

Woman's Kidney Troubles

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Especially Successful in Curing This Fatal Disease.

Mrs. J.W. Lang and Mrs. S. Frake

Of all the diseases known, with which women are afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless early and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient seldom survives. Being fully aware of this, Mrs. Pinkham, early in her career, gave exhaustive study to the subject, and in procuring her great remedy for woman's trouble—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—was careful to see that it contained the correct combination of herbs which was sure to control that fatal disease, woman's kidney troubles. The Vegetable Compound acts in harmony with the laws that govern the entire female system, and while there are many so-called remedies for kidney troubles, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only one especially prepared for women, and thousands have been cured of serious kidney ailments by it. Derangements of the feminine organs quickly affect the kidneys, and when a woman has such symptoms as pain or weight in the back, backache, bearing down pains, frequent urination, scanty or high colored, producing scalding or burning deposits like brick dust in it; unusual thirst, swelling of hands and feet, swelling under the eyes or sharp pains in the back running down the inside of her groin, she may be sure her kidneys are affected and should lose no time in combating the disease with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the woman's remedy for woman's ills.

The following letters show how marvelously successful it is.

At the Old Standstill

Some are born great, some have greatness thrust upon them—others advertise. The merchant who sits down and waits for business to come to him will find himself among the left over baggage when the Empire State express of business success pulls out.

Business success needs three things—knowledge, push and good advertising.

Advertising isn't an art; it's just applied common sense. Advertising is naturally a creative force. Since it has been applied to modern commerce there have been created dozens of commodities and branches of trade that did not exist before its advent. The $600,000,000 spent annually in this country for publicity has set many hundreds of millions of dollars running into wholly new channels.

Business is warfare—in a sense, a hard, constant fight to the finish. Advertising is the business man's most modern, most effective, weapon.

Once in awhile we hear some old fellow saying, "I have never advertised and am still doing business at the old standstill." He means that he is doing business at the old standstill.—M. L. Corey in Retailer and Advertiser.

The most successful merchants in this town advertise regularly in this paper. The reason is obvious.

READY FOR THE RACE

France, Germany, Italy and America all Line up for the Vanderbilt Cup

New York, Oct. 13.—With the automobile race for the Vanderbilt cup but a day away, speculative interest in the event is at a fever heat. The Italian team, which long ago was established as the favorite, still holds its position, though it has declined as an even money choice against the field. In all quarters it is conceded that the Fiat quintette stands an excellent chance of "lifting" the cup. Its high power cars are believed to be suited to the route, its drivers are known to be skilful, daring and masterful, and as a team it was early on the course and is better organized than any other.

Lancia, the great Italian driver, is the individual favorite. His installation in this position is due to his excellent showing in the Gordon Bennett cup race. In this event Lancia led them by three laps with the race his by every way of reasoning. Next to Lancia Hemery (France) is believed to have the best chance of capturing the coveted trophy. Other drivers fancied are Janatzky (German), De Caters (German), Duray (France), and Chevrolet (Italian).

Taking the betting odds as reflecting the opinions of those who are giving close attention to the race, the order of finish of the teams in the race would be: Italy 1, France 2, Germany 3, United States 4. In the same way the experts would place the first five finishers about as follows: Lancia and Hemery 1 and 2, De Caters 3, Chevrolet 4, Duray 5.

According to the positions assigned them by the committee the contestants will get away tomorrow morning in the following order: One, Jenetty, of Germany; two, Duray, of France; three, Dingley, of America; four, Lancia, of Italy; five, Warden, of Germany; six, Wagner, of France; seven, Tracy, of America; eight, Nazzaro, of Italy; nine, Campbell, of Germany; ten, Szisz, of France; eleven, Christie, of America; twelve, Cedrino, of Italy; thirteen, Koone, of Germany; fourteen, Heath, of France; fifteen, Lytle, of America; sixteen, Chevrolet, of Italy; seventeen, Hemery, of France; eighteen, White, of America; nineteen, Sartori, of Italy.

Luther Manuscript Found.
Berlin, Oct. 13.—Students of history and literature, collectors of manuscripts and theologians are greatly interested in the report that an autograph MS. of a book, entitled "Expositions of the Psalms: How they must be interpreted," by Martin Luther, has been discovered in Zerbst, in the Duchy of Anhalt. Previous to the discovery it was not known that such a work was in existence, and it has caused considerable surprise that so important a manuscript could remain hidden away for so many centuries without being discovered. The manuscript is considered of the greatest value and will undoubtedly be placed into one of the large museums. This discovery has caused great activity among the directors of various libraries, and it is expected a thorough search for other Luther manuscripts will now be made.

Made an Interesting Find.
Youngstown, O., Oct. 13.—While excavating for the Garfield sewer many interesting finds were made during the last few days. The workmen struck a stratum of soft shale, which frequently contains carboniferous deposits. Among the fossils found were many carbonized remains of ferns and other plants of the carboniferous period and some remarkably well preserved specimens of Lepidodendra, tree ferns and Sigillaria, characteristic of the carboniferous period.

THE ROOT OF THE MATTER.

He Cured Himself of Serious Stomach Troubles by Getting Down to First Principles.

A man of large affairs in one of our prominent eastern cities by too close attention to business, too little exercise and too many club dinners, finally began to pay nature's tax, levied in the form of chronic stomach trouble; the failure of his digestion brought about a nervous irritability, making it impossible to apply himself to his daily business and finally deranging the kidneys and heart.

In his own words he said: "I consulted one physician after another, and each one seemed to understand my case but all the same they each failed to bring about the return of my former digestion, appetite and vigor. For two years I went from pillar to post, from one sanatorium to another, I gave up smoking, I quit coffee and even renounced my daily glass or two of beer, without any marked improvement.

"Friends had often advised me to try a well-known proprietary medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I had often perused the newspaper advertisements of the remedy, but never took any stock in advertised medicines nor could believe a 50-cent patent medicine would touch my case.

"To make a long story short I finally bought a couple of packages at the nearest drug store, and took two or three tablets after each meal, and occasionally a tablet between meals, when I had any feeling of nausea or discomfort.

"I was surprised at the end of the first week to note a marked improvement in my appetite and general health and before the two packages were gone I was certain that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were going to cure completely, and they did not disappoint me. I can eat and sleep and enjoy my coffee and cigar, and no one would suppose I had ever known the horrors of dyspepsia.

"Out of friendly curiosity I wrote to the proprietors of the remedy, asking for information as to what the tablets contained and they replied that the principal ingredients were aseptic pepsin (government test), malt diastase and other natural digestives, which digest food, regardless of the condition of the stomach.

The root of the matter is this, the digestive elements contained in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest the food, give the overworked stomach a chance to recuperate and the nerves and whole system to receive the nourishment which can only come from food. Stimulants and nerve tonics never give real strength, they give fictitious strength, invariably followed by reaction. Every drop of food, every nerve and tissue is manufactured from our daily food, and if you can insure its prompt action and complete digestion by the regular use of so good and wholesome a remedy as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, you will have no need of nerve tonics and sanitariums.

Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been on the market only a few years, probably every druggist in the United States, Canada and Great Britain now sells them and considers them the most popular and successful of any preparation for stomach trouble.

ADVERTISE
$29108499

In a recent number of McClure's Magazine is a story in which the facts relating to the profits of a baking powder were brought out through litigation in the courts. It was shown that the company manufacturing the powder was capitalized at $100,000. The profits amounted to $17,047 in 1870, and they continued to grow until they reached the enormous aggregate in 1887 of $723,102, the income that year being four times the amount of the capital invested. The profits since 1887 have steadily increased, but the feature of particular interest in this connection is that the company spent $17,000 for advertising in 1870 and $291,084 in 1887.

The baking powder may or may not have been superior to others put on the market, but the business was made to pay the immense returns noted through liberal and judicious advertising. Another feature in this matter is that the company has advertised almost exclusively in the newspapers.

The men behind that baking powder realized the value of the newspaper press in reaching the public, and to it they owe the marvelous results—Newspaperdom.

If you want to increase your profits, advertise in this paper. No better medium to reach the buyers of this community.

JOURNAL WANT ADS BRING RESULTS

"The best things are the least come-at-able" was written before the age of "Omni-grams"—want ads. Want advertising makes all reasonable things "come-at-able."

If your wife is a victim of "too much kitchen," advertise for a cook and let her slip her neck out of the collar.

No, it's not a new family living just across the street—it's just a "Want-ad's-worth of new lodgers."

Did you notice that they were tearing down an old building out your way? Fine, new one to take its place. A Want ad. found the new owner—or the old building would still be undisturbed.

Have you "found your work?" Not unless your work calls for your highest abilities and affords an increasing income. Have your services ever been really WELLS ADVERTISED?

It's not a kindness to retain an employee who is a misfit—it's not even kind to his family, for he can secure "fitting employment" through want advertising, at "fitting wages." And you—you can find the right man, if you advertise for him.

There is always a market for old or used machinery of every kind—but it often happens that you can find the market only through a "For Sale" advertisement.

After you have used some article, and ceased to need it longer, you are in a position to sell it at a bargain—cheaper than any dealer could—and still feel satisfied. Let a "For Sale" adv. be your salesman.

Your wife may not be "literary," but if she can write an attractive "Furnished Rooms to Rent" advertisement, her work will yield direct money returns—and poetry will not always do that.

If you have business property to let you cannot afford to find the second-best market for it—to accept any but the highest obtainable rate. You cannot find "the one best tenant" without advertising for him.

If it is true that "money makes the man complete" and that, being incomplete, you wish to borrow enough money to "complete" you, want advertising will help you to do even that.

"Sorrows" are bearable—if you have something to eat; and thus a good boarding house, always to be secured through a want ad., may play an important part in your life.

When is a Man Old?
London, Oct. 13.—The London Vegetarian Association met here today at Memorial Hall to consider the question of when old age begins with men. Nearly 100 men between 80 and 90, who are still engaged in literary, medical, agricultural and other work, are in attendance, and will discuss the question from their own individual standpoint, while prominent physicians will treat the subject from the purely objective standpoint of science. The meeting and its purpose have been considerably ridiculed by the press, and the public in general, and it is doubtful that the meeting will reach any solution of the problem.
