NOW THEN EVERYBODY CACKLE

With a chorus of loud falsetto notes from 1000 chickens throats the 11th annual exhibition of the Oregon State Poultry Association was opened this morning in a large hall at Front and Salmon streets. The chorus was led by a big speckled Plymouth Rock rooster, who has practiced so long and well that his crow sounds like the dreary, plaintive blast of a foghorn.

The Plymouth Rock hawled forth a loud, uproarious "howdy-do" to the other startled roosters as soon as the covering of his cage was removed this morning. A dapper little bantam across the way lifted up his voice in shrill response, and a lazy Black Minorca way down in the other end of the hall heard the salutation, blinked his eye, stretched himself and said something in a deep, guttural voice that woke up all the other roosters. Then they all began to crow, and with their mutations was joined the feeble, shiller chattering of the hens, whose cackling called soft but vigorous protest from a long row of pigeons in another part of the hall.

The show is one of the best the state association has ever had. There are approximately 1000 birds on exhibition, with about 500 pigeons. They are arranged in cages, accommodating two fowls each, that are placed in rows two stories high the entire length of the large hall. The exhibition will continue until January 18th.

Chickens of all breeds are on the list of exhibitors. Barred Plymouth Rocks are numerically in preponderance. There are 123 of them. Besides are White and Buff Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes of all kinds, a large class of Minorcas, White and Brown Leghorns and all kinds of game and bantam chickens. Geese are also included in the list of feathered exhibits, and there are some splendid specimens of Embden and other kinds.

Early in the morning visitors began to reach the place and continued in a steady stream throughout the day. Students of the Y. M. C. A., who were taking the course in poultry culture, visited the place in a body with their instructors.

Officers of the association are: F. Fenwick, president; E. H. Bauer treasurer; James Murrow, vice-president, and J. C. Murray, secretary. The executive committee consists of F. A. Bal, C. D. Minott, D. N. Lash, E. J. Ladd, W. P. Snook, Charles Steiner and A. B. Keaton. E. H. Bauer is superintendent of the exhibition.

Judge F. H. Sheddabarger, of West Liberty, Iowa, will place the awards at the poultry show. He has a national reputation and is well known on the coast, having acted as judge at a poultry show in San Francisco and in Portland in 1902.

For Sick and Nervous People.

We have a cure for nervous and unsteady people; weak, fleshless people, and pimpy, pale or sallow people; people who are troubled with loss of ambition, failing memory, depression of spirits, lack of confidence, nervous headaches and wakefulness; all these symptoms are produced by weakened nerves brought on by the watery condition of the blood. Make strong, rich, red blood, and furnish food for the nerves in the way to stop the source of disease, and the cure there is only a question of days. The best flesh and blood builder is Dr. Gunn's Blood & Nerve Tonic, in tablet form to take at meal time. Sells at 75¢ a box, or three boxes for $2, at all druggists. People gain from one to three pounds of solid, healthy flesh per week, by the use of this medicine. That is an indication it is doing good.

Gordon Will Prove the Negative.

A school teacher, Bertha E. Leach, and Edward S. Gordon, of Coos Bay, Oregon, were married in Vancouver toward the end of last October. Edward S. Gordon is the name of a wealthy lumberman of Coos Bay, aged 63 years, whose health is greatly impaired. Miss Leach went to the court house and secured a license for her and the supposed lugus Gordon to wed. They were married by Rev. A. Yeatman, of the Baptist church. The account of their union was published in several papers, and attracted the attention of friends of the aged Gordon. They at once sent him letters of congratulation. He made an investigation and discovered circumstances that led him to believe an attempt was being made to secure his property after death. He secured affidavits that he was not the Edward S. Gordon married by Dr. Yeatman, and has taken every other precaution to prevent the carrying out of what he believes to be a plot to defraud his heirs after his death.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When the tube is inflamed you have a trembling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75¢.

COLONEL IS ONLY SHELLS

Recently while on his way to a basketball game at Jefferson, the traveling trunk of Colonel Sam Damon was checked on the same train on which a young lady was going to California, and the colonel got possession of the lady's trunk.

Referring to the matter the Corvallis Times says:

"Col. Sam Damon, of the Horse Machines, who recently fell heir to a trunk full of hairpins, corsages and other gear for which he has, at present, no earthly use, is still without tidings from the maiden fair who sailed for California last week, taking along the colonel's trunk of football suits, head gear, shin guards and other paraphernalia. The trunk that was left for Colonel Damon, has been mercifully forwarded to its rightful owner, and by this time she ought to be in full possession of all that the colonel may not have abstracted from it as souvenirs. The football trunk is expected here any day."

State Contracts.

(From Yesterday's Last Edition.)
The board which has control of the state institutions this morning opened the bids for the furnishing of supplies to the institutions for the coming year. Only a part of the bids have been sufficiently segregated so as to make it clear who are the successful bidders. Fuller & Douglas will furnish the sugar at 45.54 per hundred; Steusloff & Co., the meats; Spence & Co. get the contract for hardware and D. J. Fry will supply the drugs.

Our Two Fat Boys.

Salem has two interesting members of the council. They both have the traditional aldermanic build. They are fat, and both are named after the great statesmen of their Fatherland, Frederick, "Fred" for short. One is a Republican and the other is a Democrat. The hobby of the Republican is to have Democratic officers in this Republican city, and the hobby of the Democrat is to have no gambling (the abhorred vice) allowed in our town.

Southern Cotton Association Meets.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 11.—Figuratively speaking, the eyes of the entire cotton growing south are upon the Washington artillery building in this city, where the second annual convention of the southern cotton association will open its three days' convention this afternoon. For weeks the subject of the convention has been before the people of the cotton states; first, when the parish and township delegates were elected, then, when the county delegates were chosen and finally when the delegates to the various state conventions were selected. At the state conventions the members of the executive committee of the organization were chosen to represent their states at the national convention which opens here today. At the big meeting about one year ago, when the organization was launched, about 3000 cotton growers, farmers, bankers and other representative citizens of the cotton growing states were present. It is expected that fully five thousands delegates will attend the meeting, which opens in the large auditorium of the Washington artillery building today.

In his call for the meeting President Harvie Jordan strongly urged the necessity of selecting for the meeting the best and most influential men of the cotton district. Judging from the men who have come here to attend the meeting, the people of the south have done their best to comply with the injunctions of Mr. Jordan, and it is safe to say that there has never before been a larger and more important meeting of the most representative men of the cotton growing states of the south than the present convention.

The first informal meeting of the convention was held this morning. The convention was called to order by President Harvie Jordan at 10 o'clock. After prayer by one of the local ministers the Hon. John Parker delivered an address of welcome on behalf of "The progressive union and the city of New Orleans." W. L. Foster, of Shreveport, La., responded. The Hon. Harvie Jordan delivered an address on "The southern farmer," which was afterwards informally discussed. E. A. Calvin, president of the farmers' educational and co-operative union, followed with an address on "Cooperation of farmers," which was also briefly discussed. After the adjournment of committees the convention adjourned until afternoon, when the first business session will be held.

In the afternoon session Hon. Chas Scott of Rosedale, Miss., will speak on "Foreign labor in the cotton fields," Hon. D. A. Tompkins of Charlotte, N.

Incubators

Make the chicken business both pleasant and profitable.

They are built by the father of the incubator business, the man who probably knows more about incubators than any one living.

They are made of California redwood, a wood that is particularly adapted to this use on account of its not shrinking as other woods.

The automatic heat regulating device acts on the flame of the lamp, and saves the fuel that many machines would waste.

We carry most of the sizes on hand at all times. Call and see them or send for catalogue.

Now's the time to get your hatchery off to bring the money-making spring off early.
