SOCIAL EVENTS

Edmond C. Giltnar, secretary of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, and Miss Zora May Forrester, of Graham, will be married next Friday evening January 19th, at Graham. The young couple expect to spend their honeymoon in Los Angeles, Cal., after which they will return to Portland to reside.

Mr. Giltnar is a former Salem boy. The Portland Journal says: The wedding follows an opposition romance. Mr. Giltnar was the secretary of the Lewis and Clark state fair commission, and Miss Forrester his stenographer. The employer and employee soon formed a strong attachment. Only a few relatives and intimate friends will be present at the wedding.

Goodmiller Goodin Wedding.

Miss Florence Goodin and Mr. Andrew B. Goodmiller were married at the home of the bride's father, R. B. Goodin, Monday, January 15, 1906, in the presence of the immediate relatives. Rev. W. H. Selleck, pastor of the First M. E. church, performed the marriage which united the two.

The bride was gowned in a pretty navy blue traveling costume. A wedding luncheon was served at the close of the ceremony.

The young couple are well known in this city. The bride is a daughter of Mr. R. B. Goodin, of this city, and has lived here most of her life, and has a host of friends. Mr. Goodmiller is a young man of sterling qualities.

Both are attendants at the Oregon Insane asylum. They are visiting in Portland for a short time, but will make their home in this city.

Among those present were the Misses Lena and Lillian Goodin, of St. Vincent's hospital, at Portland, sisters of the bride.

MUSIC MAKES THE Home Complete

A Man's Advice to a Woman to Read.

Perhaps in no place in all the world is so much attention given to the making of money, and so little to the making of homes—of real homes—as right here in the United States. The pleasure, the joy, the elevation of home life is lost in the mad race for wealth.

Music is bought in the theatres and the cafes, not created, as it should be, in the homes. The children grow up, and the wife grows old, and the house grows cold, with never a melody to lighten the bear of leisure at the end of the day.

Make your home attractive, make your wife love you, make your daughter happy by the purchase of one of those fine pianos that are being sold out at sacrifice in the Y. M. C. A. building.

EIDEE'S PIANO HOUSE, By F. N. Smith.

Small Musical Instruments

You cannot afford a piano, perhaps, but you ought to have a violin, banjo, or guitar. We can sell you one that will give you the best of satisfaction.

We will teach you to play any instrument you want to learn. Our instructors are first-class.

REPAIRS MADE

If you have an old instrument, bring it to us, and we will make it good as new. We carry a full assortment of strings for all instruments.

All kinds of talking machines.

Early in the first week of February the college of oratory will again give a pupils' recital, to which the public is invited. The January recital was canceled because of the meetings which were being held at the Methodist church.

College of Medicine.

The faculty and students of the college of medicine are making arrangements for the dedication of the new building. The plans are not all completed, but the exercises will be held Saturday evening, or early in the following week.

College of Music.

Prof. Wallace Graham will give his lecture on the violin Monday evening in the University chapel. This will be half lecture and half recital.

Miss Alice Dougherty, of Portland, has registered in the college, as a student in Professor Graham's department. Miss Agnes Rice, of Portland, has also registered in this department.

The opera, "Pirates of Penzance," will be presented at the opera house soon, and Miss Calbreath, dean of the college, does not hesitate to say that it will be the best amateur musical entertainment ever given in the Capital City. The drilling in the singing has been well done by Miss Harriet, and the opera is now being staged by Miss Bertha Kay.

Monday evening, January 29, Prof. Graham will organize a symphony orchestra of nearly 30 pieces. In this orchestra there will be 18 violins alone, and it is thought that the organization will soon be able to take its place among the best in the Northwest.

From now on the pupils in this department of the University will give monthly recitals, which, however, are only open to the students of the college of music. The first of these was given Saturday afternoon, and was a decided success. The numbers were all given from memory, and were well received. In about two weeks a public pupils' recital will be given.

Following is the program given Saturday:

about six weeks, is reported improving. She has been very ill from a complication of disease, and her friends have been watching over her very closely.

Ex-Senator Lou Adams, of Silverton, was in the city today on business with the county court. He says it is a great disadvantage that, in the absence of the county judge, some one is not authorized to act in his stead, as there is much inconvenience to public business. Judge Scott is still at the bedside of his wife.
