Modern Mother Goose Melodies.
 Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn For Chauncey Depew has developed a corn.
 That corn in the ear will most surely be found For Chauncey's been keeping his ear to the ground.

Hey diddle, diddle, the cats and the fiddle.
 McCall has jumped high as the moon, McCurdy has swiped all the pudding in sight.
 While his son got away with the spoon.

Bah, bah, Mutual,
 Have you any wool,
 Yes, sir, Master Hyde,
 Three bags full,
 One for McCurdy,
 One for McCall
 And one for little Chauncey, "Bambunctious" one of all

Sing a song of sixpence Hear the widows cry,
 Seven million orphans Baked in a pie
 When the pie was opened All the Mc's were there, Grabbing in with both hands Bound to get his share.

Hyde was in the bank vault Shoveling out the money, Chaunce had finished picking bones Was telling something funny, Hamilton in Europe,
 Where every grafter goes, But what they gave him money for There's no one knows.

 train, you won't have to do any of the kicking.

BRITT-NELSON
 FIGHT

There have been myriads of "good fights" in recent years. Some of these bouts have been shown in moving pictures, and some have not; but every man who has seen the Britt and Nelson fight pictures declares emphatically that no fiercer, gamer battle ever was Jimmy Britt.

contested than the fray where the mighty Dane overthrew the native son.
 Courage of the highest type; gameness of the bulldog pattern; heroic resistance to the attack of an overpowering foe, and unconquerable determination in assault—all these things stand out colossal, and stamp the battle as Battling Nelson.

a climax of bravery and fair honest struggling. It was a wonderful fight —and the pictures tell the story better than any words could do.

J. W. Coffroth, president of the Colma (Cal.) Athletic Club, where the fight occurred, is the owner of the copyrighted films.

These pictures may be seen at the Grand Opera House Thursday, November 23, 1905.

When the Worm Turns.

Dill Nye, of humorous memory, once described what he called his "Black Fly Eradicator and Insect Broom of Wrath." An invention even more deadly than that has been put on the market by a New England manufacturing company which makes appliances for destroying brown-tail moths.
 As described in the advertising circular, "it first instantly paralyzes" the worm. Then, while he is helpless, it "injects a deadly poison" into his system. Next, it "suffocates" him with a deadly gas; but not content even with this, the relentless implement burns him "with the hot, penetrating flame of chemical compounds," and "with a forced flame like a blow-pipe." And finally, in order that there may not even be a funeral, the torch incinerates the body, and so "destroys the hairy growth, which is thrown off in the air when the worm is disturbed, and which is the cause of the dreaded brown-tail rash." Is it any wonder the worm turns when people do things like that to him?

What two words mean most to your grocer? and what do they mean?

Schilling's Best; and they mean a good deal of business without any trouble.

Season Was Very Dry.
 Not in years has Oregon experienced as dry a season as that of the last 10 months. During that period the average temperature has been 1.2 degrees higher than normal, while the average precipitation has been 5.03 inches less than usual.
 The dry season started last winter, when the snowfall in the mountains was far less than is usually the case.
 The spring froshets were small. The maximum high-water mark at Portland was registered June 16th, when the gauge registered 13.6. This is the lowest high-water registration since the record began in 1879, with one exception, when in 1889 the maximum high-water mark was 10 feet.
 Old Oregonians remember few times, if any, in their experience when there was such a long period of dry weather as that of the summer past. The records of the local weather bureau show that in the last 10 months there were but two when the temperature was less than normal.

Searching for Treasure Ship.
 The latest projected search for a treasure ship is being organized in Rome. In the bottom of Lake Nemi are some curious antique galleys. According to a tradition they represent one of Caligula's mad freaks, and exploration confirms this report in a measure, for leaden pipes recovered bear that emperor's name. That is not proof, but it shows at least that the pipes were cast in his day. And the description Suetonius is recalled—not referring to these galleys, indeed, but to the pleasure craft in which Calgulus used to sail along the coast. They were of cedar, the poop inlaid with precious stones and the sails painted.
 There were baths on board; galleries, spacious chambers, vines and fruit trees of every sort. Those at the bottom of Lake Nemi are big enough for such luxury. An exact measurement of the smallest has been taken; it is 200 feet long and 60 feet wide the depth could not be ascertained. The large one is supposed to be more than 250 feet in length. Many efforts have been made since that of Cardinal Colonna in 1431 to raise the galley, but without success.

Son Lost Mother.
 "Consumption runs in our family, and through it I lost my mother," writes E. B. Reid of Harmony, Me.
 "For the past five years, however, on the slightest sign of a Cough or Cold, I have taken Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which has saved me from serious lung trouble." His mother's death was a sad loss for Mr. Reid, but he learned that lung trouble must not be neglected, and how to cure it. Quickest relief and cure for coughs and colds. Price 50c
