and thoroughbred over ordinary and commonplace.

Good sense, reason, self-possession, character, are all on the side of the man who wears Stein-Bloch Smart Clothes.

ARRESTED ON TWO CHARGES

Chief of Police Cornelius Has a Busy Day With the Recorder

Eugene Eckerlen was arrested this morning on two different complaints, both of which were sworn to by Chief of Police Cornelius. The first charges him with selling liquor on Sunday, and the other with selling liquor without a license. The specific charges are that he sold two quarts of beer to men by the name of Martin and Potter on last Sunday. The liquor was sold in the Elite Cafe, and the charge of selling liquor without a license was brought because he had allowed his license to expire before asking for it to be renewed. This complaint is based on a technicality, but the officers say that he has been trying to evade the law on a mere technicality, and they propose to fight him with fire.

This is thought to be the first of a series of arrests which will now follow in short order. It is thought that another prominent saloon man, who is accused of running a gambling joint in connection with his saloon, will be arrested before night. Chief Cornelius says that he has some strong evidence to back up his complaints, and he is determined to find out if the city ordinances can be enforced. The city recorder is also of the opinion that, as long as the laws are on the books, they should be enforced.

Eckerlen was given until tomorrow to plead, and interesting developments are expected. The writs of arrest were issued from the recorder's court.

Schwartz-Rex Wedding.

Miss Annie Schwartz was married yesterday at noon to Mr. Edmund Rex at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ruge, in West Salem, in the presence of about 40 relatives and friends.

White roses and red dahlias formed beautiful decorations, the roses being used in the parlors and the dahlias in the dining room. Oregon grape formed a pretty green background. The bridal couple stood under a wedding bell of white flowers, while Rev. W. H. Salkoff of this city, read the service.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ruge and has made many friends during her residence of two years in and near Salem. She looked especially pretty yesterday in a gown of cream lacework. She carried bride's roses.

The groom is well known in Polk county, and will take his bride to Oak Point farm, after a wedding trip to Portland.

In rare families as in rare books the editions are limited.

STORY OF THE STORM

Thousands Are Homeless and the Loss of Life Runs into the Hundreds

Washington, Sept. 29.—General Corbin cables that all the officers and six passengers aboard the coast guard boat Leyte, which was wrecked in the typhoon, were lost. Temporary shelter posts at six places were destroyed. The property damage in Manila is $3500. The telegraph service is demoralized, and the loss of life in the islands is larger than was supposed. The loss to hemp plantations is $10,000. The transport Rodriguez is ashore at Legalpi. Thousands are homeless, and many dead have been interred at Samar.

Must Get a License From Farmers.

Farmers throughout this section of the Willamette valley are combining against the reckless hunters, now that the Mongolian pheasant season is opening, and the prospects are that the hunters who have been in the habit of invading the fields of the farmers in some parts of Linn county will find that it does not pay to ignore the trespass notices. In some parts of this county the farmers have formed organizations, agreeing that no permission will be granted to hunt on the lands of the members, except that every member of the combine signs the written permit, and any of the hunters violating the rights of the members will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. There is only one condition that will warrant a farmer who belongs to such an organization to permit hunting on his land without violating the agreement, and that is when a friend is given permission to hunt the farmer giving the permission is to accompany the hunter. Under any other circumstances the hunter will be prosecuted if he invades the lands controlled by the members of these farmers' clubs.

In the neighborhood of Lebanon and beyond a number of organizations of this kind have been formed, one near Lebanon numbering over 30 members, and another in the same section having over 20 farmers on the list of members. These farmers will watch their lands closely during the first few days of the open season, several deputy constables being in the neighborhood, and violators of the law or property rights of the members will be promptly arrested and turned over to the authorities.
