GOTHAM LETTER

New York, Oct. 21.—The proprietors of the four hotels that were raided by Captain Gallagher, having softened their anger somewhat by rounding up their imaginations a good round sum as the damages they expect to recover from Captain Gallagher and the municipality, which employs the gallant Gallagher, are having a great deal of fun over a suit for $10,000 damages that has been started by a man, who, with his wife, was refused lodging because the hotel clerk wouldn't register them. They couldn't produce a marriage certificate when called upon to do so, having left home without purposing to stay in the city all night. The raided hotel keepers want to know what they are to do if they are sued for not taking people in, and then raided for extending the privileges of their hostilities to persons of at least seeming respectability. Meanwhile the hotels have suffered severely for the untimely intrusion of the police on their privacy. How respectable these hotels are may be judged from the fact that Mrs. Jefferson Davis is a patron of one of them, and other ladies and gentlemen of equal standing are guests of the others.

Lillian Russell is in law. She wants her profits in "Lady Teazle." The fair Lillian as "Lady Teazle" was very charming, so charming, indeed, that she really thinks she should be well paid for summoning all her charms of speech, of expression and of figure, as she claims she did. As the house was crowded at every performance she concluded that the play was paying well, and she only wants half of the profits, which she feels sure were large. The Schuberts, from whom she expects to receive the money, say Lillian is mistaken as to the profits, that, instead of being large, they were small.

Heart Weakness.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has made many hearts well after they have been pronounced hopeless. It has completely cured thousands, and will almost invariably cure or benefit every case of heart disease.

Short breath, pain around heart, palpitation, fluttering, dizzy, fainting and smothering spells should not be neglected. Take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and see how quick you will be relieved.

It cannot make a new heart, but will restore a sick one by strengthening the heart nerves and muscles, relieving the unnatural strain, and restoring its vitality.

"I had a very bad case of heart trouble. For six months I could not work. Last July I was plowing corn and feeling bad all day; in the afternoon in plowing one row I had to lay down, or fall down, three times. My heart throbbed as though it would burst through, and I had difficulty in getting my breath. I purchased a bottle of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and before I had used half of it I could lay down and sleep all night. Previously I had to get up from five to ten times a night. I have taken several bottles, and my heart is as regular as clock work. I feel like a new man, and can work considerably for an old man, 44 years old."

mate all its own is becoming manifest to even the dullest minds in the city. The temperature in winter shows some remarkable differences at different points, there being several degrees lower temperature at the corners of Spruce and Nassau streets; corner Church and Jay streets; Boekman street and Park Row, Wall street and Broadway and other places where breezes produced by the lofty buildings sting hapless pedestrians with cold, while in other quarters of the city no discomfort is experienced. Then there have lately come to the city varieties of winds, of sudden and untimely gusts, of howling and whirling dervishes of blows that buffet humanity in a manner never encountered before.

Conscience, after all is not a lost art in the great metropolis. There has been a tremendous raking up in many lines of the life in this great city. Men of national reputation, leaders in all circles, social, mercantile, legal, financial political have been stunned, as "the mills of the gods," which grind slowly, are showing that they are also "Grinding exceeding small." Indeed, they are fairly pulverizing and flattening in the work they turn out. Men go in the mill puffed up, portly in person and self conceit, and they come out from between the rollers so exceedingly flat and thin that they might easily be taken for the shirt fronts that they used to wear in their full dress at banquets and meetings called for the betterment of the public interests. But conscience finding there is so much less of them to handle, is moving them to remarkable acts. Armitage Matthews, quailing before his trial for looting an estate, plunges head first to the pavement. James H. Hyde, the perfumed darling is skulking around the danger line and is expecting to expatriate him. Depew, the jaunty and really agreeable senator, drops the Republican convention that once did him honor. The list is too long to quote in full, but enough is shown to make sure that the "conscience that makes cowards of us all" is cutting wide swathes in the ranks of the outwardly respectable and inwardly rascally men in whom the public has believed.

Who is to succeed the dethroned? Mr. Alexander is no longer president of the Equitable. There are others that predict that Mr. John A. McCall of the New York Life, and Mr. Richard A. McCurdy of the Mutual Life, will follow in his footsteps. If this prove true prophecy, who will take their places and reproduce the results these men learned in insurance, wisdom and methods during the years they have ruled the insurance. Large fortunes have been made but we must remember that it came from piles that these past-masters of insurance, and perhaps we may as well say assurance had heaped to a huge height. First class insurance men, men who know the business from the bottom, will have to be chosen as their successors. Of course, there will be several years of poor results, from the ripping and tearing that has startled the world, but after that the revenues must be up to past figures or the public will be disappointed. It won't do to produce a situation in which the looters are made to appear to have been more profitable to their companies despite the stealings than the successors who will turn every penny in the treasuries and leave it there.

Now that the Republicans after a great deal of work have secured a head for their ticket in the person of Mr. M. Ivins, a very able and accomplished gentleman and one well up in city politics in as much as he served once as a city chamberlain there is some life in the campaign which had been as dull as a stubbin' hoe. Mr. Ivins will get the solid Republican vote it is claimed while William Randolph Hearst will draw off largely from the Democratic candidate by loudly and vigorously exploiting the anti-gas feeling which was aroused against McClellan by reason of his favoring the gas people. The outcry against McClellan claims that he owned and controlled by Murphy, the Tammany boss. Now, McClellan is a very tidy man and besides having a great many good qualities is also the son of his father "which tells largely in certain quarters." He is personally exceedingly popular. The odds certainly favor him and the diversion of Democratic votes via Hearst can hardly beat him.

Do You Believe In Signs.
A mark, note, token or symptom, indicates that by which anything may be known, that is, we are forewarned if evil is to befall us, or we have the pleasure of anticipation if the signs betoken a fortunate occurrence. Accidental occurrences all have their signs, every disease has its symptoms. The point is to heed the former, and counteract the effect of the latter. Spells of sick headache follow indigestion and stomach disorders, belching, biliousness and dyspepsia are signs of sickness. People that believe in these signs and know that they are true from experience, can get immediate relief and a speedy cure by the use of Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills. Sold by druggists for 25c per box. Only one for a dose.

The Outlook Hopeful.
Dr. Abbott, in his latest volume, gives us a running survey of the industrial problem, and thereupon considers its solution under three proposed plans—regulation, reorganization and regeneration. He believes, with Spencer, "that there is going on in our time a movement toward the dissolution of existing forms and a reorganization on what may perhaps not unfrequently be termed a socialistic basis, and that this movement is irresistible." But he is wholly unable to see in the coming changes the disaster predicted by the great individualist philosopher. Rather, he believes the movement "has in it the promise of an industrial prosperity and an intellectual, social and spiritual development far transcending any that past history has afforded." Yet he separates himself sharply from the orthodox socialists; and, passing by political regulation and economic reorganization, he rests his hope mainly upon ethical regeneration. Christ, he asserts, did not condemn the acquisition and accumulation of money. On the contrary, he explicitly commended it. "What he condemned was "the notion that money or the things which money will obtain are to be valued for their own sake." The ideal of society to which he looks forward is evidently one wherein the buying and selling propensities of humankind are nobly restrained by a constant reference to the teachings of Jesus.—The Independent.

Military Steeple Chasing.

New York, Oct. 21.—The first military steeple chase under the auspices of the United Hunts Racing association and with the endorsement of the military authorities will be run at Morris Park this afternoon. The war department has expressed itself strongly in favor of the plan of holding such steeple chase meetings and has promised to lend every assistance within the power of the military authorities. As there are no funds available for the purpose, however, the officers taking part in these steeple chase meets will have to pay their own expenses. The number of entries for today's contest is surprisingly large and some excellent sport is expected. The officers of the United Hunts Racing association are Perry Belmont, president; Howard N. Potter, vice president; Ralph N. Ellis, treasurer and Belmont Purdy, secretary. The executive committee is composed of H. S. Page, H. N. Potter and John R. Townsend.

provide themselves with the best means of accomplishing the task before them. The most successful housewives are those who use our up-to-date kitchen utensils.

One Sand-Piper Does Not Make A Seashore.

Neither does any old knife make a real help in the kitchen. She who works away, day in and day out, in the kitchen, needs a decent knife, and she needs more than one kind, too. There should be special knives for special purposes—not because we may so and sell them, but because it is the truth. Paring knives and bread knives, Christy or other kinds, big cooks' knives for meats and heavy cutting and regular kitchen knives that will do anything from cutting kindlings to scraping the kitchen table. Remember, we are headquarters for this sort of goods, and that we have nothing but reliable stock. We don't like to make this statement so pointed, but conditions force us to do so. And, too, our prices will save money for any housewife.
