We ought to have a little sympathy for the man who had to sell his hogs before they were half grown, and to go without hams and bacon next year, in order to be able to pay his taxes.

Albany will pay a 35-mill tax this year, and pay more state taxes than for the public schools. Yet the money for the schools is all spent in the city. Isn't it time that state taxes were cut down a little?

Whether a town be wet or dry depends on the people in it. It is up to the individual to be wet or dry. No one can compel him to go wet. No one can compel him to go dry. He can get what he wants in the form of patent medicines, or through the mails. If you can't be entirely dry, be as dry as you can, but don't forget that there are others in the world who may not think as you do.

Begin to register Tuesday for the election and the primary. The people are the convention hereafter. The boss and the machine must take a walk. Nominations mean something to the people besides desire for office or spoils, or they will not ratify them at the polls. This means from constable to United States senator.

Questions and Answers.

Makes Us Shudder: Socialist Sunday schools are springing up in the big cities. And there's that everlasting demand for social justice springing up in the human heart. What shall we do with it?

This Is Tough: Neither side of the woman suffrage question has subsidized this paper. How are we going to know which side to take?

The Club Is Prosperous: The Illibee club is prosperous because it bars its doors to politics and religious discussion. Good motto for any organization, religious or political, is it not?

People Growing Better: Salem people are growing more enlightened and are seeking more pleasure on Sunday such as theatres and trolley rides. Salem is to have a park out on the electric line somewhere. Are not we as a people growing better?

New Year's Resolution: Stop dwelling on the past. Why not look fearlessly into the future?

You Will Be Wise: In proportion as you leave large spaces of the blanket-sheet newspapers unread.

Be Wise Today: "He that handleth a matter wisely shall find good."—Proverbs 18:20.

Why You Grow Old: Sarah Bernhardt has led a severe and strenuous life, and is young at 61.

Why Not Make Them Pay: Several millionaires died in Portland the past two years, yet their estates paid the state treasurer almost nothing under the Oregon inheritance tax law.

It May Recover: Portland will not be entirely ruined by the Lewis and Clark fair.

Will Visit Honolulu. Miss Blanche Brown, of this city, headed the list of Portland Journal contestants in this district, and will be given a free trip, with all expenses paid, to Honolulu. The field covered by the Journal was divided into eight districts, and the one receiving the most votes in each district will be sent to the islands. This district, which was known as the sixth, comprised Mariposa, Linn and Lane counties. Miss Margo Battee, of Eugene, was Miss Brown's closest competitor.

Watch Night Service. Beginning at 10:30 p. m. a watch night service was held last night at the M. E. church, led by the pastor, Rev. W. H. Sollock. About 150 persons remained after the cantata, to take part in this special service, which was very interesting. The exercises closed with an altar service, which concluded a few minutes after midnight.

STATE SOCIAL NEWS

Turner. The week's festivities were ended by a brilliant reception given by Mrs. Dr. Smith to the young people, who were fortunate to be honored in this way by this popular hostess. The young people passed one of the "delightful evenings" in the social realm. Many new novelties were introduced, aside from the regular routine, in party lines. A genuine good time was had. At 11 o'clock a delicious luncheon was served. Before leaving favorite songs were sung by this merry party. The only regret was that a separation from this happy throng would come, as each one would soon go to his or her place of labor and school work. Too soon the kind hostess and her delightful daughter, Eugenia, were bade "good night," with many kind wishes for the coming year, 1906. The invited guests were the Misses Luella Cole, Lizzie Cornelius, Hallie Thomas, Bertie McKay, Carrie McKay, Lizzie McKay, Mori Witzel, Alice Judd, Carrie Weiburn, Alice Guerns, Mrs. Landreth; Messrs. Geo. Judd, Dr. Clayton Ransom, John Moor, Kenneth Cole, Rex May, Russell Wilson, Jimmy McKay, Frank Baker, Ernest McClavey, John Weiburn and Chester O'Piter.

Aumsville. Circle No. 2, Women of Woodcraft, met in the afternoons of December 28th, and elected the following officers: Mrs. S. Lewis G. M.; Miss E. Lee, A.; Mrs. B. Wood, clerk; Mrs. E. Speer, banker; Miss N. Albee, manager; Mrs. J. Vannoy, manager; Mrs. D. Baker, musician; Mrs. A. Swank, secretary.

Camp No. 781, Woodmen of the World, met in the evening in the A. O. U. W. hall and elected the following officers: H. L. Wright, O. C.; T. Y. McClellan, A. L.; J. A. Smith, banker; A. C. Baker, clerk; E. O. Grimes, secretary; M. Reeder, manager; C. E. Vannoy, manager; Wm. Hogan, watchman; J. S. Roberts, sentry.

After the camp had adjourned the ladies of the Women of Woodcraft with their families and many friends came in to make a jolly good time for all, and gave the following program: Music—Orchestra. Recitation—"A Gentleman," by Miss Mahle Grimes. Song—"Won't You Coax Me," by Misses Wood and Speer. Reading—"I Haven't Got the Nerve," by A. C. Baker. Music—Orchestra. Recitation—"Killed on the Line," by Miss Etta Gentry. Song—"A Cottage by the Mill," by Mrs. H. Sturgis. Music—Orchestra.

Then a soft, sweet voice was heard calling "get your partners for supper. They ate and ate, and still they ate, but not forgetting their absent members that were missing the last and best feast of the year. The balance of the evening was spent in playing various games, excepting the last hour, which was spent in a social dance.
