FOR STATE TREASURER.

Owing to the fact that four of the men on the Republican state ticket who will be renominated come from Western Oregon, the state treasurer WILL PROBABLY GO TO EASTERN OREGON.

There are two men mentioned for that place, and the latest is Hon. E. L. Smith, of Hood River, who was at one time speaker of the house of representatives, and is president of the State Development League.

He is also well known all over the state as the president of the State Fruit Growers' Association, and one of the men who made Hood River FAMOUS FOR ITS APPLES AND STRAWBERRIES.

He is a vice-president of a bank, and a man who can take a full hand in the state campaign as a public speaker or adviser in a political capacity. He is besides a man of the highest character.

That kind of a nominee would add strength to the whole Republican ticket because he is identified with the development and productive interests of the state. If Mr. Smith would consent to take the office he would be a good man to nominate.

WILL MEET FRIDAY

The conventions of the Oregon Development League and Oregon State Press association are to be held in Portland Friday and Saturday. Strong delegations will be sent to the development meeting, and the state editors promise to come in force.

Governor Chamberlain is to make the preliminary address at the opening joint meeting, and will be followed by a brief welcome from President E. L. Smith of the Oregon Development league.

The discussion of the morning will be on "The Commonwealth of Oregon, Its Resources and Opportunities." Judge Stephen A. Lowell of Pendleton will respond for eastern Oregon. J. M. Blake of Marshfield will reply on behalf of the coast section. The Prineville citizen's league has been made responsible for the speaker who will reply on behalf of central Oregon, and W. L. Vawter of Medford or some other speaker to be chosen by him will respond for southern Oregon.

A general discussion of one and two minute talks will follow. The joint session will adjourn at 12:15 o'clock to meet again at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The afternoon session will be in sections, as follows:

The good roads section will meet in the main dining room, Judge John H. Scott, president of the Good Roads association, presiding.

The dairy section will meet in the corner office, near the main club office, recently vacated by the manager, under the direction of Hon. J. W. Ballou, state dairy and food commissioner.

The Oregon Press association will meet in the tower room from 3 to 5 or 5:30 o'clock.

At 5:30 o'clock a dinner will be given to the members of the Oregon Press association by the Portland Commercial club. This feature is in the hands of a special committee appointed by President H. M. Cake.

Beginning at 8 o'clock a reception will take place in the rooms of the club, given in honor of the Oregon Development club, the Oregon Press association, and the excursionists who will add to the evening's pleasure.

Saturday morning's program will be "Reclamation of Arid Lands in Oregon," Colonel John . Wheeler, U. S. reclamation service; address, Harvey W. Scott; "Nature's Wonderlands in Oregon," William Steel; reports from different leagues; general discussion.

The convention will adjourn at 12:15 and reassemble at 2 o'clock in sections, according to any arrangement the convention may adopt.

Get Rid of Scrofula

Sunches, eruptions, inflammations, soreness of the eyelids and ears, diseases of the bones, ricketa, dyspepsia, catarrh, wasting, are only some of the troubles it causes.

It is a very active evil, making havoc of the whole system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Eradicates it, cures all its manifestations, and builds up the whole system.

Always be substitute.

The improvidence of a large number of people is due not so much to a desire to spend every cent they earn, as to their failure to understand the value of small economies and to adopt a definite plan of saving. If a start, no matter how small would be made of laying aside a small portion of the income each week or month, the reason of saving would soon be learned.

Start a savings account now, if the first deposit is only one dollar. We pay 3 per cent interest on savings deposits, compounded semi-annually. You will profit by the interest, but your greatest profit will be in forming the saving habit.

MANUAL TRAINING TEACHERS

The first teacher of woodwork I ever employed was recommended as the most skillful mechanic in St. Louis, and it was taken for granted that he was just the man I wanted. I explained exactly my theory of manual training; he listened in silence, and when I finished he said he understood all about it; but he was a failure. He could not divest himself of the idea that the joint or bracket or scroll or whatever it was that formed the exercise of the day was the main thing, and in nearly every instance to found it a great deal easier to do the work himself than to get the boys to do it under his direction. The man was discharged before his first year was half out. My experience has been repeated a hundred times in other cities, and I have learned, perhaps unjustly, to distrust as a teacher a man who began by being a mechanic. He generally finds it hard to understand what it is all for. He got his own training under other conditions and with so different ends in view that it is almost impossible for him to view the work from the right standpoint.

If possible, get as a teacher one who has had a thorough training in a first-class manual training school and who has supplemented it by a college or technical course, so that he is an accomplished man along many different lines. His salary should be the equal of the salary of any assistant in the school, and the work under his charge should be considered as important as any. No duties or failures in other subjects should be allowed to interfere with the tool work and bracing, no more than tool work and drawing should be allowed to interfere with these. In this way, by the selection of a good teacher, by the payment of a good salary, and by the recognition of the work on the program of the school, manual training will have the same dignity that other subjects have, and the school will succeed.—Calvin Milton Woodward in the Outlook.

Will Consider the Drainage Problem.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 10.—The drainage and irrigation problem will be the subject of consideration of the drainage convention which opens its session here today. The division of irrigation and drainage of the department of agriculture, of the United States government, is represented by several experts, who will take part in the deliberations and assist the convention with their valuable advice. It is expected that James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, who is one of the pioneers of the drainage movement, will arrive here in time to address the convention, which will continue for two days. Hon. J. L. Cashel will give the results of the investigation from an economical standpoint. A. L. Fellows, state engineer for North Dakota and George A. Ralph, engineer of the Minnesota state drainage commission, are also coming and will deliver addresses on the subject under discussion.

BIGGEST FARM ON EARTH

In Chihuahua, Mexico, is a farm belonging to Don Luis Terrazas, and it is undoubtedly the largest farm in the world. It contains, says William Elroy Curtis in the Washington Star, about 8,000,000 acres in a solid tract, mountains, mesas and prairies. Its boundaries are 150 miles from north to south and 200 miles from east to west, and the trains on the Mexican Central railroad take more than half a day to cross it. Don Luis Terrazas does not know how many cattle he owns, but he is believed to have something over a million head. He brands from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 calves every spring. He is supposed to have something like 700,000 sheep and 100,000 horses, and employs more than 1000 cow punchers, shepherds, herd bosses and other cattlement.

He has more than 100 ranch houses scattered over his estates, each being the headquarters of a division covering anywhere from 50,000 to 100,000 acres. He has his own slaughter house and packing plant near the city of Chihuahua, on the edge of his ranch, where he annually kills 250,000 cattle and as many sheep and a large number of hogs, and ships the carcasses to the capital and other cities of Mexico upon his own refrigerator cars. He also packs and preserves a great deal of beef, pork and other meats, but handles no animals that are not raised on his own place.

Don Luis lives in a castle that cost 2,000,000 silver dollars. It is even more magnificent than the castle at Chapultepec, although it is not so large. Everything in it was brought from Spain. He lives like one of the ancient barons, monarch of all he surveys, but is an ardent supporter and friend of President Diaz, and has several times placed his fortune and entire force of men at the president's disposal.

He once offered to assume the public debt of Mexico. His son-in-law, Enrique Creel, is the financial adviser of the administrator, and was the most active and influential force in bringing Mexico around to a gold standard of money. Between 30,000 and 40,000 people live upon the estate of Don Luis, and he controls their destinies with a power even more absolute than the Czar of Russia ever exercises.

Two Prisoners Received.

Two prisoners were received at the penitentiary last evening from Multnomah county. Charles Rodgers will serve three and a half years for burglary, while James F. Hines, alias James F. Harvey, will serve two sentences of five years each for obtaining money under false pretenses. He served one term at the prison under the name of McFadden.

"DO IT TO-DAY!"

"And if you take that remedy and keep on like that, I see it to-day."

The time-worn injunction, "Never put off 'til to-morrow what you can do to-day," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it to-day." That is the wise advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or distressing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. The sooner you trouble wisely by it to-day—and by that remedy be Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which has been in use for over fifty-five years. A few doses of this undoubtedly relieves your cough or cold and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dropsy-consumption has attacked your lungs, Boschee's Syrup will surely effect a cure, as it has done in the case of thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

MANY CONSUMPTIVES HELPED.

State Hospital in Adirondacks Shows Encouraging Figures—105 Patients Discharged.

The trustees of the New York State Hospital for Incipient Pulmonary Tuberculosis in the Adirondacks have issued their completed statistics for the first year, which is as follows: There were admitted 207 patients, more than half of whom were incipients. There were no deaths. Of the 105 patients discharged, fifty-two were apparently recovered. Twenty-six arrested cases are reported. Sixteen improved, while eleven left without any improvement. The treatment consists mainly of outdoor air, wholesome food and rest. Patients have three full meals and two or three luncheons a day, and 90 of the 105 gained an average of 10.57 pounds each. This is certainly most encouraging and shows that incipient consumptives at least can be cured. There is another treatment perhaps almost as good. Stay home, use cold baths in the morning, get as much outdoor exercise as possible, a generous diet and the continuous use of Scott's Emulsion will doubtless check the progress of the disease and may permanently cure. At any rate it is easy to try it.
