

DAYTONA BEACH RACES

Automobiles of High Power Will Clip Two Mile a Minute Record

Daytona, Fla., Jan. 22.—Never were the expectations of the thousands who congregated here to witness the great trials of speed between the swiftest automobiles of the world pitched higher than now, at the opening of the famous Ormond-Daytona Beach automobile races. Several thousand automobiles from all over the world are here besides several thousand who are not automobilists but greatly interested in the fine sport which the races promise. The races are held, as in former years, under the auspices of the Florida East Coast Automobile association and they promise to surpass all previous race meetings in the breaking of records.

There are in all 22 entries by individuals, with a total entry of 165 for the various events of the meeting. The touring car races which figured in last winter's tournament, have been eliminated with the exception of one single event. It was the opinion of many who attended the races last January that the running of stock car races was uninteresting, and that the big powered racing machines furnished much more excitement. The Florida Automobile association gave due consideration to the wishes of the patrons and eliminated all but one of the touring car races.

In horse power the entries this year show an increase of more than 25 per cent, and for the first time in the history of automobile racing two cars, one of 250 and the other of 200 horse power, will be seen in competition. Of these the 250 horse power car is attracting the greatest interest, as it was built in this country and was ordered specially for this race meeting by Alfred G. Vanderbilt. The machine is a wonderful piece of mechanical art and will be piloted by Paul Sartori, one of the most famous racing chauffeurs in the world. The 200 horse power car is a Darracq and will be driven by Henry, another famous racing chauffeur, who won the last Vanderbilt cup race.

Another car which is attracting considerable interest and which is likely to be prominent in the races, is the 165 horse power machine entered by Henry Ford. It is a singular fact that the foreign machines are in the majority among the entries. Most of the American racing enthusiasts who will be represented in the various races have pinned their faith to machines of foreign make.

There is quite a falling off in the number of amateur drivers, which is quite natural considering the dangers connected with the tremendous speed of the automobiles. It requires a thorough knowledge of the machines, an iron nerve and a cool head to guide a machine with safety at a clip of one or two miles a minute. William K. Vanderbilt Jr., F. B. Thomas and William Wallace, whose driving aroused much interest last year, will not be seen at the wheel this year. In the Christian championship and the Corinthian handicap of ten miles the only entry is A. L. Guinness, the young

A DIMPLE MAKER.

Find a child with dimples and chubby arms and legs and you find a healthy child. Find one with drawn face and poor, thin body and you see one that needs Scott's Emulsion. Your doctor will no doubt tell you the child is fat-starved—its food is not nourishing it.

Nothing helps these thin, pale children like Scott's Emulsion. It contains the very element of fat they need. It supplies them with a perfect and quickly digested nourishment. Scott's Emulsion brings dimples and rounded limbs.

A Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchitis, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and tonic. It will cure very severe, obstinate, chronic coughs, bronchitis and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures. Send for and read the little book of extracts, treating of the properties and uses of the several medicinal roots that enter into Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and learn why this medicine has such a wide range of application in the cure of diseases. It is free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. The "Discovery" contains no alcohol or harmful, habit-forming drug. Ingredients all printed on each bottle wrapper in plain English.

Sick people, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy.

English sportsman, who will drive a French machine.

Of the foreign drivers, Vincenzo Lanella, of Turin, Italy, who will drive a 110 horse power Fiat car, is considered the most skillful driver. He seemingly had the last Vanderbilt cup won by miles, when an accident, through no fault of his, lost him the honor. Walter Clifford Earp, one of the best English drivers, will handle a Napier car in the races. William Hilliard, also will drive a six-cylinder Napier car. He won the Mount Washington climbing contest last July.

There are three 110 horse power Fiat cars entered in the two mile a minute race. Two of these have been entered by Hollander and Tangeman and will be driven by Lanella and Cedrine. The other is the machine entered by George W. Young and will be operated by Fletcher. The other entries are Alfred G. Vanderbilt's 250 horse power car, to be driven by Sartori; the 200 horse power Darracq, with Henry at the wheel; Henry Ford's 165 horsepower Ford; Walter Christie's 100 horse power Christie; O. A. Cory's 80 horse power Thomas, a Stanley steamer and A. L. Guinness' in a French car.

The events of this race meeting include the 100 mile international race for the Minneapolis $2000 trophy; the 1 mile international race for the Sir Thomas B. Dewar trophy; the two-ponyship race; a 10 mile open championship race; a 10 mile open championship race; a 15 mile open championship race; a 1 mile heavyweight championship race; a 5 mile heavyweight championship race; a 10 mile heavy championship race; a 1 mile middleweight championship race for gasoline cars; a 5 mile middleweight championship race for gasoline cars; a 170 mile middleweight championship race for all kinds of cars; a 10 mile open handicap; a 15 mile open handicap for American touring cars and a 20 mile free for all championship for American cars of any make.

Naturally the two mile a minute race is attracting the greatest interest and there are many conservative automobilists who look forward to the event with considerable anticipation. They fear that it will be practically impossible to steer the cars with sufficient accuracy at so terrific a speed to avoid accidents. The result of a collision or even of a minor accident to one of the machines going at such fearful speed would, naturally, be disastrous and it is clear that every one of the drivers is taking the most desperate chances. The Florida East Coast Automobile association has arranged a special attractive feature. After the great two mile a minute race the driver who made the greatest speed will be crowned with the "speed crown" by the prettiest girl in Florida. The ceremony will take place in front of the grand stand in full view of the thousands of spectators. The value of the crowns, which is composed of gold, silver and enamel, is about $1000.

The course is in perfect condition and every precaution has been taken to prevent accidents at the races through some defect in the track.

Will Try It on the Dog.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 22.—One of the most interesting and peculiar exhibitions ever held in this city is that of the Pennsylvania branch of the International Stewards' Association, which was opened today at Horticultural Hall. The principal object of the exposition is to show the public what dangers there are in impure foods. To demonstrate the injurious effects of such impure foods dogs and other animals will be fed with these impure foods, showing from day to day the deleterious effects of such diet. The exhibit shown at the St. Louis exposition has been secured, with the dogs shown under the direction of Prof. Eugene Girard. Especial attention will be paid to the various acids, drugs and poisonous dyes used for purposes of adulteration. The exhibition is part of a campaign of the Stewards' Association for the purpose of inducing congress to pass some suitable national pure food laws. Among the exhibits is a monster petition in favor of pure food legislation, which is to be sent to congress. It weighs about one ton, and has been signed by hundreds of thousands of citizens in all parts of the country.

Stockmen in Convention.

Charleston, Ill., Jan. 22.—The annual convention of the corn growers and stockmen of this state opened today at the College of Agriculture of the University of Illinois. Special efforts have been made to make this convention as interesting and instructive as possible to the hundreds of farmers who invariably attend these conventions. Daily meetings will be held in which questions of practical import to all farmers and stock growers will be discussed. There will be lectures and demonstrations on various agricultural topics. J. E. Meatheringham, of Camp Point, is president of the convention, and Fred W. Ladage, of Springfield, secretary. The exhibition of implements, stock and dairy products, held in connection with the convention, is of more than ordinary interest, and is attracting considerable attention.

PLENTY OF PROOF

From People You Know—From Salem Citizens.

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced in the face of evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of Salem, of people who can be seen at the time. Read the following case of it:

G. B. Cooper, farmer, living three miles northeast of Salem, on the Garden road, says: "I was raised in the wheat district and when a good lump of a boy I prided myself as having as much strength as any other boy in the neighborhood, and when a number of us got together we often tested our strength by lifting. I very often lifted two bags of wheat, but have since regretted having done so, as the result was that I strained my back and ever after had more or less trouble from dull aching pains across my loins and other symptoms of kidney complaint. In some way Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice and the first I went to town I dropped into Dr. Stone's drug store and inquired about them. I was told they were highly recommended and advised to give them a trial. I did so. And while I did not follow the treatment as regularly as I should have done, being a poor hand to take any kind of medicine, the benefit I derived from their use stamps them as a remedy which acts fully up to the representations made for it."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Excursions Every Hour.

In order to give the people of Salem an opportunity to see the beautiful country south of Salem, and to see the development being made by the company, the Citizens' Light & Traction Company will run excursion cars to the rock quarry, south of Odd Fellows' cemetery, leaving the Willamette hotel on even hours. Enjoy a pleasant ride, and see for yourself.

Big Athletic Fair.

Leominster, Jan. 22.—The big athletic fair, arranged by the Leominster Athletic Association opens here today, and, judging from the number of entries, it will be a highly interesting event. The proceeds of the fair are intended to defray the expenses of the big athletic contests during the coming summer.

WHAT THE TYPE DOES

Total Depravity Marks it From the Day its Distribution in the Cases

William Allen White, who writes stories for the Post, must have been a reporter on a daily newspaper in a country town himself, so well is he versed in the trials and troubles of such a personage, and so perfectly does he describe the feelings of that unfortunate being whose mistakes and those of others who handle his copy after him, and for which he is in no way responsible, are continually spread before the public. In a recent story he tells the experience of a young reporter who was so unlucky that he had less fear of handling dynamite than he had of writing local items.

On one occasion Jimmy (for that was his name) wrote:

"The hem of her skirt was attractively trimmed with pink crushed roses," and he was in no way to blame for the fact that the printer accidentally put an "h" for a "k" in skirt, though the woman's husband chased Jimmy into a culvert across Main street and kept him there most of the forenoon, while the cheering crowd gathered and informed the injured husband whenever Jimmy tried to get out of either end of his prison.

Then again he wrote a touching obituary notice over which he placed the head, "Died—Mrs. Lillian Gilsey." What was his horror when the paper came out to find the makeup man had put his "died" head over a hardware advertisement, and this is the way it appeared:

DIED—MRS. LILLIAN GILSEY Prepare for the hot weather, my good woman. There is only one way now; get a gasoline stove of Hurley & Co., and you need not fear any future heat.

A wedding notice was mixed with a piece of poetry, which reminds the Chronicle Reporter of the manner in which two items in The Dallas paper, one referring to a house party and the other to a funeral, were interwoven a few weeks ago.

But Jimmy got into trouble and lost his job when a tramp printer accidentally (on purpose) garbled a funeral notice and an undertaker's ad thusly: "The solemn moan of the organ had scarcely died away, like a quivering sob upon the fragrant air when the solemn procession of citizens began filing past the flower laden bier to view the calm face of their beloved fellow townsman. In the grief stricken hush that followed might be heard the stifled woe of some old comrade as he paused for the last time before the coffin."

"At this particular time we desire to call the attention of our readers to the admirable work done by our bustling young undertaker, J. B. Morgan. He has been in the city but a short time, yet by his efficient work and careful attention to duty he has built up an enviable reputation and an excellent custom among the best families of the city. All work done with neatness and dispatch. We strive to please."

"When the last sad mourner had filed out, the pall bearers took up their sorrowful task, and slowly, as the band played the Dead March in Saul, the throng in the street viewed the mortal remains of Governor Antroub start on their last long journey."—The Dallas Chronicle.

This reminds us of several cases of trouble that have, like a land slide, swept down upon the home editor of the Journal. Two years ago, while holding down a chair and drawing a salary on this paper, a distinguished citizen of Eugene drew his feet up into his bed and passed over to join his fathers. The obituary notice was written by the ditor himself, and was done up in paragraphs. It was well written, too, touching on the virtues of the deceased, and incidentally commenting on the mystery of death. The intelligent foreman in making up the paper mistook the obituary for a lot of short city localia. The way the Journal scattered the remains was the record.

Again in an obituary notice, while the writer was running the old Goldendale Tribune, in Washington, the letter "t" dropped on of the word immortality in the sentence, "she lived always hoping for immortality," and the venerable widower still holds it up against us.

Then again at Hood River, while engaged in sliding the Glacier, a subscriber brought us a touching little poem about the Columbia river, in which occurred the line, "No smile on thy stern cold features," and Sam Blythe, who is old enough to know better, and who was helping us pry the Glacier along at that time, put a comma after the word "stern." We lost a subscriber and correspondent right there, and barely escaped bankruptcy. But what's the use, there are ten thousand such, that rise up to smite the editor in his hour of pride and drive him to hard drink.

X-RAYS

Now they are calling Roosevelt the "big boss."

Harry Murphy can draw, but his rhymes can't.

If Walter Wellman is going to take the air route to the north pole, he should see that it is hot air.

If a man's head is turned by pretty girls, he should keep out of Salem, or he will think his head is a top.

Duke, he of tobacco fame, is in the midst of a sensational divorce suit. It is the only real genuine "Duke's mixture."

The Oregonian is increasing in caliber; it used to be 30-30, which is good for any distance, but now it is 70-70 on the telephone.

The Oregonian is responsible for the statement that an Englishman, one Englishman, Jerome K. Jerome, is humorous. The Oregonian is big enough to take chances—and it did.

A dispatch from Fort Worth, Tex., Saturday says that Lindsay Cooper fell from a balloon a distance of 2000 feet. And the newspapers had to pay the Associated Press for the further information that he was killed.

According to the testimony in the Jennings murder trial, the family had a taste of watermelon. Jasper ate a slice or two while helping dig his father's grave, and Dora and a man named Chaplin took a feed of the same material at the inquest.

The rich have their troubles. Hetty Green, the richest woman in America, boarded a street car in New York recently with only 50 cents in her pocket, and that was counterfeit. The street car conductor trusted her, and at the ferry she had to borrow 3 cents from a fruit vender. He credit was good.

Two little skunks by the roadside sat, As an automobile rushed by, And one of them heaved a dolorous sob And a tear was in his eye.

Oh! why do you weep, and why do you sigh, And why do you tremble and quake? "Because the smell," said the other skunk "Is like mother used to make."

L. H. Vincent's comments on modern education in Sunday's Oregonian are surely up-to-date, and the subject. There is as much practical utility in the old minstrel problem as in much of the modern arithmetic. Years ago Bones used to ask Tombourine: "If it takes three men six days to swim a catfish nine miles up a railroad track; how long will it take an elephant to travel from India to Egypt, leaving his trunk behind and carrying his clean clothes in a valise?"

John H. Aitkin's Platform. Hon. John H. Aitkin, the merchant of Huntington who announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for treasurer, has given the following platform:

"Having announced my candidacy for the Republican nomination for treasurer, I desire to state my views on matters pertaining to the state. "If nominated and elected I will give a straightforward, business administration of the state in accordance with our laws. "All persons will be given a deal and the office will be in the interest of the whole people of our state."

"I am in favor of a law board, consisting of the governor, secretary of state and state treasurer, to name and select officers for state funds, the same said funds to become the property of the state and be accounted for by the state treasurer. "I am in favor of a law regulating state and private banks and creation of a state bank examiner. "I am in favor of the common law and a strict compliance with it."

German Schoolship on a Trip. Galveston, Tex., Jan. 22.—"Stosch," a schoolship of the navy, arrived here this morning was received with considerable enthusiasm. The ship remains here a week, and a number of social functions have been arranged in honor of the officers and cadets of the German ship.

Sharples Separators

We have been selling these machines for four years, and they are giving universal satisfaction wherever used, account of their simplicity and efficiency.

Compare the enclosed, self-cleaning gears on this machine with any other built. No oil cups to watch or grease to catch your clothes. Then, low supply can—it saves your money. Notice also on other separators number of parts you have to wash, compare these with the Sharples. yet it will skim cleaner than any separator built, in actual test, because it is built right and runs right. Come and examine the machine yourself.

Petaluma Incubators And Brooders

This is the season of the year to begin thinking of those early chicks. With a Petaluma incubator you can hatch a larger percentage of eggs than with any other machine, not excepting mother hen.

They are a hot air machine—this has been proven to be the best, and the machine is absolutely self-regulating, always keeping an even temperature, thus insuring a good hatch. It has nursery drawers just underneath the egg trays, so that when the chicks hatch and come forward to the light they drop into these, where they get dry and are ready to put into the brooder. Call and let us explain this machine to you.
