Omaha, Neb., Oct. 13.—The suit of Mae Wood, in garnishment of the property of the United States Express Company, to secure an alleged debt of $25,000 which she says Senator Platt owes her, was dismissed today, the court holding the property did not belong to Platt, merely because he was president of the concern.
Cheated Death.
Kidney trouble often ends fatally, but by choosing the right medicine, E. H. Wolfe of Bear Grove, Iowa, cheated death. He says: "Two years ago I had kidney trouble, which caused me great pain and suffering and anxiety, but I took Electric Bitters, which effected a complete cure. I have also found them of great benefit in general debility and nerve trouble, and keep them constantly on hand, since, as I find they have no equal." J. C. Perry, druggist, guarantees them at 50c.

AMUSEMENTS
TONIGHT.
Edison—Vaudeville.
Edison Has a Strong Bill.

A show of great excellence opened at the Edison theater last night for an engagement of the balance of the week. The bill is exceptionally strong and should draw fine patronage. The headliner on the bill, the great Yale trio, club swingers of national reputation, is as expensive an act as has ever appeared in this city. Each of the three handles the gloves with marvelous skill. The ensemble, when all appear at once, forms a beautiful picture. Mlle. Vida does a wire act that is a novelty. Besides her excellent work on the slack wire, she keeps up a running fire of jokes that keeps the audience convulsed. Morris Jones, the well known black face monologist, also does his best to keep the house in a good humor. The ever popular Harry Moyer sings this week, "I'll Try to Forget You," a beautiful sentimental song, illustrated with fine slides. The bill, as usual, closes with moving pictures, and an exceedingly novel and amusing series are shown this week.

"York State Folks"
"York State Folks," which W. C. Cunningham presents at the Grand Opera House tomorrow (Saturday) night with the entire original cast and the complete scenic production, has established itself as the most popular of all the rural dramas. The present tour follows an uninterrupted six months run of the play in Chicago and Boston, beginning in the former city early in the spring and closing after an all-summer run in Boston only when previous bookings made it necessary to begin the road tour. "York State Folks" did what no other play ever accomplished in Boston—it kept the Majestic open the entire summer, through all the hot weather, and the demand for seats was such that the orchestra was put under the stage after the first week of the run.

FROZEN AND LOST

Albert Hucker, the young man accidentally shot last Monday by his companion, Ross Green, while the two were out hunting in Timber Canyon, near Durkee, was brought to the Baker City Sanatorium last night for treatment. He is in a precarious condition and small hopes are entertained of his recovery. This morning Dr. May performed an operation on him to remove the bullet, and the result of this will tell in a great measure whether he will recover or not. Hucker was shot with a 44 Winchester rifle through the abdomen. As soon as young Green saw what he had done he hastened to the nearest lumber camp and procured assistance to remove the boy to Durkee, his home. The rescuers started out, but when they arrived in the vicinity of where Hucker was supposed to be, they could not find him. All day Monday and that night the searchers scoured the woods, vainly endeavoring to discover the whereabouts of the wounded boy, but only succeeded in finding him the next morning. By this time Hucker was almost dead from loss of blood and the severe cold had frozen both feet. Several times the searchers had passed within ten feet of where he lay, but he was too weak to cry for help or attract attention. After finding he had to be brought 14 miles to Durkee, which rough trip in the mountains almost killed him. Had it not been for his uncommonly strong constitution, he would probably have died on the way. Both of the boys are well known and liked in Durkee and the sad accident has caused the utmost grief in that community.—Baker City Herald.

Last Hope Vanished.
When leading physicians said that W. M. Smithart, of Pekin, Ia., had incurable consumption, his last hope vanished; but Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, kept him out of the grave. He says: "This great specific completely cured me and saved my life. Since then, I have used it for over ten years and consider it a marvelous throat and lung cure." Strictly scientific cure for Coughs, Sore Throats or Colds; sure preventive of Pneumonia. Guaranteed, 50c and $1.00 bottles at J. C. Perry's drug store. Trial bottle free.

OTHERS ARE IN IT
Houston, Texas, Oct. 13.—The grand jury at Edna adjourned without returning an indictment against Monk Giggson, the negro who is charged with the murder of the Condit family of five. It is reported the jury found evidence implicating others and will hold the case open. Most of the troops have left here, leaving the prisoner to be guarded by rangers.

"IN OLD KENTUCKY" A DANDY

A Play That Makes You Forget Everything Else for the Time

In spite of the fact that the curtain at the Opera House last night went up at the unusual hour of 7 o'clock, a good house was present to witness the performance of "In Old Kentucky," and before the first act was brought to a close there were nearly 100 persons standing.

The large company was headed by Miss Shirley, as Madge Brierly, the Flower of the Mountain, who won the hearts of the audience as well as those of Frank Layson, the wealthy young aristocrat of the Blue Grass county, and Joe Lorey, the young moonshiner of the mountains. Both of these parts were well done by Frank Dayton and Guy Durrell.

Neb, the old family servant, who dates "hefo' de wah," was so well delineated by Charles K. French, that he was a warm favorite with the audience from start to finish. He was the humorist of the play and did his part well.

The middle aged lovers, Colonel Doolittle and Miss Aletha Layson, also furnished a great deal of amusement, especially in the race scene, where they both finally climbed a tree, in order to see Queen Bees win the race, and save her owner from financial ruin.

Not the least of the attractive features of the play were the Woodlawn Whangdoodles, who could do everything in general and dance in particular.

Another feature of the performance was the beautiful mountain scene in the first act. The scenery of the play was peculiar in that it was suitable and a large part of the credit for the success of this part of the show is due to Roy Phillips, the local stage manager.

A GOOD NIGHT'S REST

"Speak for it!" she cried to dogs. For she knew in her little heart, That German Syrup, home's great treasure, Could health and joy impart.

The greatest tonic on earth is a good night's rest. Restless nights and the terrible exhaustion of a hacking cough are dread dangers of the poor consumptive. But why this fear of the night when a few doses of Dr. Boecher's German Syrup will insure refreshing sleep, entirely free from cough or night sweat? Free expectation in the morning is made certain by taking German Syrup. We know by the experience of over thirty-five years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchial or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists. Sold in Salem by S. C. Stone.
