New York, Oct. 23.—Following the mutiny on the schooner Ida B. Gibson, in-bound from Norfolk, the captain was stabbed and one man shot this morning, one of the missing men believed to have been murdered. The ship is fast settling and will probably soon lie at the bottom of East River, at the pier where she is tied up. The men mutinied when when the ship ran aground outside Norfolk. The officers subdued them with belaying pins. When they came ashore in this city this morning the officers tried to arrest them. Detective Harlick was shot and is in a critical condition. William Aemann, a watchman, was shot seriously, and Captain F. H. Branley, master of the ship, has several serious stabs. Mate Medley has not been seen since attacked by the crew.

All papers and books have been carefully examined, but no trace has been found of anything to reveal the whereabouts of about $600,000. An amazing system of finance is revealed. Clark kept no records of loans made, much less of seeking the approval of the directors.

RYAN CASE AFFIRMED

It was a shock to the friends of J. C. Ryan, and he has hundreds of them here, as well as all over the United States, when the rumor circulated that the supreme court had affirmed the lower court in the case of the State vs. J. C. Ryan. Ryan, it will be remembered, was the stakeholder in a foot race here, the parties being a man named Morrison and one Huston. The race was for $200 a side, Huston being backed by a man named Roth, and both parties and Roth selected Ryan for stakeholder. When the race came off Huston stumbled and fell, and Roth wanted another race for the same amount, which was finally agreed to. This was to come off at 3 o'clock Saturday. Ryan held the money until evening, and, as Roth failed to appear, turned the stakes over to Morrison. Roth came up Saturday, but, instead of making a race, had Ryan arrested. Mr. Ryan has been under bonds for more than a year, and since that time has acted as official timekeeper in the college contests, and has held and paid over wagers on these contests. He awaits arrest for this. His friends are already preparing a petition for his pardon, and it will undoubtedly find many signatures.

TEDDY VISITS TUSKEGEE

Met by Booker T. Washington, and Is Given an Enthusiastic Greeting

Tuskegee, Ala., Oct. 23.—Not since President McKinley's visit in December, 1897, has Tuskegee been so thoroughly aroused and excited as during the past few days, which preceded President Roosevelt's visit of today. The enthusiasm which President McKinley's visit aroused was insignificant compared with the wave of enthusiasm which engulfed everything in this district and culminated in one of the most remarkable ovations ever witnessed in the South.

President Roosevelt has always taken the greatest interest in the education of the negroes in this country, and it did not require much persuasion on the part of Mr. Booker T. Washington, the head of Tuskegee Institute, upon his recent visit to Washington, to induce the President to so arrange his itinerary that it permitted him to spend the greater part of the day in Tuskegee. In anticipation of the President's visit the most elaborate preparations were made at the institute. The original plan, of sending a large exhibit from the institute at the state fair at Birmingham, was abandoned, so as not to weaken the completeness of the exhibition at the institute, which was prepared for the benefit of President Roosevelt.

Upon his arrival President Roosevelt was welcomed by President Booker T. Washington and the entire faculty of the institute. The students and nearly the entire population of the district for miles around was assembled to greet the President, and he was cheered with a right good will. Without delay the President was escorted to the reviewing stand on the public square, and from there reviewed the parade of the students, which included a number of handsomely decorated floats.

After the parade the President, accompanied by Mr. Booker T. Washington, visited the institute. He went through every department of the large school and carefully examined the exhibition of the work of the students. Later in the afternoon he delivered an address before the faculty and students.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 23.—The President reached this city at 11:10 this morning. He had made seven short speeches from the end of his car. He said the last time he visited Alabama he was with his regiment, and praised the state and the people. He said I will see you all upon my return tomorrow.

Bank Will Resume.

San Francisco, Oct. 23.—Depositors to the amount of $60,000 today decided not to withdraw their deposits from the United Bank and Trust Company, which was closed by the bank commissioners Saturday. Under these conditions, it is understood, the commissioners will allow the bank to resume business.

Elegantly Equipped Sloop, Laden With Stolen Plunder is Captured at New York.

New York, Oct. 23.—The police are trying to solve the mystery revealed in the capture of the sloop Deroda. She was luxuriantly fitted out with silverware and Oriental rugs and loaded with expensive bric-a-brac, supposed to have been stolen from the homes of millionaires along the Sound, and carrying the effects of Midshipman Jackson, U. S. N., who disappeared from the battleship Missouri, apparently going with Olga Maxwell, whose effects were also taken with the sloop. Jackson was found some time ago by his father, in Canada, in a dazed condition. He said he didn't remember leaving the ship, and could recall but little after joining the woman.

PACKERS PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Claim Government Has No Jurisdiction, and Cite Garfield's Report

Chicago, Oct. 23.—All the indicted packers this morning entered pleas denying the jurisdiction of the court. The defendants collectively pleaded not guilty. The attorneys claim the United States lacks jurisdiction, as there is no law providing for conviction and punishment for alleged violations of the interstate commerce act. They asked that all be dismissed from custody. They declare the government exhausted its remedies when it secured an injunction under the anti-trust law, and say the election of that remedy precludes the legality of proceeding against them criminally.

The defendants filed as part of their plea the report of Commissioner Garfield, which, they declare, shows no unlawful act was committed in restraint of trade.

The Corbett-Erne Fight.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 23.—Young Corbett and Young Erne are scheduled for a six-round fight before the National Athletic Club, of this city, tonight. The bout is to be at catch weights. The match grew out of the recent Erne-Attell fight, in which Erne defeated Attell with ease in six rounds. At first a meeting between Young Corbett and Attell was to be arranged, but, after Attell's defeat, Young Erne was selected for the contest. Both fighters are in excellent condition, and an interesting battle is expected.

Union county has had its assessment reduced one-half by the commissioners' court, and it is now $4,000,000.
