SIMPLE LIFE IN AMERICA

In spite of all appearances to the contrary, both by tradition and by temperament, America loves simplicity. She knows what she owes to it; she feels that if she should escape from the influence of this vital and regenerative force, the scepter would depart from her. She takes account of the fact that young and powerful nations become contaminated with stunting rapidity when in contact with the corruption to which long habits have accustomed older civilizations.

Her best traditions, and the best of her sons today, put faith in the power of simplicity, while her peculiar genius and her tastes incline her the same way. In all these things America has an assurance of victory in the moral crisis of the present time. And, in addition, the education of her youth rests upon principles and methods that inspire the mind with disdain for vanities and sophisticated pleasures. If she brings about a reaction, as she might do, and she is doing already in no small degree, against the excessive repute that has been given to wealth and against the social usurpation that tends to make it king instead of the servant it should be; if she takes every opportunity to rehabilitate and honor the men of modest means who know how to attain independence and happiness by limiting their desires; if the conviction spreads that pomp and state are a kind of slavery, that ostentation is a proof of stupidity, and irrational expenditure a social error, there is no doubt that the future belongs to the better American.

For her the message of simplicity is not a reactionary cry; no one who takes the trouble to understand its significance makes that. He sees in it an appeal to discernment and vigilance, to a regard for the fundamental hygienic laws proper to the human creature. We are consumed by our parasitic needs, that we have multiplied without reason or limit, and by those ideas unbefitting men, which tend to make us look upon ourselves as ephemeral; as dust returning to dust; as called to a life of the most incessant pleasure possible, which we may seek to attain by any means, however barbarous and anti fraternal. The simple life appeals to us to rid ourselves of these parasites, to shake off this dire and unnatural mental state, and to restore to the place of honor the true semblance of our selves. This is the cry of alarm I raised in America, the cry I raise everywhere.—Charles Wagner in the Outlook.

struction by means of a pencil with a sapphire point. This pencil makes its impression upon a suitable substance called "sonoline" spread upon the surface of the card. The "sonoline," which can be easily spread over pasteboard, possesses all the properties of a wax cylinder, and is in reality the invention. The signs are impressed in the form of a spiral, beginning at the margin of the card and ending in a very small circle, and are impressed so deeply that the stamping by the postal authorities can only destroy two or three words. The cards has room for seventy-five to eighty words.

For Sick and Nervous People.

We have a cure for nervous and unsteady people; weak, fleshless people, and pimply, pale or sallow people; people who are troubled with loss of ambition, falling memory, depression of spirits, lack of confidence, nervous headaches and wakefulness; all these symptoms are produced by weakened nerves, brought on by the watery condition of the blood. Make strong, rich, red blood, and furnish food for the nerves is the way to stop the source of disease, and the cure then is only a question of days. The best flesh and blood builder is Dr. Gunn's Blood & Nerve Tonic, in tablet form to take at meal time. Sells at 75c a box, or three boxes for $2, at all druggists. People gain from one to three pounds of solid, healthy flesh per week, by the use of this medicine. That is an indication it is doing good.

The New Phonocard.

General Reporter of Frankfort, Germany, reports that the so-called phonocard is finding much favor in France, and furnishes the following description of the novelty, which is taken from newspapers:

For producing the phonographic record an apparatus is used which records the human voice upon a piece of pastboard of the form of the card. According to one report the phonocard possesses numerous advantages. The recording of the voice is done by an ordinary phonograph of simple construction.

Are you tired of paying Blunder Taxes?

Many a business man pays as much money for the luxury of blundering as a steam yacht or a private touring car would cost.

"Blunder Taxes" cannot be evaded—whatever else waits, these must be paid. If a business man gets into the habit of making the same blunders more than once, the taxes will soon amount to confiscation.

"Blunder Taxes" are levied with amazing frequency upon store advertisers. Among the blunders which are assessed at "full value" in advertising are these:

Selection of poor mediums; Using too little space in good mediums; Devoting less attention to preparing the daily store advertisement than to the storing of some empty boxes in the basement;

Stopping the ad altogether for one or more days now and then; Figuring the advertising appropriation on the basis of what you can "afford" after all other expenses are provided for;

The use of "programs," schemes, circulars, posters, fence-signs, placards and jim-cracks, under the impression that you are securing real publicity, and that somewhere, somehow, sometime someone will be influenced by some of these things to come to your store and buy something.

YOU'RE "BLUNDER TAX" BILL GROWS SMALLER AND SMALLER AS YOUR USE OF NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY GROWS BIGGER AND BIGGER.

Continuous Publicity In The Journal Will prevent paying "Blunder Taxes"
