BOWL FOR GOBBLERS

Thanksgiving gobblers as prizes in the inducement the Illihee club offers to members to participate tomorrow evening in a bowling tournament. Several gobblers, bearded and heavy, will be awarded to the successful contestants. The contest will be arranged in such a manner that the poor and bashful bowler will be given a chance to make a winning, as well as the proud and confident player.

This is a new departure of the club, and is expected to stimulate interest in the sport. Bowling is popular all over the West, and the Illihee club expects to establish a team which will represent the organization in inter-club matches.

All members are expected to be present tomorrow night and have a try for one of the birds. They will also be given a chance to compete for membership on the team it is hoped to organize.

Sir Knights, Attention.

SOUNDING THE DEPTHS

New York, Nov. 28.—Edwin D. Randolph, treasurer of the New York Life, testified at the insurance investigation this morning concerning syndicate operations. Hughes questioned him regarding the testimony of Cashier Banta, as to the effect in New York City when stock to the value of $700,000 was taken from the vault several years ago by Randolph and a check for the amount on the Central National Bank was substituted. Hughes intimidated Randolph, and he admitted that it appeared that the stock was loaned so it could be returned as non-taxable property. Witness said that he had permitted such transactions since he was treasurer.

James E. Keeler, clerk of the Title Guarantee Company, and formerly with the New York Security and Trust Company, testified to a payment made to Andrew Hamilton of the sum of about $18,000, at the order of the New York Life. This payment was made in a roundabout way. The Security and Trust Company received the money on warrants from the Union Saving Bank and Trust Company, a Seattle or Tacoma firm. He said the New York Life held the debentures of this bank, and as money was realized on the warrants, deposits were made to the credit of the New York Life or paid in checks. The money paid to Hamilton was paid out of surplus funds of the Union Bank, which had failed, according to witness, after the debenture held by the New York Life were satisfied. The balance, witness said, was turned over to A. R. Nicholas, general agent of the New York Life, who had been connected with the Union bank.

The Powers Take Mitylene.

London, Nov. 28.—The Daily Mail publishes the following dispatch from Mitylene, dated November 27th:

"Eight warships of the combined fleet arrived here at 5 o'clock this morning. Admiral Ritter von Jedina, accompanied by the Austrian consul, proceeded to the government house at 10:30 o'clock and handed an ultimatum to the governor.

"At 1 o'clock this afternoon 500 sailors landed and seized the customs and telegraph office. Everything is quiet."

Business Closes Thursday.

All dry goods, general merchandise and hardware stores will be closed Thursday all day. All but the grocery stores will probably be closed by noon. Some will close as early as 10 o'clock, while others expect to keep open to 12. One firm had not arrived at any conclusion, but will probably close for lack of trade.

Awarded Twenty Thousand.

Butte, Mont., Nov. 28.—The supreme court has affirmed the judgment of $20,000 damages awarded to Martin Burke, a miner, whose hands were burned to stumps by coming into contact with a poorly insulated wire in the Colusa Parrot mine. It is the largest award of damages in the history of the state.

Building Collapsed.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 28.—The iron work in a new building being erected on Sixth and Washington street collapsed this afternoon. Fifteen workmen are buried in the debris.

Yonkers Without a Common Council.
Yonkers, N. Y., Nov. 28.—The citizens of this city are considerably agitated over the prospect that on January 1, 1906, the city will find itself without a common council and unable to transact any legislative business, sell any bonds, or levy any taxes. Today a successor to Alderman John H. Coyne who had been elected mayor of Yonkers on the Democratic ticket at the last election, is to be elected. It is contended that the seven aldermen who were elected at the last election, will hold office legally, while the aldermen, Southwick, Beckert, Locher, Ferguson, Hogan, Stillwell and Coyne's successor cannot hold office legally after January 1 because their terms do not end in odd numbered years, as required by the constitution. They were elected last year for a two year term. If that opinion is sustained by the courts Yonkers will have only seven aldermen, while it requires eight to make a quorum. This state of affairs is due to a conflict between an act passed by the legislature last April and section 3, article XII, of the state constitution, which applies to cities of the third class.

Colored Sunday School Workers Meet.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 28.—An interstate rally and conference of negro Sunday school workers met here today at the First Congregational church and for a two days' session. Prominent negroes from this and other southern states are in attendance and there are also a large number of prominent white ministers, who will address the gathering. The conference is held under the auspices of the international Sunday school association and several officers of that association are present, among them W. N. Hartshorn, of Boston, the chairman of the executive committee and Marion Lawrence of Toledo, O., the general secretary of the organization.

Figures of Russian Poverty.
Some hint of the poverty of Russia is given in figures tabulated by the London board of trade in regard to foreign wages. It appears from these that on the Russian railways the average daily pay of the employees is as follows: Construction department, 25 cents; locomotive and carriage department, 89 cents; traffic department, 53 cents. These figures are for the permanent staff and the salaries of heads of departments are included, which materially raises the average.

ARE YOU Forty Five

Everybody who has reached the age of forty-five needs glasses. No matter how healthy or perfectly the eyes may be, the lenses gradually harden until the fortieth or forty-fifth year, when they become far-sighted. Those who are able at forty-five to read fine print without glasses have always been slightly near-sighted without knowing it.

Schooner Bella Wrecked.

Florence, Or., Nov. 28.—The schooner Bella, 147 tons net, three weeks out of San Francisco for Acme, Or., with a cargo of general merchandise, is rapidly going to pieces on the beach six miles south of the Siuslaw river mouth. She was driven on the sands at high tide, Saturday night, and the crew of seven walked ashore at low tide.

The Bella will be a total loss. Her bottom has already been nearly entirely broken up, and the vessel will soon go to pieces.

She was sailing close inshore as she neared her destination, and a strong inshore current seized her and drove her on the sands. The anchors were thrown out, but dragged.

The Bella has been built at Acme nine years ago, and has been for some time engaged in trade between Acme and San Francisco. She is owned at Yacoma.

Midshipman Resigns.

(Four O'Clock Edition.)
Washington, Nov. 28.—The secretary of the navy today accepted the resignation of Midshipman R. E. White, of California, who has been only a few months at the academy. He gave as a reason that he believes he is unfitted for the service. It is believed he has been forced out by the "midshipmen's code."

Somebody Is Lying.

(Four O'Clock Edition.)
St. Petersburg, Nov. 28.—Admiral Ghonkin, commander of the Black Sea fleet, wires that the mutiny is dying down, and that most of the mutineers have surrendered. Witte has notified the Zemstvo that he considers it necessary to appoint a minister of the interior.

Sheriff R. L. White, of Albany, lost a fine gold watch and chain at the football game at that place Saturday. Suspicion turns to two tramps, but no direct clue has yet been found.

A Vaudeville Trust Now.

(Four O'Clock Edition.)
St. Paul, Nov. 28.—Papers were signed at Minneapolis and St. Paul to day by which the Orpheum vaudeville and International circuits consolidated. They form a gigantic trust to control all vaudeville on the Pacific coast, the West and Middle States. The Orpheum people are at the head of the movement. Congressman Tim Sullivan, of New York; Senator O'Brien and John P. Ryan, of Chicago, are the directors. Millions are involved and 150 houses. It is the biggest combine since the Klaw-Erlinger.

Tangled Up With a Belt.

Charles M. Brant, mechanical foreman of the Statesman night force, met with a severe accident at that office last night. In attempting to change a belt from one motor to another, his foot slipped and he was caught by the belt. In an instant he was whirled around the pulley, and in coming in contact with the floor and machinery, he was severely bruised. A physician was called at once, but it was found that no bones were broken, and he was removed to his home, where he is resting comfortably. He was very fortunate to escape without serious injury, and will soon be out again.

He has suffered from this disease since his birth. Recently serious symptoms developed from a cold contracted in making a speech in the open air.
