Russia Settling Its Long Accounts of Tyranny and Oppression

St. Petersburg, Dec. 21.—The strike in all Russia is growing rapidly. Workmen are showing perfect discipline under leadership. There is an indescribable panic among the people generally, and all are feeling this is the opening of the last act of a national tragedy, and the result will either end in the downfall of the government or a victory for the autocracy. It has reached almost the proportions of a civil war, and it is hardly proper to call the movement a mere industrial strike. The financial ruin of the country seems imminent. Many soldiers have been arrested while addressing the people in the streets, urging them to join the rebels. Prices of supplies are rapidly rising, and all are trying to secure a great amount of provender to last against a long siege. Revolutions wrecked a train near Riga, killing five soldiers and wounding 20 others.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 21.—The continental train left Warsaw today with a military engineer and a strong guard of soldiers. The strike began at Nieboles station at noon, but all other roads were still working at that time. Twelve thousand Putiloff employees struck. All trains entering the Baltic provinces are stopped by the insurgents. Cosacks were taken from one and dispersed. The strike leaders at Moscow are boasting that the strike will be transformed into an armed rebellion, and orators are declaring Russia will be drenched with blood before the struggle ends. Governor-General Dolzoff has moved into the late Grand Duke Sergius' palace, and declared himself war on all agitators.

This Jew Was Loaded.
Odessa, Russia, Dec. 27.—One hundred and forty bombs were discovered in the house of a Jew. One was exploded, wounding eight officers. It caused an outbreak of anti-Semitic feeling.

Another Russian Republic.
A republican republic has been proclaimed at Tiflis. Workmen are, in addition at Yaroslavl. Republicans are in control at Bataum. There is a fire along the water front there and several vessels have been burned.

Troops Beat Rebels.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 21.—Troops, after a fierce battle, recaptured Tuku from the rebels, who defended the place scientifically, proving that they were led by military officers. Peasants have driven the land owners from the Vilebsk district and divided the estates among themselves.

Garbage Investigation.

New York, Dec. 21.—Howard Stoker, third vice-president of the Bankers' Life, was recalled to the stand in the insurance investigation this morning. Hendricks, superintendent of insurance, and Isaac Vanderpool, chief committee decided not to take the testimony at Albany, but will investigate the department here. Armstrong says the committee will conclude its labors December 30th.

Hendricks was sworn. Hughes forced the statement from Hendricks that his investigations were perfunctory. The witness said he "didn't want to manage the companies." When asked why he didn't call the attention of the attorney-general to the irregularities he said no amount of investigation would "stop corruption."

Hendricks gave a list of the employees of the office and their salaries. He employed his daughter as a confidential clerk at a salary of $2500.

Hughes said the investigation of the Mutual for 1902 and 1903 was left in charge of Vanderpool. He said he did not ask Vanderpool the result, and never knew Fields didn't notice the extreme quantity of stationery used according to the records, as compared with other companies. He said he did not look into the economies of the companies, but merely satisfied himself as to their solvency, and thought they were very well managed.

Opening White House Social Season.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—The social season at the White House opens today with the first cabinet dinner given by the president. A Southern Zephyr.

Los Angeles, Dec. 21.—A wind blowing 45 miles an hour, in the west end of the city, this morning blew down a house on Gehueng street, and a small church on Western avenue and did other damages. In the center of the city the wind was only six to eight miles.

Alabama.

Washington, Dec. 21.—After short sessions both houses adjourned to January 4th.

O'DELL FIGHTS TEDDY

New York, Dec. 21.—Governor Odell today formally declared war on Roosevelt. Higgins declared they were responsible for the present condition of the Republican party in the state. He said if the Republicans lose this time it is their own fault. He predicted Wadsworth would not be elected speaker of the assembly.

The ex-governor says Higgins is guilty of duplicity. Had a talk with Higgins, whom he favored for speaker; he eliminated all possibilities but Merritt, and was never so surprised in his life as when they named Wadsworth. If Roosevelt desired the good of the party, instead of encouraging sore-heads, he'd have promoted harmony. Had he sent for me I would gladly have conferred. I tried to avert trouble and I charge Roosevelt and Higgins with deliberately trying to wreck the party for their own ambitions.

Washington, Dec. 21.—O'Dell's defiance has created consternation among New Yorkers in this city. Congressmen who wish to be friendly to both sides will not be forced to take sides. The President appears little concerned. Loeb intimates that he took sufficient interest to suggest that Higgins choose a good man for the speakership.

The Danger of Searchlights.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—The navigators of harbors and rivers in the neighborhood of the coast fortifications have complained to the war department of the practice of the artillery chiefs in charge of the searchlights of throwing such lights upon their ships, much to the annoyance of those on board. It has been ordered by the war department that greater care be exercised in the operation of searchlights mounted at the coast forts. It is very well known that a light of this kind may be apt to lead to serious consequences, since it sometimes blinds the man at the wheel. The army searchlights will, therefore, be used only when it is absolutely necessary, and will be directed toward those ships used by the government for artillery purposes. Whenever any other vessel is lighted in this way the light will be removed as soon as the identity of the ships is disclosed or as soon as the usual alarm whistles are sounded. These artillerymen say the searchlight has come to have a prominent place in the operation of the guns at night, and is now regarded as absolutely essential in the location of a target. It is also necessary to conduct constant practice with the lights so that the operators may have every opportunity to perfect themselves in the mechanism. Every coast fort will be equipped with one or more of the searchlights and some of the plants will be of great power.

Great Future for Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 21.—The United States Steel corporation has broken ground between Hammond and Tolletson, Lake county, near the Illinois line, for a new steel plant, which, it is asserted, will be the largest in the world. The plans have not yet fully matured in all their detail, but those in a position to know state that within the next two years Indiana will usurp the place held by Illinois as the greatest steel producing state in the west. According to a statement given out the United States Steel corporation intends to put $30,000,000 into the new plant alone, and will make it the best equipped plant in the world. It is expected that when it is running at its full capacity 20,000 men will be employed there. Even under the most favorable conditions it will require at least two years to complete the enormous plant.
