A Pleasant Way to Travel.

The above is the usual verdict of the traveler using the Missouri Pacific railway between the Pacific coast and the east, and we believe that the service and accommodations given merit this statement. From Denver, Colorado Springs and Denver there are two through trains daily to Kansas City and St. Louis, carrying Pullman's latest standard electric-lighted sleeping cars, chair cars and up-to-date dining cars. The same excellent service is operated from Kansas City and St. Louis to Memphis, Little Rock and Hot Springs. If you are going east or south, write for particulars and full information.

MOVING PICTURES AT ASYLUM

Britt-Nelson Fight Is Thoroughly Enjoyed by the Patients There

Britt and Nelson last night fought again their famous battle before the delighted eyes of 400 patients at the asylum. The wonderful motion pictures, Wizard Edison's greatest invention, gave the unfortunates a realistic reproduction of the greatest ring contest fought in recent years. It was through the courtesy of Manager Fred N. Truacy, of the Britt-Nelson pictures, which are to be at the Grand tomorrow night, that the asylum inmates were permitted the pleasure of seeing the exhibition.

And it was a delighted audience that viewed the pictures. Every blow cleverly parried, every point of the contest, which the pictures showed as plainly as reality, was applauded and noticed by the audience. Mentally crippled, as were most of the audience, they were still able to keep track of the trend of the mighty battle, and make as wise comments on it as probably did the spectators at the ringside.

By means of a number of recent inventions, there is absolutely no jig to the pictures. They appear as evenly and as firmly on the screen as if placed there one by one and nailed on tightly. The eyes are not wearied in the least by gazing at them.

The entertainment occupies one hour and forty minutes. There are 18 rounds of the fight proper, but ringside scenes, before and after the contest, are shown in detail. The refusal of Jeffries, heavy-weight champion, to referee the contest, is one of the pre-contest scenes. It will be recalled that the mighty Jeffries refused to umpire the contest, having taken umbrage at Nelson's objections. The incident in the ring, just before the fight, when the finally declines to referee, was photographed in complete detail, and forms part of the wonderful set of pictures.

In the fight itself every movement of the two principals is shown with just the same speed as they were originally made in the ring. In the first few rounds the tide of battle turns to neither of the contestants. Gradually, however, Nelson appears as the aggressor, and fiercely does he punish his game antagonist. The latter receives the punishment pluckily, occasionally landing a blow, but with not enough force to check his opponent.

Nelson does the leading in all the latter rounds, Britt fighting gamely the while. In the fifteenth round punishment begins to tell, and the doughty Britt seems doomed to fall before the prowess of the "Fighting Swede." There is a rally in the next round or two, but in the 18th the inevitable knockout comes like a flash, and the champion falls to the floor, to be carried to his corner after he has failed to respond to the count.

It is a gentlemanly fight all through Britt, the gentleman of the prize ring, does not belie his reputation, and Nelson, too, helped to make the battle a clean one. In the entire series of 82,000 pictures that are flashed on the canvases, there is not one that need shame or shock the most sensitive eyes. Ladies and children can take as great delight in seeing them as a rize ring enthusiast. In fact, these pictures have repeatedly secured the endorsement of ministers for their instructiveness and cleanliness. These pictures will be at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night.

FOOD— NOT MEDICINE.

If all the treatments for consumption were put in book form it would make a pretty big library. But after all there has been little improvement over the old treatment of rest, fresh air, sunshine, plain, wholesome food and Scott's Emulsion. The latter supplies nourishment that cannot be secured in any other way, and after all, nourishment is what the consumptive needs first.

A gain in weight, however slight, is a long step toward improvement. If there is the least thing to build on Scott's Emulsion will enable the patient to make that gain. People have gained a pound in weight from a bottle of Scott's Emulsion—it's an exception when they don't.

We have seen Scott's Emulsion take hold of a patient and bring about a change for the better inside of a week. It always helps even the most stubborn cases.

It is to be an anniversary in commemoration of the death of Wolfe Tone, Allan, Larkin and O'Brien, four patriots, who died in the cause of Irish liberty.

Man's Unreasonableness.
 It is often as great as woman's. But Thos. S. Austin, Mgr. of the "Republican" of Leavenworth, Ind., was not unreasonable, when he refused to allow the doctors to operate on his wife, for female trouble. "Instead," he says, "we concluded to try Electric Bitters. My wife was then so sick, she could hardly leave her bed, and five (5) physicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters, she was perfectly cured, and can now perform all her household duties." Guaranteed by J. C. Perry, druggist, price 50c.

Faith and Fact.
 Faith is one thing and fact is another, it sometimes takes any amount of faith to produce one fact. Years of earnest work and faith have produced one fact about medicine that is deserving of mention here. If people who are troubled with general weakness through overwork, dissipation or exposure can get a remedy that will make rich red blood from the food they eat, their return to health is assured. Good blood is the life of the body as well as the nerves. Weak, sickly, pale people who suffer with indigestion, dyspepsia, sick headache, loss of strength and ambition, having dizzy spells and always tired, can be cured sound and well with Dr. Gunn's Blood and Nerve Tonic. Sold by druggists for 5c per box, or 2 boxes for $2. This Tonic acts in a common sense way, curing disease by giving strength a resist it.

Great Reduction at the Economy Store.
 The little things are the things that count, and these can be found at the Economy Store, at the lowest prices ever made in Salem. We don't wait until the holidays to reduce prices, but give you the benefit of a "cut" when you want to do your buying. Dollar articles as low as 25 cents, 10 cent articles reduced to 5 and 7 cents, and even 5 cent articles reduced. Bargains of all kinds, and then remember with every 25 cent purchase you get a ticket on the fine large $10 doll to be given away Xmas. She is now "at home" to her little friends, and extends a cordial invitation to all to call.
