HARRIMAN BREAKING THE RECORD

Crossing the Continent at the Rate of a Mile a Minute

Omaha, Oct. 25.—The Harriman special passed Kearney, Neb., without stopping at 4:21 this morning, going through the city at a mile a minute. It made the 96 miles from North Platte to Kearney in 98 minutes; Grand Island to Columbus, 62 miles, in 61 minutes. The pilot train is hardly able to keep head. It passed Fremont at 70 miles an hour with no stop. The pilot was forced to sidetrack on account of a hot box.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 25.—The Harriman special reached here at 9:25 this morning, having made the run from San Francisco in 39 hours and 34 minutes, 16 hours ahead of the regular schedule. Directors Kreutzschmitt, of the Union Pacific says the talk of the President's protesting against the speed of the train is nonsense. He says the newspapers made a faster schedule than could be run.

Breaks the Record.

Lima, O., Oct. 25.—An engine and four coaches, making a speed test on the Pennsylvania road, passed through here today, having covered the distance between Crestline and Lima in 56 minutes, a distance of 72 miles. All the previous records were broken.

The run from Crestline to Fort Wayne, a distance of 131 miles, was made in 100 minutes, including a loss of two minutes at Nevada. From Pittsburg to Fort Wayne, a distance of 321 miles, the run was made in 312 minutes, including stops.

Kicked Squaw to Death.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 25.—Chief Mitchell, Flathead Indian, and four bucks, have been arrested, charged with murdering a squaw at Camas Prairie. The woman was kicked to death during a drunken carousal. Mitchell is wealthy, owning several bands of cattle.

The Name Should Be Stabbed.

Ekaterinofslaf, Russia, Oct. 25.—Two bloody conflicts occurred here today between troops and strikers, and many were killed on both occasions. Barricades were erected by the populace, they refusing to disperse.

Another Large Shipment of New Models in Thomson's Glove Fitting Corsets

Thomson's "Glove Fitting" Corsets

Were awarded Grand Prize and a Gold Medal at the St. Louis World's Fair last year. The jury of awards was composed of the most eminent specialists, and their verdict is the highest recommendation that any corset could have. We are showing a very complete line of both staple and fancy models at much lower prices than "regular stores" ask for the same numbers.

HAVING GOOD TIME

(Four O'Clock Edition.)

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 25.—The delegates to the National W. C. T. U. are sightseeing. Preliminary meetings of the heads of departments were held this morning. Mrs. Lillian Stevens, of Portland, Me., national president, presided at the executive session of the official board, composed of superintendents, representing 38 departments. At the preliminary meeting of the convention this afternoon there will be a demonstration of Peruna, to ascertain how much alcohol it contains by Mrs. Anna A. Gordon, national vice-president. The Reed Smoot case will be considered in connection with the report of Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis, of Newark, N. J., national superintendent. Legislation on the anti-army canteen question will be introduced by Mrs. Ella Thatcher, of Florence, N. J.

Chinese Boycott Stopped.

(Four O'Clock Edition.)
Santa Rosa, Cal., Oct. 25.—Congressman McKinlay has received a letter from one of the largest milling concerns on the Pacific coast, located at Seattle, thanking him for being instrumental in lifting the Chinese boycott from American goods, and saying that, through his efforts, the firm, which is a large exporter, is doing business again with Chinese merchants. When McKinlay was in Hong Kong with Taft, the party was made a special guest of honor at a banquet given by 12 of the wealthiest Chinese merchants.

The merchants told him they had no complaint with the exclusion law as it stands, but wanted it fixed so Chinese merchants, on landing in America, could give a bond if there was any question as to their right to enter. McKinlay offered to arrange for an introduction with Taft, if the merchants would call off the boycott. Taft heard the merchants, and it is apparent that some order has been sent out since, for the boycott has been stopped.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 25.—The Standard today raised the price of second-hand oil 20 cents, equaling the price of third-hand oil.

PRESIDENT DOWN IN ARKANSAS

He Can't Play the Fiddle Though He Can Out Travel the Original

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 25.—After traveling all night from Birmingham, Ala., President Roosevelt and his party reached Little Rock at 9 o'clock this morning in their special train. He was received at the station by the mayor of the city and a reception committee of 22 members, among them United States Senators J. H. Barry and J. E. Clarke, and General Powell Clayton, former ambassador of the United States to Mexico. Governor Jefferson Davis was not at the station to meet the president, although he was in the city at the time.

After the president had shaken hands with the mayor and the members of the reception committee, he was taken to Fort Logan H. Roots. After a brief inspection the party returned to the city and President Roosevelt addressed a large crowd at the City Park. He was welcomed on behalf of the state by United States Judge Trieber and introduced by him in a well worded address. After the address the president was the guest of the board of trade at a banquet given in his honor. As Governor Jefferson Davis had declined to sit at the same table with General Powell Clayton, Lieutenant-Governor John P. Leo, of Clarendon, was selected to represent the governor at the banquet. After the banquet the president returned to the station and at 4 o'clock he started for Memphis, from which point the president, accompanied by Secretary Loeb and Surgeon General Bixey, will proceed to New Orleans, while the rest of the party will return directly to Washington.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 25.—The President made his first public appearance in Arkansas, clad mainly in a rain coat. Loeb received a request that the President speak late last night, but did not feel justified in waking his chief so early this morning. The whistles and shouts of the crowd assembled were heard by Roosevelt, who awoke, and called for an explanation. He donned his raincoat over his pajamas, and stood in a drenching rain, the first encountered on this trip, and spoke. Before reaching Fort Logan H. Roots the President was photographed with members of the party. Last night, at Birmingham, a local detective approached the President's carriage. Loeb ordered him back. The detective indignantly replied, "I'm a secret service man." "I don't care," said Loeb, "don't get too close." The man pressed forward, and Loeb hit him on the jaw with his fist, and sent him staggering back into the crowd. The train reached Fort Roots at 9:15.

(Four O'clock Edition.)

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 25.—The President, headed by an escort and accompanied by a reception committee, reached the city just before noon. The streets were packed with people, and every housetop was covered by the curious. The President was constantly cheered as he rode along, constantly rising and bowing his thanks to the people. He drove to the city Park, where an immense throng had gathered about the speaker's stand. Governor Davis welcomed the President to the state. Other welcoming addresses preceded his own address.

The President was met at Fort Roots by Governor Davis, Senator Clark and a guard of 13 Confederates and 13 Union soldiers, General Dan Jones commanding the Confederates and Col. A. S. Fowler the Union. Colonel Fowler rode forward to the President and said: "The Blue and the Gray salute you." The President shook hands with each member of the guard. He reviewed the regular troops and proceeded to the city. Governor Davis, in his address of welcome, praised the state, Roosevelt and the nation, and they launched into a fierce defence lynch law. His remarks were received unfavorably. One gentleman on the stand said: "We don't stand for him here."

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 25.—The President answered Davis: "You spoke of the hideous crime committed by members of the colored race. No one abhors the crime more than I do, and any guilty creature should be ruthlessly hunted and punished to the extent of the law." A burst of cheering interrupted the President, who held

RIOTS IN RUSSIA

St. Petersburg, Oct. 25.—A train was run into Moscow today, accompanied by great danger. The engineer was threatened with death if he didn't desert, but he stuck. The strikers attacked, but the troops are guarding the train. Dispatches from various districts say the trouble is growing worse, and the revolutionists are gathering.

up his clenched fist for silence, and as the noise subsided, said: "Now, for the side of the white man, the man who punished an abhorrent crime by the commission of another crime just as abhorrent, debases himself to the level of the brute who committed the first crime. We owe it, governor, to ourselves and the community in which we live, and to the nation, that lynch law be put down." The crowd seemed to agree with the President, and a great wave of applause broke forth and swept over the field. The grandstand fell just as the President finished, but no one was hurt. The drop to the ground was only about three feet, but there was some excitement. The President leaves for Memphis and New Orleans.

TIRESOME INSURANCE

New York, Oct. 25.—McClintock was recalled this morning. He gave a long explanation in defense of the "deferred dividend" system of insurance. He said: "The surplus enthused the public mind; the surplus was not, as some appear to think, something to play with, but a reserve from the interest on premiums.

McClintock talked long and earnestly on his methods of computing dividends, and seemed satisfied with his own explanation, in which, he said, he thought he "made it clear." He launched into a long explanation why dividends decreased instead of increasing, and read lists of figures which staggered the audience, but seemed to satisfy himself, if no one else, that it was all right, and that the reasons given were sufficient to account for conditions.

The committee adjourned to November 8th, when Hyde will be the first witness.

Santiago, Chile, Oct. 25.—Three thousand troops arrived last night, and order is restored. It is now believed that 60 were killed during the rioting.

STARVED HIMSELF TO DEATH

Butte, Mont., Oct. 25.—James F. Barnes, charged with the murder of Patrick Hanley, in this city, September 3d, died in prison last night, apparently from starvation, self-imposed. He attempted suicide recently by eating the heads of matches. A mob attempted to batter down the jail doors and lynch him the day following the killing, and this preyed upon his mind. Barnes came to Butte from Chico, California, where he has a wife and child. He served two years in San Quentin for shooting a man.

Hospital Train Tied Up.

(Four O'clock Edition.)
St. Petersburg, Oct. 25.—The tie-up prevented the British ambassador leaving today, as he had intended. A train bearing 500 sick and wounded soldiers returning from the war is stalled near the city. The sufferers can't be taken into the hospitals. A dispatch from Riga says anarchy exists there, with frequent bloody affrays, and many casualties. Three government shops have been destroyed, a railway cashier murdered, and 25,000 roubles stolen.

Chinese Army Improves.

Shanghai, China, Oct. 25.—The Chinese army maneuvers according to modern plans are in progress. Foreign officers are surprised at the men's efficiency, and say that the improvement in the Chinese troops is sensational.
